The Next Congress.

Our table, published in another column, shows a Democratic majority of 129 in the lower House. The latest returns indicate that after March 4th next the Senate will be dangerously near a tie. The big Republican majority of 14 in the upper branch of Congress may almost totally disappear, and with the aid of such Senators as Plumb, Pettigrew and Paddock, the Democrats would be able to control tariff legislation in the Senate as well as in the House. The Senate now stands 47 Republicans and 37 Democrats. The new States of Idaho and Wyoming will increase this majority to 14 when Congress meets again in December.

The Philadelphia Times thinks there will be a gain of seven Senators, which will make that body Democratic.

THE Easton Ledger to Russum:—Requiescat in Tincupibus.

MR. MCKINLEY may begin to believe this morning that the tariff is a tax—the kind of tax it hurts to sit down on unexpectedly.—Phila. Times.

THE Centreville Observer says that the Australian ballot-system worked smoothly and satisfactory in Queen Anne's county, and that "it is there to stay."

PRESIDENT HARRISON went to Indianapolis on Tuesday and cast his vote. A plain citizen stepped up to the poll immediately after and cast a straight Democratic ticket. His vote counted as much as the President's!

LANGSTON EXTINGUISHED.—General Mahone now enjoys the felicity of dangling his adversary Langston's scalp at his belt. In 1888 Langston, by running as an independent candidate, defeated Mahone's nominee for Congress, though he failed of election himself. He lacked, however, so little of a majority that Speaker Reed seated him after a memoreble contest. Now Mahone has caused his defeat by such a majority that even the speaker cannot ignore it. Langston is said to be sick at this collapse of his great expectations, but he still talks for publication.

LICENSE IN CECIL.—After a trial of nine years Cecil county returns to the license system. The vote last Tuesday was for license 2281; against 1998—majority for license 298. The Cecil News thus comments on the result: "The change of popular sentiment upon the method of dealing with the liquor question will afford food for much thought upon the part of those seriously interested in the public good. One thing is made certain and that is the uncertainty of methods that have yet been suggested for repression of intemperance by legislation."

TOURNAMENT.—A tournament was held at Worton Point last Saturday by the colored people of the vicinity. About 200 were present to witness the riding. Four knights contested for honors. The first prize, a cup and saucer, was won by John Willis, an employe of Mr. Ed. Beck. He crowned his best girl as "queen of love and BEAUTY" at the festival that night. One of the riders had taken all the rings, but dropped two off his spear and thereby got the third prize—five cents worth of candy! This rider after the last run lost his horse. He was taken sick and died. Previous to the tournament Mr. W. Stevens had fed this horse and it is supposed he was given too much to eat. The judge was Mr.——, of Worton.

THE MODEL INCUBATOR.—The Pineland incubators and brooders, for the sale of which Capt. R. S. Emory is the agent for Maryland, are claimed to be the simplest, most practical, economical and cheapest machines ever invented. They can now be seen in operation at Capt. Emory's residence, near Chestertown, and he will take pleasure in explaining their workings to any who may call upon him.

THE MAILS have excluded all matter pertaining to lotteries and the express companies have been called upon to transport money. But Mr. J. R. Clements, agent for the U. S. Express Company in Chestertown, says that by order of proper authorities no money for lottery purposes will be received by him or that company. So the lottery company will soon be crushed out of existence as it deserves to be.

TWO VALUEBLE FARMS FOR SALE.—Mr. Wm. A. Cochran, of Middletown, Del., will offer at public sale at Pennington's Hotel, in Galena, on Thursday afternoon next, November 13, two valuable farms on the public road leading from Galena to Millington. One contains 320 acres and the other 170 acres.

THE Sassfras Creamery Co. of which Mr. B. F. H. Caulk is president have completed their creamery building and put in a full plant. It is now in full operation and receiving a fair quantity of milk.

The Local Market.

For country produce the stores here were dealing yesterday as follows:

Dressed turkey hens	10c. per lb.
" " gobblers	8c. "
" ducks and chickens	12½c. "
" geese	10c. "
Country sausage	10c. "
Country butter	20c. "
Eggs	22c. a doz.

Local corn buyers are paying 40 and 42 cents on the cob and from 45 to 50 cents shelled.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of yesterday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry, good to prime, 99c@$1.00.
CORN—White and Yellow, 56@60c.
OATS—48@51½c.

A Carnival of Fraud.

Speaking of the election in that city on Tuesday the Philadelphia Times says: The large majority returned for Delamater in this city is simply a monstrous fraud. The city was overrun by heelers and repeaters and the ballot box was literally stuffed in the late hours of the day, while obviously false accounts come from many precints.

The ballot thieves have had their day in Philadephia; now honest citizenship, clean politics and the law will take their turn; and ballot polluters, high and low, masters and servants, buyers and sellers, must face the law and the most resolute Fraud Committee that ever locked horns with crime.

There must be the most relentless exposure, prosecution and punishment of both the leaders and hirelings who flung their appalling shame upon our city yesterday. There must be no labor or means spared to tear up this systematized fraud by the roots, and send these defiant ballot robbers to prison. Honest citizens to the front; ballot thieves to Cherry Hill!

STILL POND FARMERS' CLUB.

Corn Rot—Use of Lime—The Ladies Speak—Tariff Reform—The Farmers' Greatest Needs As a Class.

STILL POND, OCTOBER 31, 1890.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The Still Pond Farmers' Club met at the house of Mr. H. L. Crew on the above date. Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Turner, Jr., Mr. Howard Turner and Miss Emily Broomell favored us with their presence as guests, some of whom took part in the proceedings and all seemed to enjoy the various exercises of the club.

The two morning sessions were held in separate apartments, the ladies repairing to some secret quarters (for aught we know) as we neither saw nor heard anything from them until the dinner hour was announced. We men are about ready to conclude that secrecy is a prominent feature of their work as we have not yet been enlightened as to the matters claiming their attention at some of their meetings; but they informed us through their secretary, Mrs. J. S. Harris, that after this we may expect something as they had turned over a new leaf; so we await with great anxiety this something in store for us in the future; your correspondent heard whisperings that something was not quite right. Doubtless they intend to give us a piece of their minds, that they are not quite satisfied with the rights and privileges the lords of creation have condescended to grant them. They are looking serious and want to know who gave the men the right to lord it over them and they pay such share of taxes as the men see fit to impose. They may think this unconstitutional and that as their sex constitutes 3-4ths of the church membership of our land, they should have some little say in making the laws of the church and of our country. In fact there is no knowing what they think and there is some unrest; this quiet will not always last. "Still water runs deep." We look for an outbursting not far away in the future, that will revolutionize the order of things. Well, let it come. We men mean to do justice; only convince us and we are yours.

The morning hour of the men's sitting was devoted to the discussion of interesting topics. H. L. Crew stated that about one-third of his corn was rotten and inquired the cause.

J. S. Harris stated that it was caused by wet hot weather. His corn is somewhat affected, so is E. B. and W. D. Pennington's and N. Barnard's. The general sentiment seemed to be that the rot was greater when corn followed corn and that corn grown after clover was least affected. H. L. Crew was a great advocate for lime; stated a coat of lime produced 20 bushels more corn per acre than where he failed to apply it. E. B. Pennington was of the opinion that land should be limed once at least, and after a period of 10 or 20 years it may be an advantage to make another application. Some years ago he was a strong advocate of lime but experience had convinced him that frequent liming was money thrown away. A neighbor of his owned several farms; he supplied lime to such tenants as desired it and fertilizer to the others, and those who used the fertilizer made the most grain, had richer land and were more prosperous than those who used lime.

J. S. Harris could on one occasion detect to a row where lime had been used; had used it last year but could see no benefit. Applied it four years ago with same result; thinks it sometimes helps grass.

E. B. P.—A neighbor of his has limed many years and his land is not as good today as when he commenced liming.

J. S. Harris, Jr.—My corn is better where I applied lime last year.

E. B. P.—Lime exhausts land. It only acts mechanically and rendered available the fertilizing elements already in the soil.

R. T. Turner, Jr.—I limed a strip diagonally across my field from one corner to the opposite and I could never detect any difference in after crops; it is only a mechanical agent and possesses no manurial value and simply renders available plant food in the soil. I used some lime 25 years ago and thought it some benefit, but have only used it since from habit.

Dinner was now announced and the length of time devoted to this exercise was far above the average and speaks well for the housewife in the management of this important science.

The joint session convened at 2 o'clock with Mr. W. D. Pennington in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. H. L. Crew was asked to explain his plan of growing sweet potatoes. He thoroughly pulverizes the ground, uses yard scrapings or other light manure which he applies in hills 3 feet apart; as the plants grow he works the earth from the hills, winding the vines around the hills. The hill system is the best as drainage is better; if strong manure is used the vines make too strong a growth at the expense of the potatoes. He can raise 100 baskets on ¼ of an acre in this way.

E. B. P.—Canada Thistle and Sodom apple can be eradicated by never letting the top or leaves remain a day above ground; cut them off as they appear and they will die, but if allowed to grow the roots will penetrate the soil to the depth of 4 feet. Will not sprout from seed as winter kills the seed. This applies to the Canada Thistle. Sodom apple is more troublesome but persistent cutting down will destroy it.

Mrs. W. D. Pennington—Frequent applications of gasoline will preserve carpets and insure a bright, clean color.

Mrs. E. B. Pennington states cream will rise as well in deep cans as in shallow; a proper temperature is important.

Mr. J. S. H.—Resistance is less in shallow pans.

Mrs. W. D. P. states that parlors are no use except when young folks have company.

Question—Give best plan of managing turkeys from time of hatching till eight weeks old? Will answer at next meeting.

2d Question—Has any reform originated with the upper classes of society? Mr. R. T. Turner, Jr., will answer at next meeting. The question, How are farmers to be benefitted by a change from a Republican to a Democratic administration? was discussed at length by J. S. Harris. He claimed that the greatest benefit to be derived from a change would be a reform in our tariff system; the Democratic tariff system or plan is well known and so is the Republican. The McKinley tariff bill represents the Republican doctrine on this issue with which all well-informed persons are familiar; he claims that the chief objections to this bill are when its provisions are carried out will be to make the rich richer, and the poor, poorer; it favors the rich monopolist and oppresses the middle and laboring classes. Should the Democrats come into power they would kill the McKinley bill and adopt a tariff more equitable and just in its provisions to all classes giving no advantage to one class over another. To follow Mr. Harris through with his speech would require more time and space than is at my command at present. Suffice it to say that I know him to be a true, tried, uncompromising Democrat and it will require something akin to a cyclone to ever change his politics. I admire and honor a man true to his principles.

Mr. Henry Kruzen then took the floor and in the discussion of the regular question, "What are the greatest needs of the farmers as a class?" said that the farmers as well as the other portions of the producing classes were showing a very great discontent with the position in which they found themselves; that they are becoming convinced that the present social and economic system involved injustice; injustice to the many and special favors to the few. Cold statistics have revealed the fact that less than one quarter million families own three fourths of the wealth of the country, and that the remaining 12,820,000 families own only the other ¼. He said that the opinion was becoming general and that a great part of the accumulation of the few was not profit but plunder, and that the farmer was beginning to realize that he was not getting the reward for his labor to which he was entitled; that the speculation in grain and stocks was robbing him of a great part of his earnings and the system of charity to the manufacturers known as the tariff system was getting another large portion and maintained that the prevention of the unjust distribution of the proceeds of labor was one of the greatest needs of the farmers as a class. He claimed that another great cause for the present depression in agriculture was the enormous waste caused by the liquor traffic; but for this waste there would be a home market for every bushel of grain and every pound of meat that the farmers of this country could produce; that the theory of over production was without foundation in fact; that hundreds of thousands of our people had scarcely half enough to eat and many were actually starving. He showed that more than double the amount of money necessary to purchase the surplus productions of the farm was annually wasted for strong drink. While at the same time the people were needing the products of the farms to actually keep them from starving. He appealed to his fellow farmers to put a stop to this enormous waste if they did not wish to depend on foreign markets for their crops. He summed up the situation thus: Agriculture is depressed, farmers are complaining. The people are suffering. Surplus and starvation stare each other in the face. Poverty and plenty walk hand in hand. Fortunes are accumulating such as the world never heard of and the Heavens echo with the cry of those who are praying for bread; and the cause is unequal distribution and sinful waste of the products of toil. EUSEBIUS.

A PUNGY CAPSIZED AND TWO MEN DROWNED.—The bugeye Martha A. Shaw, Capt. Wm. Schoser, reached Baltimore Sunday afternoon from Eastern Bay, with Wm. Bordley, colored, whom Capt. Schorer rescued from the pungy Caroline, which capsized on Bloody Point bar Saturday night at 7 o'clock. Bordley gives a thrilling narrative of the accident and the loss of two lives. He says the Caroline was beating down the bay and was caught in a sudden squall while putting about and was capsized within 500 yards of Bloody Point lighthouse. Besides Captain William Sommers, there were on board as hands Bordley and Cornelius Redmond, colored, eighteen years old. All three were thrown into the water, but managed to get back to the capsized vessel and hold on to the rigging.

Redwood, after holding on for an hour and a-half, dropped overboard from exhaustion and was drowned. Sommers and Bordley held out until 6 A. M. yesterday, when the captain relaxed his grip of the rigging and he went overboard and was drowned. The sole survivor of the little vessel's crew continued in this perlious situation until 7 A. M., when the bugeye Martha A. Shaw came along and took him off. Bordley says his strength was fast leaving him, and he could not have held out much longer. Captain Sommers, Bordley and Redwood belonged to the town of Winchester, on Jackson's creek, Queen Anne's county. The pungy was the property of the captain. He was twenty-four years old and unmarried.

THE announcement that comes from Berlin that Professor Koch has discovered a sure preventive of consumption heralds the most important advance made in the medical science in the present century. Professor Koch has been permitted to abandon his university labors in order to give partical demonstration of the working of his remedy. Nothing going on in the round world will be worth half so much attention as the experiments to be made with consumptives treated by this German professor until he shall have proved or disproved the value of the discovery so confidently announced.

DIPTHERIA FROM CATS.—A special dispatch from Martinsville, Ind., says: "Many cases of diphtheria, some of them fatal, have been puzzling physicians in this locality for some time. Several afflicted families, it is positively known, could not have contracted the malady from any infected person. Inquiries by a physician of an afflicted household, four miles north of the city, revealed the fact that three cats had died very suddenly and mysteriously. It is believed they died of diphtheria, and that they had communicated the malady to the children."

POLITICS AND CHRISTIANITY.—The opinion of ex-Gov. John Lee Carroll, of Maryland, is: "To my mind politician means a man who busies himself about the public affairs of the community in which he lives, and if he performs his duty properly I would consider him a far higher type of Christian than one who makes a profession of religion and yet who grumbles at the conduct of public affairs without doing anything to improve them. There can be no higher manhood than that of him who devotes his life to the efficient conduct of public affairs. The term is brought into discredit by those who abuse the power intrusted to them."

DIED ON HER WAY TO CHURCH.—Mrs. John W. Gardner, of Kent Island, while walking to church in company with her husband and others, was taken suddenly ill and had to be carried to her home, dying on the way before reaching the house. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause.

"PRIDE OF ENGLAND!"

—IMPORTED—

Cleveland Bay Stallion,

Registered Number, 161.

IS of a beautiful Cleveland Bay color, stands 16 hands 1½ inches high, and will weigh 1,300 pounds in condition. He is stylish, fine action and perfectly quiet. In the combined qualities of action, beauty and endurance, he is acknowledged to stand unequaled as a stock horse for farm and carriage purposes. He comes down a long line of the best producers. The American Farmers' Stock Book, in speaking of the most desirable strains of horses which have been the result of careful and scientific breeding, in coming to the Cleveland Bays, says: "We come next to a class of horses always held in the highest esteem for their many valuable qualities. It is a horse that is now bred to a degree of perfection that leaves little to be desired in all that goes to constitute size, style and ability to perform any labor that may be required, except the heaviest drudgery. The Cleveland Bays are good carriage horses, good and stout wagon or plow horses, and they match together about as easy as Dover cattle, commanding as they do plenty of staunch thorough blood with excellent size and constitutional vigor. Unfortunately they are rare in the United States, but since their introduction into the West they have been steadily growing into favor. They are remarkable for their pure bay color, dashed only at the fetlocks and in the forehead with white. We have good authority for our admiration of this splendid animal. Canada has of late years become celebrated for finely-bred and finely-matched carriage horses, which is due to the sagacity of some Canadian breeders, in selecting Cleveland Bay Stallions for sires."
