Reliable Home Treatment for Whiskey and Beer Habit

The ORRINE treatment will completely and absolutely destroy the desire or craving for whiskey, beer and other intoxicants if taken according to directions. It is a simple and efficient home treatment. No detention from work or business; no publicity; no sanatorium expense.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms: No. 1, a powder, tasteless and colorless, can be given secretly in food or drink; ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. ORRINE costs only $1.00 a box. If after a trial you fail to get any benefit from ORRINE your money will be refunded.

PREFERS COMBINE TO COMPETITION

H. P. DAVISON, OF MORGAN & CO., ON STAND.

Tells Money Trust Committee He Favors Control of Industries Under Government Regulation—Says Concentration of Financial Resources in New York Sufficient to Care for Business of the Country.

Washington, January 23.—That the present concentration of financial resources in New York is "sufficient to care for the business and commerce of the country," was the statement of Henry P. Davison, of J. P. Morgan & Co., on the stand before the House Money Trust Committee today. The question of further concentration, Mr. Davison asserted, depended entirely upon the development of the business and commerce of the country. Mr. Davison went on record as favoring "combination and control of industries under government regulation, as opposed to free, unrestricted competition."

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, and the witness engaged in a spirited tilt on the question of the conduct of banking affairs in European countries. Mr. Untermyer insisted that England, France and Germany prevent control of banks through interlocking directorates.

"Talk about concentration, why we haven't even started in this country, as compared with the European nations," was Mr. Davison's reply to this statement.

Mr. Davison said he saw no objection to a law forcing the publicity of bank assets "if the public thought it desirable," but he was opposed to any law that would force banks to make public lists of their stockholders.

Opposes Holding Companies.

"Do you favor the principle of controlling concerns through holding companies?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"Generally speaking," said Mr. Davison, "I have a prejudice against holding companies."

"Most of the companies your firm has organized have been holding companies, have they not?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"Yes," said Mr. Davison, "and in this respect I want to qualify my opinion. On general principles I don't believe in holding companies, but I think there are circumstances which make a holding company the best means of handling a situation."

"Do you believe three or four or half a dozen men should be allowed to monopolize any industry so long as they do not operate through a holding company?"

"I don't know how you could prevent it, if they had the financial backing and the ability to do it," asserted Mr. Davison. "I have no objection to it. If it was wrong it couldn't live. I see no necessity for a law to prevent it. It would fall of itself in the making."

Trusts Are a Blessing.

"Are you opposed to trusts?" asked Mr. Untermyer a few moments later.

"I would not say that I was wholly in favor of them in the making, but I was not opposed to them after they were made. I think they were a great blessing to the country."

Mr. Davison further said that he thought it was "unfortunate for the people of the entire world," that the courts interfered with the trusts "as they have done."

"Do you think it was wrong for the courts to interfere?" Mr. Untermyer asked.

"No," he replied, "but I think it could have been approached better from the other direction, by regulation, not disintegration. You cannot any more dissolve those trusts, in effect, than you can move this continent across the Atlantic Ocean."

Mr. Davison said that he believed a law forcing banks in reserve cities to be independent, and forbidding combinations through interlocking directors would "set us back 15 years."

OFFICEHUNTERS WARNED

Kissing Babies Will Spread Disease, Says Chicago Health Officer.

Chicago, January 23.—Candidates who are becoming active in the aldermanic campaign were warned today by Health Commissioner George B. Young against hand-shaking and kissing of babies on account of the prevalence in the city of scarlet fever, diphtheria and smallpox. Dr. Young declared that the baby-kissing feature of the campaign should be strictly forbidden.

THE TWICE-A-WEEK AMERICAN

Keep in touch with the news of the world by reading The Twice-a-Week American. It contains, twice a week, the latest news, up to a late hour of the morning of issue, and the most important items since the previous issue. The financial and commercial reports are noted for their accuracy, a full review of the market for the week being given every Friday. But for the farmer it is invaluable, as it contains seasonable articles, written solely for this edition by a practical, expert farmer, and extracts from the best agricultural papers are carefully made and edited. Answers are given to queries every Friday, and the Advice of the Veterinarian can be relied upon. Much information may be found in the small paragraphs, such as Much in Little and Men and Women, and the ladies will be interested in the Hints to Housekeepers, which appear every Friday. For the small sum of $1 a year 104 copies will be sent, making this the cheapest as well as the best semiweekly newspaper in the country. One-half and one-quarter year's subscriptions pro rata. Sample copies may be obtained upon application at the office.
