BOSTON, April 22.

A letter from the captain of a Boston ship at Leghorn, dated Jan. 14, mentions, that on sailing from Boston he was greatly alarmed by the reports of the hostile conduct of the British towards American vessels; but that he was greatly and agreeably disappointed by finding himself, as an American from Boston for Leghorn, uniformly treated with the greatest politeness—the examinations by the boarding officers being of the slightest kind, and they exerting themselves to abridge the time as much as possible which the vessel was detained. He was boarded from 6 or 7 British vessels at different times, from a ship of the line down to a government brig, and fell in with admiral Collingwood's fleet, and received the same treatment among them.

The election in Rhode-Island took place on the 17th inst. In seven towns, given in the Newport Republican, the Federal candidate for the office of governor, has more than any other candidate. The Rhode-Island electors, we believe, generally use printed votes.

In 23 towns in the Providence Gazette, (including those in the Newport paper,) Mr. JACKSON has nearly twice as many vote, as the highest democratic candidate.

MORE PRECIOUS CONFESSIONS.

Mr. Randolph, in the course of the last week, made the following frank and important confession: "We have been trading for the last 5 years on the federal capital. I am fearful, sir, that when the capital is exhausted, we shall prove bankrupts both in resources and reputation."

The above is communicated to me this moment, by an ear and eye witness, whose respectability, intelligence and veracity, are above the reach of imputation.

[New-York Evening Post.]

A private letter from Dublin says, Mr. Ryan, at whose house in Marlborough street, the meetings of the Roman Catholic committee were held, wrote to Mr. Fox, congratulating him on his accession to political power, and hoped that he would not forget his friends the Irish Catholics, who had always supported him. Mr. Fox answered the letter rather in a general manner, thanked the gentleman for his congratulations, said that in or out of office he would not forget the Irish Catholics, and that Mr. Ryan might make what use he thought proper of his letter."

[London paper.]

By the arrival of Furguson's Packet, on Saturday, we received Norfolk papers of the 23d and 26th—they state the arrival of the
