ROCK HALL ITEMS

The remains of Mrs. James Jones, a former resident of this county, but for many years residing in Baltimore, were brought over by steamer Gratitude on Saturday. The funeral service, conducted by Rev. Mr. Burr, were held in the presence of a large assembly. Funeral director Casey had charge of the arrangements. Interment was made in Wesleyan cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Joseph Williams, J. M. Collison, W. T. Harrison, J. W. Boyer, George Davis and James R. Ryan. Mrs. Jones was a highly respected and christian lady. A husband, son and daughter survive her besides numerous other relatives.

Quite a number of our people accompanied Mr. E. E. Leary and crew of the power boat, Bye, to St. Michaels on Friday the 16th to witness the great regatta. They report a pleasurable trip.

The Knights of Pythias have taken the shine off the Odd Fellows in artistic sign decorations on the building where fraternities oft do meet. They have a splendid display of time of lodge meeting and an invitation to transient members of the order besides the name of the hall in bold lettering across the front of the building. Artist S. E. Cannan did the work which is a credit to him.

The Messrs. Alexander had the finest window display, on Saturday, that was ever exhibited in our town. Max certainly is an adept in the decoration line, or was it Olin that did the trick?

Camp 37 P. O. S. of A. of this place has been honored with a State camp official in the person of Mr. John Wesley Boyer. Will Jack stop there or will he push to succeed Rev. A. B. Wood as President? Well, we will see.

Many rains and breakdowns have made grain threshing slow work in this section. Some of our farmers have concluded to hold up any further shipments until September, believing the markets will then be better. Much wheat is yet unthreshed.

As is usually the case with those in the oyster business, Mr. Carroll Elburn who has been assisting Mr. J. A. Casey in the bakery busines for several months finds it hard to get away and stay away from the oyster bars, he has resigned his position in the bakery and returns to the tonging business. He has made an efficient clerk for Mr. Casey and he parts with him very reluctantly. Mr. Williard Rich succeeds young Elburn and no doubt Mr. Casey will find him O. K. after he becomes familiar with the business.

A young son of Mr. R. J. Harrison has been spending a good portion of the closed season in working out a steam engine invention conceived by him sometime ago. A few days since, as his plans were all well carried out, the boiler of the engine bursted and the young man was painfully burned and his dream at an end. He was not dangerously injured however and he will try again.

The Pacific Press Publishing Company have issued a special series of their paper the "Signs of the Times" which are in circulation here and are brim full of most interesting reading that are well worth pondering by any one who may read them.

Miss Naomi Harp is in Baltimore for a few days the guest of her mother.

With a whoop and a yell Sitting Bull Tribe No. 130 took up their trail for the happy hunting grounds where the key of Capt. J. D. Hynson's fishing shore was found. The key however was no use to them for the way to the shore was wide open (for Joe is a "red skin" himself) and this tribe of the Q. O. of R. M. walked in and found a feast of corn and venison awaiting them to which the "red skins" and many "pale faces" present did ample justice. This was the first annual pie nic of Sitting Bull Tribe and it was an exceedingly enjoyable affair.

South Rock Hall is in need of a first class dairyman. Our friend Coburn who has been serving us has gone clean back on us. Wonder why?

An exciting episode occured here one day last week when two men endeavored to catch a steer out in a field adjacent to Rock Hall. The elder mah was going to show the young man how to do it but both had to take refuge up a tree. Scores of citizens visited the scene and enjoyed the fun from a distance!
