The Kent News

CHESTERTOWN - - MAY 21, 1887.

Quaker Neck Items.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — William Tilghman started with a load of hay; he was walking along and the horses got fractious. He took hold of the lines and the front wheels caught his foot and hurt it so severely that he will not be able to work for some time.

The wheat looks well all over the Neck. One man has a hundred acres in and it is said to be the best in the county.

The new preacher for the colored churches has arrived in the Neck. He is a large, fine-looking man.

The schools are very poorly attended now.

A Quaker Necker went to Sandy Bottom a few days ago and when he started home, in turning around, a wheel broke down. He was fortunate enough to get a wheel from Mr. Cannon to get home.

Bond Chapel was well-filled last Sunday.

The corn is very nearly all planted and a good deal of it is up. REPORTER.

Kent Co. Agricultural Club.

CLUB ROOM, May 16, 1887.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—After a lapse of several weeks I availed myself of the opportunity of attending the meeting of the society today. There was not a large turnout but the meeting was pleasant and I hope profitable.

The resolutions offered and adopted at some meeting previous and referred to executive committee, said committee reported they had examined and discussed them and that part pertaining to the public schools had been placed in the hands of a subcommittee and they consulted the examiner; had nothing definite from him, but expected to hear from him very soon. The committee recommended the society to issue stock to the amount of $2,500 for the purpose of building a new hall, grand stand and other improvements they thought necessary. The recommendation was discussed somewhat and on motion it was laid over until May 30th inst. to be further acted upon and a notice to that effect was ordered to be published in both the county papers requesting every member to be present at that time. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance and the subject thoroughly discussed and acted upon. As we now stand we are out of debt and have been using the old and some new temporary buildings, and it is thought by the committee that the time has come when we should have things more attractive than we have had in the past. I think so too, if we expect to compete with other fairs successfully but I will not discuss it here but wait until the meeting Monday, May 30th, when other members will be prepared to discuss it also. The committee further reported that they had prepared the premium lists and they were in the hands of the printer and would soon be out. The ladies of St. James' M. P. Church ask for the use of the grounds and buildings for a festival May 27 and 28. After routine business the society adjourned to allow the peach exchange an opportunity to have a meeting. X.

Maryland Fruit Growers' Exchange.

KENT CO. AG. SOCIET.'S ROOM, May 16, 1887.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—We had a meeting of the exchange to-day, but very little business was done. A meeting was called for Monday, May 23, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and discussing the peach interest generally and it is the desire of the exchange that not only the members shall be present but peach growers from all parts of the county shall be present. B.

Chesterville and Vicinity.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Children's Day services, the first of the season, were held in the Chesterville M. E. Church South last Sabbath. In the morning the pastor preached to the children and at night the regular Children's Day services were held. The building could not hold the people. The exercises were varied in character, consisting of singing, recitations and dialogues. Altogether, the children did well—some of them very well. We believe there was no attempt made at anything more than good singing. Several of the selections readily measured up to the positive degree. The school was assisted in singing by Mr. Joshua Walls, of Crumpton, who is a fine basso; Mr. Aldridge's tenor, if always full, would be hard to surpass. We cannot help saying it, and must say that "My Ruffled Dress," by little Sadie Sanders, the pastor's daughter, was decidedly the best recitation in the whole program. Sadie is only five years old, and yet she was perfectly self-possessed and declaimed so admirably as to show much elocutionary talent and careful training. Favorable comment could also be made of other children, but neither time nor space will permit. The floral display, while not so lavish as last year's, was certainly very fine, and displayed much taste. Taking the size of the audience into consideration, the collection was not more than one-third as large as it should have been.

For the first time in several years there are a number of unoccupied houses in Chesterville. Both wheel-wright shops are also vacant, and business is dull enough to "make a man throw stones at his grandmother," or perhaps "mother-in-law."

A private track has been made on the farm of Mr. J. W. Jarman, near Chesterville, and a little lively stepping has already begun. Frank Lockerman is about to turn jockey, and has several horses on hand to train. Frank has been floating around a good while trying to find his right element. We wonder if he has struck it this time?

Until a supply could be had Rev. J. B. Merritt consented to fill the Crumpton charge. He did so and just preached long enough to completely spoil those people. A few weeks since, a young preacher was sent to them, Mr. Merritt having only agreed to fill the position until another man could be sent. The result was as might have been expected—the people had been fed on strong meat for several weeks, and when it came to feeding them on milk diet they rebelled; and now the old warrior has had to buckle on his armour and go at it again to satisfy the appetite for strong spiritual and mental pabulum, which a few weeks of quiet, searching, unostentatious preaching has created. We learn that he has taken the work again, conditionally, the condition being his health. If he will only slip over into Canaan, occasionally, and get a supply of milk and honey, these together with the large fish supply of Crumpton, we have no doubt will so replenish his wasted energies as to enable him to meet all the demands of his people and fully sustain his well-earned reputation as one of the ablest divines in the Wilmington Conference.

An envelope containing three letters, addressed to Henry C. Layman, of Chesterville, Md., was handed to Mr. L. by Marion deK. Smith, Esq., receiver for the firm of B. D. Quimby & Co., of Crumpton. The letters were from B. D. Quimby, the missing partner of the firm and had been left in his safe. One was dated Sept. 30, 1886, and the others Oct. 1st, 1886. One of the three was after the form of a will making Mr. L. his executor and directing how his property should be disposed of. After making certain bequests to various parties, he directs that the balance of his estate shall be paid to his two sisters. The other letters direct Mr. L. to take charge of his interest in the firm and after the firm's debts are paid, to distribute his share as directed above. The envelope was addressed thus: "Mr. Henry C. Layman. To be his property only in case of my death. B. D. Quimby." The letters refer to other papers intended for Mr. L. which have not as yet come into his possession. It will be observed that the documents referred to were only to go into effect in case of his death, but in the light of recent events, it would seem that his late transactions must at least have suggested themselves to his mind as far back as October, 1886. He has sufficient life insurance if he were to die, it is thought, to pay everything and leave a good margin. WALTER.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of yesterday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Pulls, 95c.@96c. for fair to good; Longberry, 96c@97. CORN—White, prime, 52c.@53c.; yellow, 52c.@53c. OATS—35c.

Mill Pond Agricultural Club.

CLUB ROOM, May 14, 1887.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Club met to-day and read and approved minutes of last meeting. Called the roll and a goodly number answered, showing no abatement of interest; one new member added to our list and more no doubt coming.

Under the head of questions Mr. J. S. Hare asked for a remedy to kill insect on corn.

E. J. Pennington soaked the seed in salt and water and was bothered but little with them when so treated.

Mr. Justis plowed in the fall, which plan destroyed most of them.

D. Maxwell plowed 15th of May; hot weather would prevail soon, which would kill them.

G. W. Price soaked the seed in water mixe with copperas and sulphur, which prevented its ravages.

E. J. Pennington had seen cut-worm so numerous on Delaware marshes that they had eaten the grain which was dropped while he was eating his dinner.

W. L. Pennington had planted in a very grass-field, soaked the corn effectually in weakerine and the worm fed eagerly on the gas but did not trouble the corn.

E. Pennington had planted clover sod on Deware marsh and worm eat corn and grass as hunted for more.

The English sparrow question came up: G. W. Davis claimed the first brood in the spring were fed mainly on insect, but as vegation advanced they were fed on wheat, c. The little sparrow eats worms on cabage while the English sparrow don't touch them; eats but very little insect of any kind; eats fruit buds and drives insect bir away.

G. W. Price: This enemy drives off blue birds, wins, wrens and other insectivorous birds; How cannot whip a bird a swarm will cons to the attack.

F. H. Harper said they had eaten all the wheat c of the green heads near his building.

G. W. Price: Ruined my grapes.

E. B. Pennington: Eats blossoms of fruit trees. I England boys are employed to keep the off wheat fields.

Dr. Marell offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that our Delegates to General Assembly be requested to repeal the law giving a bounty on hawk and 6 heads and enact a law providing a bounty of 6 cent for every English sparrow head.

The bact question and the action of the fruit growers' convention were discussed at considera length, and a decided change of sentiment on the "return basket" question was parent. To make a long story short the flowing resolution was unanimously adted:

Resolved, It it is the sense of this association that the gen results of the fruit growers' convention of May in Dover, were satisfactory and conducive to the terests of the growers of this peninsula; except its action on the basket question.

Now, Mrs. Editors, allow "Eusebius" to turn a mersault on this question; he don't of ten do this; generally considered rather stubrn; but he claims the right nevertheless, and is just as independent about it as an be. So, now, he is ready for jolly, r is just as much amused as anybody. No will not change front when he is convind? They say wise people do this and idon't want to be classed as a goose. Hipurrah! "Eusebius" is for free baskets and n care who knows it. He sees it is instable; it's coming; it will not down. Thommission men and grocers are organiz and can do as they please. What chance individuals stand against organized per? None. Then it serves us right. Reserve to be bossed. The farmer boast his indepedence; too independent rganize and act as one man; prefer to stone, do as he pleases and be independent Oh, how self-satisfying is this; how nice all feel in doing just what we please. r forefathers, when they cut loose from tiny and emigrated to this country, conved the idea of perfect independence, they soon found it necessary to modify therfect freedom and enact rules and laor government in order for the good of the hole. Too much freedom bred confusi that they were totally without infree and a myth in themselves. But ers. Editors, I believe the New York mission men are not far from right. e advocate the Exchange system and ells the basket with the fruit. This fris offered in New York to the grocers with basket. The fruit we send them on mission is offered these same grocers with the stipulation that the baskets must laid for or returned. Here is a conflict hannot be reconciled. The grocer will buy free basket fruit all the time and leave commission fruit to take care of itself nor sold at all, must be late in the day and ow prices. If I were a grocer I would in like manner. If I was a commission n I would advocate free baskets as a pri ion to myself and my customers.

This question fully ventilated in the convention; the mission men acting the part of gentleme every case; were lucid and logical in ussion; bearing themselves with dignind honor and gained the respect and fidence of the entire audience so far as uld detect.

Decency and dum characterized the bearing of the fr owers, with the exception of three ar ungenerous, acrimonious individ who behaved in a manner disgustin to good manners and good breedin anding the commission men as alm the worst beings on earth. But a furth cital of their behavior and epithets zens me and I stop right here full dignation at such treatment.

The most import feature of the convention was the unan adoption of a plan for the unifo distribution of our fruit, preventing g Mr. J. P. R. Polk presented this plan he convention and made a telling spe in its favor. The plan is styled "The an of Information and Distribution," shope, Messrs. Editors, you will furnish full for the benefit of your readers. plan or contract was numerously sign members of the convention and I hope ry peach grower will append his signa to this paper.

Messrs. Editors, "Iceps" was there and came very near b the lion of the day by offering and ab iscussing and advocating the adoption is famous resolution in favor of the free et policy. Even a New York reporter se made a very sensible speech. He Particeps" will now drop the Worton change scheme and join the National hange, and not antagonize the world matter so important. It would ad much to his laurels.

I forgot to state that asparagus bug was discussed to-day:

Harry Price has brood young chickens and ducks which dev thousands of these pests near his hous will plow furrows on the rows frequen to as to keep the asparagus under the ve and cut it before it comes to the ligh

E. B. Pennington, who ver at a loss for expedients, suggests mounting of poultry houses on wheels, ark in poultry raising largely and w the houses over the patch so the young cks can destroy the vile things. EUSEBIUS.

The Seven Advantages of the New-York Life Insurance Company's Non-Forfeiting-Tontine Limited-Endowment Policy.

Do not Insure until you have seen full particulars of this Policy. Do not fail to write the nearest AGENT AT ONCE.

FACTS AND FIGURES:

1. The New York Life was the first Company, and for thirty-five years the only Company to omit from its policies the clause making them void in case of suicide. Very few companies do it now. Being convinced that most suicides are the result of insanity, and that many cases of accidental death and murder prompt payment of every claim not vitiated by evident fraud.

2. The New York Life was the first Company to recognize the policy-holder's right to paid-up insurance, in case of a discontinuance of payment of premiums, by originating and introducing, in 1860, the first non-forfeiture policies—the beginning of the modern non-forfeiture system—which has become a part of the insurance statutes of the country. In the present volume of business, the saving to policy-holders, by reason of the non-forfeiture principle, as originated and introduced by the New York Life, is over five millions dollars per year.

3. The New York Life issues a greater variety of policies than any other Life Company, thereby adapting its contracts to the largest number of people. It has lately perfected a return-premium feature, under which many of its policies are issued with guaranteed return of all premiums paid, in addition to the amount originally secured, in case of death during a specified period.

4. The Returns of the New York Life's Tontine Policies that have matured have been larger than those of any other company (whether Tontine or Ordinary), comparison being made between policies taken at the same age and premium rate, and running through the same period of time.

5. The Policies of New York Life, as now issued, are notably free from restrictions as to occupation, residence and travel, and claims are paid upon receipt and approval by the Company of satisfactory proofs of death.

FOR CORN

WE OFFER THE FARMERS THIS SPRING

OUR STANDARD, IN WHICH WE GUARANTEE TO GIVE 1550 LBS. OF PURE DISSOLVED ANIMAL BONE AND BONE TANKING TO THE TON AND MURIATE AS THE SOURCE OF ACTUAL POTASH. IN OUR EXTANT 1250 LBS. OF PURE DISSOLVED ANIMAL BONE AND BONE TANKINGS TO THE TON.

The Reason there is not more advocates for the use of Corn Fertilizers arises from the fact that a good many Fertilizer men put on the market a goods which they sell for $12 or $15 per ton. The Farmer buys, and applies as though they were Concentrated Goods, and the result is they are not pleased and condemn all. But they ought to think for themselves and know that there is nearly as much profit to the Manufacturer in a cheap goods as there is in a Superphosphate. Therefore buy Concentrated Bone Fertilizers and if you want to cheapen them a little you are the one to do it, without paying freights and profits on cheap and worthless materials.

READ WHAT THOSE SAY WHO HAVE USED THEM

MR. J. WARD DAVIS, near Cecilton, Md., says the Extant Bone Superphosphate bought of us last Spring and used on his Corn certainly paid him handsomely and that he only regrets he did not fertilize his entire crop.

MR. RICHARD SMYTH, near Fairlee, Md., says he could tell by the looks of the Corn just as far as the Extant went and that it paid him.

MR. WM. L. BOWERS, near Still Pond, Md., says that for eleven consecutive years he has used our Fertilizer on his Corn with marked results and that upon one occasion by an application of two tons is sure that he had seven hundred bushels more than he would otherwise have grown.

MR. C. BROWN & BROTHERS, near Pomona, Md., say they have used our Extant with satisfaction and that is why they confine their purchases to our goods this spring.

MR. JESSE H. USILTON, near Fairlee, Md., says that for four years he has used our Extant Bone Superphosphate on his Corn and that he has grown with it more Corn on the same amount of ground than was ever known to be raised on the farm, and that he is going to use the Extant on his entire crop this Spring.

MR. CHRISFIELD, near Galena, says, for eleven years in succession they have used our Fertilizers on their Corn with satisfactory results and that they are going to use it again this season.

MR. H. BOGLE, of Eastern Neck, Kent county, Md., says the Extant they bought of us last Spring certainly eclipsed anything he ever saw, as it started off nicely, held its own and that he cannot say too much in its favor and requests us to ship him Four Tons for his Orchard and Corn.

JAMES A. SHAW,
May 7, 1887. COURT STREET.

OFFICE OF

The Board of Health

FOR KENT COUNTY.

CHESTERTOWN, May 11, 1887.

IT is deemed advisable by the health authorities to again bring before the people of the county the great importance of the maintenance of proper sanitary regulations. The board had occasion last summer to congratulate itself upon the fact that its suggestions had not entirely failed, and hope that the public health may be as good and even better during the hot weather, upon which season we are now entering.

To this end we would urge the householders, both town and country, to see that their premises are at once put in a state of cleanliness. The accumulations of filth, garbage and other waste material likely to be a source of complaint and sickness should be destroyed. There is no better way to do this than by burning it. All privies, sinks, cellars, closets and like places should be cleaned and thoroughly disinfected; pools of stagnant water should be drained, and the various little things that affect the eyes and nostrils should not be allowed to remain.

It may be well at the same time to call the attention of the public to Section 5 of the Public Laws, in regard to "Malignant and Infectious Diseases" as follows:

"And be it enacted, that any person, parent or guardian, or other party, who carelessly carry about children or others affected with infectious diseases, or who knowingly or wilfully introduce infectious persons into other persons houses or permit children under their care to attend school, theatre, church or any other public place where they will be brought in contact with others, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars for each and every offence."

The secretary of the State Board of Health prepared and published a list of disinfectants as follows:

DISINFECTANTS TO BE EMPLOYED.

For free and general use in privy vaults, sewers, sink-drains, water-closets, stables, pig pens, and on refuse heaps, &c., the following are the cheapest and most effective disinfectants and germicides known:

No. 1—Chloride of lime (bleaching powder), 1 lb.; water, 4 gallons. Dissolve the lime in the water. This solution (4 gallons) will cost not more than 5 cents, or about fifty cents per barrel. A gallon or more may be used daily in an offensive privy vault, and such quantities as may be necessary in other places. In the sick room it may be used in open vessels. Sheets, clothing and other articles used by the patient should be immersed in this solution diluted (one gallon of the solution to eight of water) for two hours, or until ready for the laundry. The solution is not poisonous and does not injure clothing.

No. 2—Corrosive sublimate, one-half ounce; water, four gallons. The cost of this solution is about double of that of No. 1. It is used in the same way and for the same purpose. The only advantage it has over No. 1 is that it is without odor. It is poisonous, but its bright purple color will prevent its being mistaken for any other solution.

No. 3 (Powder.)—Chloride of lime, one pound; corrosive sublimate, one ounce; plaster of Paris, nine pounds. Pulverize the corrosive sublimate, and mix thoroughly with the plaster of Paris; then add the chloride of lime by gradually mixing. Keep dry. As an antiseptic and deodorizer this powder is unsurpassed. It is to be sprinkled one-quarter of an inch thick upon the excreta or matter to be disinfected, and subsequently moistened if the material is dry.

In addition to which we advise the free and frequent use of lime for cellars, stagnant pools and other out-door places.

W. FRANK HINES,
May 14—3t. SECRETARY.

Horse-Shoeing!

Improved Forging Shoe.

I HAVE an IMPROVED CONCAVE FORGING SHOE and a STEEL SHOE, VERY LIGHT, to which I wish to call public attention. All intelligent owners of horses can appreciate the importance of doing in the right way this matter of SHOEING, and they ought to be equally well-informed of the importance of using the BEST KIND OF SHOE. The Concave Shoe above mentioned, we think, is THE BEST ever invented to PREVENT animals from FORGING and the STEEL SHOE is used for the hind feet in connection with the Concave. Call and see them. I give personal attention to every horse and guarantee satisfaction both in price and workmanship.
