PUBLISHERS AND EDITORS.

SATURDAY, APRIL, 27, 1907.

THE great Jamestown Exposition was opened yesterday. Are you going?

THE annual report of the Town Commissioners is published in another column. It shows a gratifying condition of the town finances notwithstanding certain heavy special expenses. The commissioners certainly deserve commendation for their careful and judicious expenditures.

THE Baltimore American seems to be devoting its best efforts in carricaturing Ex-Governor Frank Brown as a "Boss." In all its anxiety to elect Timanus it has failed utterly to find anything against Mahool, and so it is trying the "Boss" cry. And yet could anything be more ludicrous in the light of the doings of Stone and Mudd?

ON Tuesday, the 7th day of May the election for Mayor and other officers will take place in Baltimore. It is one of the most important in the history of the city. It touches all its future welfare. It is to be hoped that Mahool will be elected by a rousing majority, as his merit is fully up to the occasion.

HON. JAMES S. HARRIS.

We are pleased to learn that this gentleman has consented, in response to the earnest solicitation of numerous friends, to be a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the House of Delegates in the coming campaign, subject to the decision of the Democratic primaries. This will no doubt be gratifying news to the Democrats generally throughout the county, as Mr. Harris will make an ideal representative.

He is one of our foremost citizens, of strong personal character and unimpeachable record. No man in the county stands higher in the confidence of our county people. Mr. Harris is a good speaker and has had much experience in dealing with subjects of general interest, and especially those that touch agriculture and fruits. His knowledge is both observant and practical. He is the most extensive grower in the county and has by study and personal contact with growers made himself an authority on fruit growing in the Maryland and Delaware peninsula.

He would be an invaluable member of the House as the special friend of agriculture, as well as being fully "up to date" with the best thinkers of the State on general subjects. Everybody ought to favor Mr. Harris. Make his nomination unanimous and his triumphant election is sure to follow. It is absolutely certain that he would be an honest and faithful representative of the people.

THE Kent bar has been noted during the term just closed for the activity of its young attorneys. These growing legal lights deserve great credit for their industry and legal learning. A bright future is certainly open to each of them. The State's Attorney, William W. Beck, may yet be classed a young man, though his large practice and fine success impresses the idea that he is up among the older members of the bar. He has made one of the best State's Attorneys the county has ever known. Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., is another of the bright and growing lights of the bar; he is industrious and skillful with his cases and has had much success; he will take front rank in legal circles and do credit to his distinguished legal ancestry. Herbert Perkins is a young attorney of ability and high character; perseverance will secure his just mede of success. S. Scott Beck has only been at the bar one year, yet he has fully stamped his character as a strong young legal mind upon all observers; he has the ability and disposition to make a great success at the bar. R. Groome Parks has so recently removed from Kent that he may yet be classed as among "our young attorneys." His strong forte is energy and hard study, and he is sure to be heard from even in the broad field of city legal life.

THE order of the Pennsylvania R. R. Company that no freight cars for the shipment of peaches will be supplied with shelves this year simply means that the shipment and package of friut will be revolutionized at least by rail. The order effects peaches, pears and tomatoes. Delaware growers are now considering ways and means for a new package.

THE Marvin kidnapping case which has startled the entire country since March 4, when four-year-old Horace Marvin disappeared from his father's farm near Dover, Del., may soon be solved. It is now believed the child was killed by Frank H. Butler, deck hand on the steamboat John R. Wilson. He has been arrested.

A NEW TIME table has gone into effect on the Delaware railroad. By the change the afternoon train arrives in Chestertown at 7 o'clock. The afternoon train leaves Philadelphia 4.01, but leaves Baltimore same time, compelling the passengers from the latter city to await at some station over one hour. This is a discrimination against Baltimore for the benefit of Philadelphia.

WORTHY JUDGES.

The April term of our Circuit Court, just closed, has again given our people clear insight into the fitness of the Associate Judges of this Circuit. With Chief Judge Pearce they form a bench unsurpassed in the whole State for judicial probity and practical legal ability. The two associates will be before the people for election this year and they certainly deserve an emphatic endorsement by the people. Judges Crothers and Adkins are highly appreciated in Kent for their personal worth as well as for judicial fitness. It is believed they will have unanimous endorsement in the Circuit by the Democracy, and will receive the support of the best elements of the Rèpublican party as well.

Boys' Best Spring Clothing at This One Best Store

Running through the minds of parents of boys, sometimes as a sub-current, often as a dominant thought, is where to get Boys' Clothing that will give the most wear for the money. A Simple Mixture Highly Recommended for Dyspepsia.

The principal and general causes of dyspepsia and a whole train of distressing complaints resulting therefrom are produced from the present fashionable habits of luxury and intemperance. The disease might be well regarded as one of the most distressing, with which we may be afflicted. If taken in consideration and properly treated dyspepsia is as cureable a disease as any there is. The following simple prescription should be taken after each meal: Kastor Compound, 1 oz.; Fluid Extract Cascar Aromatic, 1 oz; Tr. Cinchona Compound, 2½ ozs. Your local druggist can supply you with these ingredients at a small cost.
