SATURDAY MORNING.....Nov. 10, 1883.

PERPETUAL EMBALMING.

Dr. Lovett's Secret Method of Preserving Human Bodies to be Utilized.

The perpetual embalming secret discovered by Dr. Arthur S. Lovett, of Erie, Pa., which has attracted so much attention among scientists, and which brought out a fellow of the Royal Society from England to view the body of Stephen Fisk, a subject, is beginning to take some practical form. After consulting many scientists, a number of Erie capitalists headed by Hon. Orange Noble, have concluded to invest capital and form a stock company for the purpose of applying the secret for the preservation of the dead in every city in the United States.—The capital stock is fixed at $250,000.

But one man of the company is to be intrusted with the secret in a hermetically-sealed casket. This member is to be placed under $100,000 bonds to preserve the casket intact. He is to be elected by the stockholders, and is only to open the box and read the secret for the benefit of the stockholders in the event of Dr. Lovett dying suddenly without provisions for carrying on the business of the corporation. The body of the child Stephen Fisk, the first human subject his secret was applied to, has been dead over a year, and is as fresh and free from decomposition as at the moment of death.

By permission the doctor keeps the body in his consulting office, the casket always open to public view. It is exposed to the atmosphere; but the health authorities agree that there is no more danger of contaminating the air than if the body was a piece of marble. It lies dressed in purple and fine linen, furnished by charitable people, its little hands crossed, and with the last smile it wore in life still upon its face. It was born a pauper child, and its mother was mad.—Her delusions is that she was destined to conceive and bear a child that should be a successor to the Redeemer and save the world a second time. For years the poor woman was possessed of this insane idea. One night, four years ago, she eluded the vigilance of her keepers and escaped from the County House. A few months afterward little Stephen Fisk was born, and the mother's delusion became more fixed than ever.

She is allowed to visit the doctor's office and see her embalmed babe occasionally. She regards his condition as proof of her child's immortality and divine patronage. She brings flowers and choicest cookies, saved from her daily food, and deposits them upon the casket. Over 300 applications have been made by Erie citizens requesting Dr. Lovett to embalm their remains after death.

SOLD HIS WIFE'S CORPSE.

The Husband of the Fat Bride Sells Her Cadaver.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made by resurrectionists to steal the body of Blanche Gray, the fat girl, who was buried in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Baltimore, a few days ago. Now comes the rumor that the body has actually been disposed of by the young husband and widower, David Moses, to Dr Alex. Hill, on North Calvert street. Mr. Moses, immediately after returning from the funeral of his better half, it is said, called upon Dr. Hill, and stated that he wanted to sell the body of his wife, as it would be stolen from the grave anyhow. Negotiations for the mountain of flesh were at once entered into and agreed upon. What the price was could not be learned. Dr. Hill wanted the body for dissection, and more especially for the skeleton. The teeth of the dead woman are perfect, which adds much to the beauty of a skeleton, and as the woman was quite young her bones will be very white. Dr. Hill proposes to put the skeleton together with wires. Young Mr. Moses is expected on from New York shortly, when the body will be taken up quietly and removed to a private apartment in one of the city medical colleges, where Dr. Hill proposes to instruct himself in dissecting it. The doctor would not confirm the story nor deny it, but seemed to be much surprised that the transaction between Mr. Moses and himself had leaked out.

A FATAL BLOW FROM THE WHALE'S TAIL.—The steamer, Maggie, of the Eastern Shore Steamboat Company, arrived here Monday morning, and brings news that the whale which went ashore at Burnett's Island, Va., on October 26, is being cut up. About 160 gallons of oil, pure rubber, have been secured, besides a lot of fine whalebone. The carcass is to be utilized for fertilizing. A large amount of oil was lost on account of the inexperience of those who were gathering it. The whale is pronounced a fine specimen of the sperm family, and is 62 feet long and 12 feet thick.—crowds of people visit the scene.

A letter from a Sun correspondent reports that on last Sunday afternoon an excursion party went from Hunting Creek, Va., to the place where the ocean monster was to be seen trying to wriggle off shore. Wm. Barnes, aged 33 years, living near Hunting Creek, was one of the party. He went out in a canoe to the spot, but ventured a little too near the whale. A sudden flop of the monster's tail sent Mr. Barnes' canoe flying into the air and the occupant fell in water about up to his chin. He must have lost his presence of mind, or was probably hurt, as he drowned before assistance could reach him. The boat was badly battered. Mr. Barnes' body was carried home by his fellow-excursionists.—He leaves a wife and three children.—Sun.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.—Under this head the New York Tribune, in discussing the general business of the country has the following about the farm products:

"Notwithstanding all the stories of a short crop, the receipts at ports and from plantations are both larger than in 1882 or 1881, and but little behind 1880. The grain market also gives signs of renewed speculative activity. A sudden and considerable advance at Chicago on Saturday closed a week in which transactions had been very large, and prices had recovered about 3 cents for wheat, 1½ cents for corn and 1 cent for oats. The very low prices at Chicago and all other primary markets have been the most conclusive evidence that holders were not really convinced that holders were not really convinced that the world's supply was going to fall far short of the demand, and the rally last week, being apparently due mainly to a vigorous campaign against shorts in a market largely oversold, may not prove to have much staying quality. Prices are unusually low, it is true—low enough under ordinary circumstances to suggest an early advance—but it is also true that the demand from abroad this season has been altogether disappointing thus far."

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING BIDS.—Fourteen proposals were opened Saturday for the State printing of the session of 1884. The bids were opened by Spencer C. Jones, clerk of the Court of Appeals, in the presence of several bidders and others. The bids were as follows: From Baltimore, Cole & Co., $47,800; Cary & Co., $17,400; Farringer & Co., $14,050; John B. Piet & Co., $24,000; W. J. C. Dulaney, $42,300; King Bros., $14,-900; James Young, $12,400. From Annapolis, Smith & Co., $44,000; C. K. N. Schwrar, $20,-600; Wm. M. Abbott & Co., $14,445 45; Wm. T. Iglehart & Co., (Annapolis Advertiser,) $13,500; also, W.M. Price, of Cumberland, $8,-990, and W. W. Busteed, (Centreville Observer,) $13,500. Mr. Young being the lowest bidder will get the contract.

A LARGE STEAMER.—The largest grain vessel known to have visited Baltimore is the British steamship Monkseaton, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Capt. Wm. Weightman, now lying at Henderson's wharf, Fell's Point. She is 425 feet between perpendiculars, 39 feet 6 inches depth of hold and has a carrying capacity of 4,200 tons. As soon as ceiled the Monkseaton will load grain. It is calculated that she will take out 15,000 quarters or 125,000 bushels from Baltimore for Europe. She came here in ballast from New York, where she delivered 3,150 hogsheads and 4,724 bags of sugar from Mantanzas, Cuba, which was the largest cargo of that article ever taken to that port in a ship's bottom. This great vessel is manned by but 30 men.—Sun.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of Friday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry $1 10@1 17; Fultz $1 10@1 15 for fair to good. CORN—White, prime 54@57; yellow, 53@56. OATS, Maryland, 38.

A LOCOMOTIVE IN MID-AIR.

Pushed by Another Engine Over a Span of a Bridge.

At Easton, Pa., Sunday morning while workmen were engaged in repairing the Lehigh Valley Bridge over the Delaware river, the fast freight came along and before it could be stopped ran along the track to the spot where the repairs were being made. The rails had been removed and heavy wooden timbers spanned the ten or more feet between the pier and the end of an iron span.

Some of these timbers had been removed and the locomotive crashed through the remaining ones and lodged against their pier, turning half over. The rear driving wheel caught against the heavy girder of the span and there the engine hangs. To remove it will be no easy task. All day long a force of men have been working over the wreck, but so peculiar was the accident and so difficult the task of getting a purchase on the locomotive that it will require considerable time to remove it. The engine weighs over 70 tons, and as the bridge is over 70 feet high at the point in question, the magnitude of the work may be imagined. The bridge span is also injured and the damage will be heavy. The accident was occasioned by the engineer of the train being unable to stop after getting the signal, as a pushing engine on the rear of the train, which extended around a curve, could not be notified, and pushed the front of the train upon the railless span.

JOHN H. HESSEY, of Cecil county, realized this year $1,000 from a pear orchard of 4 acres. His fruit brought 70 cents a basket in Philadelphia.
