MOODY & LUSBY

Directly Opposite Court House, CHESTERTOWN, MD.

Found Dead.—Mrs. L. D. Kelley' wife of Dr. J. Horton Kelley of Still Pond, was very much shocked Thursday morning upon coming down stairs to find the Doctor's hostler lying dead in bed. She was somewhat earlier than usual in order to assist the servant in getting breakfast ready for the Dr. who intended to take the boat for Baltimore for the purpose of placing the man in a hospital. He had been with the Doctor about four weeks when acute Bright's disease developed, recognizing his condition as serious the Dr. thought it might be improved by placing him in a hospital. He was a very valuable and reliable servant having previously lived with the Dr. six years.

The Tolchester Beach Improvement Company was sued in the Superior Court, last week by Joseph Scharnage, who claims $5,000 damages for alleged false arrest on the steamer Louise on the 10th instant. The declaration states that young Scharnage bought a round-trip ticket to Tolchester, and while on the way to the resort he was arrested, taken from the cabin and confined in the lockup on the steamer. It is also alleged that he was not informed on what ground he was arrested, but that when released subsequently he was told that a mistake had been made and he was not the person wanted. The suit was brought by Thomas G. Hayes and John H. Grill, attorneys.

Accidents.—Mr. John C. Wood an estimable farmer of near Rock Hall, sustained a severe accident last week. His horse ran away and the reins having dropped from his hand was unable to control the animal. Mr. Wood was thrown out and a shoulder bone broken.

Drs. Selby and Schwatka rendered medical assistance and he is getting along very nicely and is as active as usual though considerably handicapped.

Mr. Walter U. Lusby, of the Chestertown hustling clothing firm of Moody & Lusby, sprained his ankle this week at his store.

Mr. Otto Louchstadt, a member of the Pittsburg Hunting and Fishing Club, encamped near Tolchester, was wounded Wednesday while shooting at clay pigeons with fellow-members by the accidental discharge of his gun. At the Maryland General Hospital it was found that most of the shot lodged in his leg.

Mr. George W. Hatcherson received a painful gash on his hand Wednesday caused by the kick of a young mule. Dr. Hines took several stitches in the wound.
