Nobby Vehicles!

It always pays to investigate before you buy. In the carriage line this is doubly true, because they are apparently alike when vastly different.

If you will take a look at our Runabouts and Carriages, note the snappy styles, the good class of work and all that goes to make a vehicle of value—then consider the fact that we as dealers are under no expense whatever to sell these jobs, no clerks, no commissions, no rents—(we buy only in solid car-load lots to the very best advantage)—you will readily see why we can sell as we do and why it is to your own good interest to buy from us.
Terms made satisfactory.

MR. BORDLEY ELECTED

A Spirited Canvas of Voters—A Failure in Mandamus Proceedings. — Only Tax-Payers Could Vote.

For some months the canvas for votes for town commissioner has been in progress by the candidates, Messrs. Thomas S. Bordley and William M. Culp and their friends. These gentlemen are both Democrats but representing the organization and the Barroll factions. At the opening of the polls Mr. Barroll claimed the right of all newly assessed tax-payers to vote while the opposition claimed that only those who were on the tax-books at present and who had paid taxes should have the right to vote, this opinion having been given by Chief Judge Pearce. Judge Pearce having gone to Annapolis, the case was carried before Judges Crothers and Adkins who concurred in Judge Pearce's opinion and Mr. Barroll's claim was over-ruled.

The voting went on quietly after this little "flurry" and the count resulted in a big victory for Mr. Bordley, the vote being 168 for Thomas S. Bordley and 55 for William M. Culp.

Mr. Bordley has made a good commissioner and his vote shows the people want him to continue in that position. The defeated candidate is one of Chestertown's best citizens and fully qualified to be commissioner but because of other reasons he was beaten. We are sure Mr. Culp was not personally anxious for this office.

OYSTERS, LAST OF THE SEASON.

To all whom it may concern. We wish to say that the undersigned is still serving oysters, stewed, fried or panned, in the old well-known and reliable Wm. Perkins style at 342 Cannon St. Two dining rooms—one for ladies and one for gentlemen. Only 3 minutes walk from the depot. Beef-steak and coffee, especially on Tuesdays. Fried oysters delivered any where in town at short notice. Remember that we are the only parties in Kent county holding the original Perkins receipt for stewing, frying or panning oysters. We have had some of our fried oysters shipped to Boston, Mass., for a wedding breakfast, and some to Cumberland, Md. We are still making Ice Cream, Water Ice and Frozen Custard, which we furnish by the plate or gallon in large or small quantities.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

Visit to County Almshouse—Recommend Flagman and Bells on Railroad Crossings.

The Grand Jury adjourned on Saturday. They call attention of proper officials of Chestertown and Centreville branches of the P. W. B. & W. R. R. Co. to the danger our citizens are subjected to in crossing the tracks of these railroads at the various public road crossings in Kent county, and especially at the crossings near the old depot sight, Worton, Lynch, Kennedyville, Black's, Lambson's, Massey's and Millington and recommend that a flagman be placed at the Chestertown crossings at the sight of the old depot and that electric bells be placed at the crossings of other towns for better protection of human life and limit. They further warn the railroad company against blocking the crossings over five minutes at a time by freight trains.

A special committee consisting of Messrs. R. B. Willson, John Bell, Chas. L. Miller, J. A. Casey, E. J. Watson, C. S. Smith visited the almshouse and in their report stated as follows:

"We are of the opinion that the quarter for colored men is too far from the main building. We recommend the brick building in rear of Keeper's House be made of same height, its full length, about the same size building be added to this and connecting same with or to the new quarter. We also suggest this being done that a heating plant be installed. The outbuildings are in bad condition and we recommend immediate attention. We recommend the removal of the stable and corn house. Corn house is in condition to move, stable almost worthless and we believe in the wrong place. We also think the corn house too close to main building for safety in case of fire. We also find the great need of ventilation in all quarters save one. We find inmates dressed comfortably. The rooms clean, etc. Sickness occuring quite often we recommend the installing of a telephone. We find 20 inmates—6 white and 14 colored.

Blake Wins Suit.—On Wednesday in the Court of Appeals at Annapolis Judge Boyd delivered the opinion of the court in the case of the Diamond State Telephone Company against David Blake, from Kent county. Blake sued the telephone company and the Chestertown Electric Light and Power Company and obtained a judgment of $1,950 against the telephone company for injuries alleged to have been received from coming in contact with a live wire. It is alleged that the defendants permitted a loose wire of the telephone company to come into contact with a feed wire of the power company. The lower court gave the judgment for the plaintiff against the telephone company, and judgment for the power company, with costs. It was held that the telephone company was liable for the injuries sustained by Blake and the Court of Appeals affirms this action. William W. Beck and S. P. Townshend, Esqs., represented Blake; H. H. Barroll, Esq., the Diamond State Telephone Co., and M. deK. Smith, Esq., the Electric Light Company.

STANDS BY CULL LAW.

Commander T. C. B. Howard, of the state fishery force, does not agree with the view taken by the members of the Shellfish Commission, as shown by the action of that body in declaring that oysters of less than the ordinary legal size may be taken in the area north of a line drawn from Bodkin Point to Swan Point between April 15 and May 15, and has instructed his deputy commanders to enforce the Cull Law as usual during that period, and prevent the catching of any oysters under the prescribed size of two and a half inches. Under the regulation adopted by the Shellfish Commission oysters any size may be taken by tongers in the designated area for the purpose of being placed on the beds of those who have leased lots under the present law.

The question is of great importance in connection with oyster culture under the new act, and Commander Howard's action makes it impossible for the Maryland planters to secure any supply of seed oysters this year. Commander Howard's view of the matter is the legal one under the Court of Appeals decision, and there will be no method under the present law by which seed oysters can be taken at any time, and new legislation will be necessary for this purpose.

The special point involved in this case was whether or not unculled and small oysters might be taken from their own beds by private owners, and the Court of Appeals unanimously held that they cannot. The opinion of Judge Pearce went further, however, and said: "Especially will it be necessary to enforce these provisions" (the provisions against the taking of small oysters) "which define unmerchantable oysters and forbid their sale, if the operation of the law recently enacted, known as the 'Haman Law,' shall have the effect claimed by its supporters and advocates, of building up a large and important industry of private planting for market purposes. If oysters taken from private lots are not required to be culled, then under the operation of the Haman Law the natural beds and bars might, and almost surely would, be depleted of young oysters, to be planted upon private lots, and which could be sold as merchantable oysters whenever the greed or necessity of the private planter might incline him to such a course."

THE will of the late Thos. A. Hudson was read in the office of the Register of Wills yesterday in the presence of the heirs. The will leaves the widow and Chas. H. and Albert W. Hudson executors; these all renounced in favor of H. H. Barroll, Esq., who will take out letters. The will directs the sale of all the real and personal property. The real estate consists of a farm of 175 acres finely located on Chester river.

LAST Thursday, April 25th closed the oyster season to remain closed until Sept. 1. The close of the fishing season is confined to but one month—July—in Chester river. Hook and line fishing knows no "closed season."

THE Kent County teachers met yesterday at the Chestertown High School with a full attendance. A profitable session was held under the direction of Prof. Milton Melvin.

THE GRIM REAPER IS BUSY

Prominent Persons Who Have Passed To The Great Beyond And Received Their Final Reward.

Funeral services were held at her late home near Still Pond Creek at 1 o'clock. Rev. E. H. Collins of Still Pond officiating. Interment was at St. Paul's cemetery. Undertaker W. H. Krusen had charge of funeral arrangements.

VINCENT LEE.

Mr. Vincent Lee, a well-known farmer residing near Tolchester Beach, died at his home on Saturday, aged 49 years. He is survived by a widow and four children. Funeral services were held on Monday conducted by Rev. E. B. Taylor, interment in Chester cemetery. The pallbearers were: James Bramble, George E. Noland, W. E. Keyser, J. P. Nicholson, E. W. Staats and Wash. G. Skirven. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson had charge of funeral arrangements.

LUTHER HANDY.

Mr. Luther Handy, 82 years old, died Saturday night at his home in Baltimore, of the infirmities of old age. The deceased up to 15 years ago, resided on his farm, Greenhill, Kent county, upon which is situated the original house of the historic Great Oak Manor, a noted Maryland estate that was granted to Mr. Handy's ancestor, Margaret Tilden, by the English crown. Mr. Handy who was the son of Rev. G. D. S. Handy, who for many years was the rector of Old St. Paul's Church, in Kent County. The remains were brought to Kent Tuesday via Tolchester and interred in St. Paul's cemetery. Rev. S. R. S. Gray officiated at the burial service, and undertaker John N. Dodd had charge of arrangements. The bearers were James Bell, George Beck, P. A. M. Brooks, E. P. Beck, P. G. Wilmer and George Bell.

GEORGE T. ROLLISON.

The funeral of Mr. George T. Rollison, who died of tuberculosis last Thursday evening at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. John Hubbard, took place Sunday afternoon from the Adventist Church, Rock Hall. Rev. M. Lucken, president of the Adventist Conference, preached. Mr. Rollison and family moved from there to New Jersey about 18 months ago, and he was on a visit when death came. He was a member of Rock Hall, No. 149, Junior Order United American Mechanics, and the service at the grave was conducted according to the ritual of the order. The pallbearers were C. S. Porter, James G. W. Harrison, Max Alexander, W. W. Clayton, Joseph R. Ryan, Jr., and Joseph A. Walbert. Besides a widow and two small children, he is survived by a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rollison, and several brothers and sisters, all of Baltimore. The burial was in Wesley Chapel Cemetery.

THOMAS A. HUDSON.

Mr. Thomas A. Hudson, a well-known farmer of the Fifth district in this county, died at his residence on Monday last at noon, of heart disease. He was in his seventy-ninth year. He had enjoyed exceptionally good health up to a short time ago when he was hurt by a fall, since which time he has suffered considerably but was able to be about and was in Chestertown last week attending to business. On Monday, the morning of his death, he seemed in good spirits but had some difficulty in breathing and he sent to Chestertown for Dr. H. L. Dodd. The doctor had just started when the message was received here announcing that Mr. Hudson had died suddenly. He was sitting in his home conversing with his wife and asked her to step outside the door and attend to some minor matter. She was gone but a minute or two, but when she returned she found her husband dead. The death blow had come in that little while, and without a word or a groan he had ended his earthly career. Mr. Hudson was born on the farm now belonging to Mr. John R. Bennett, at Kennedyville.

Mr. Hudson was a prominent Republican in county politics and exercised considerable influence in his district. He was elected a judge of the Orphans' Court and served the full term preceding the present Court. He was married three times and leaves a widow, and three children by his second wife, who was Adaline L. Usilton, daughter of Robert Usilton. His first wife was a Miss Hadaway, daughter of the late Capt. John Hadaway, of Quaker Neck, and his third wife, who survives him, was Miss Morgan, of Baltimore, and who was married only a few years ago, and proved a most helpful and loving helpmete to her aging husband. The surviving children are Wm. J., Charles Henry and Albert Washington Hudson, and two grand-children, Miss Edith and Master James Blackiston. Mr. Hudson's home was a beautiful location on Chester river near the mouth of Grey's Inn Creek and here it was his great delight to entertain his many relatives and friends. The funeral services took place at the late residence on Wednesday morning, conducted by Revs. Warren Burr and W. V. Harris. Undertaker, Casey Bros., bearers, Columbus A. Leary, Frank M. Satterfield, Wm. Burgess, John J. Blackiston, Wm. Baldwin and Wm. Wagner.

ELIZABETH E. WRIGHT.

Miss Elizabeth E. Wright, 77 years old, died suddenly at 3.15 p. m. last Sunday of congestion of the lungs, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ellen Nicols, 729 North Carey street, Baltimore. She had been in the best of health until Saturday night when she complained of a tightening of the lungs, but it was not believed her condition was serious. Late that night she wrote to a friend that she expected to die before morning, and the letter was found among her effects after her death.
