Fifty Dollars Reward.

ESCAPED from Denton jail, in Caroline county, Maryland, on the night of the 8th January, 1803, an ungrateful mulatto villain, named WILL ENGLISH, the property of the subscriber. He is five feet six or eight inches high; likely, sensible, pleasant and well made; has wool-hair, which he generally wears queued; has a scar on the back of one hand, and another on the joint of his great toe, occasioned by the cut of an axe, and is fond of a fiddle. He took with him a new great coat of dark flushing, the cape and edges bound with pale red silk ferret, and a variety of other cloathing. He is, I expect, flush of money in 50 or 100 dollar bank notes, (unless he may have found means to exchange them) having lately robbed me of 310 dollars, 100 dollars of which I had recovered from him before I sent him to gaol. He is an excellent waterman, and will probably make for Baltimore or Philadelphia. Whoever will take up and secure him, so that I get him, shall receive thirty dollars if taken in this state, and if out of it, the above reward.

WILL. RICHARDSON.

N. B. It is hoped that some one of the well disposed printers in Wilmington and Philadelphia, will lend their aid to detect a villain, by giving this a place in their useful papers.
