SECRETARY LANE INDIAN CHIEF

TITLE FORMALLY BESTOWED ON CABINET OFFICER.

TAKES THE PIPE OF PEACE

Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs Dubbed Little Chief Because of His Short Stature—Red Men, Gorgeously Arrayed, Bestow Presents on Secretary Lane's Little Girl—They Mutually Pledge Good Faith to Each Other.

Washington, March 13.—Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, has been made an Indian chief. Today in his office he had bestowed upon him the title of "Lone Chief" by a delegation of Blackfeet Indians from Montana, who called to present him with a pipe of peace and a buskin tobacco bag.

After the pipe had been handed to him by Chief Curly Bear, a tall and heavy built mountain chief, stepped forth and said: "Hereafter we will call you Lone Chief. That was the name of our most famous chief. You will be Lone Chief to us now."

Then, turning to Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs Abbott, he said:

"And you, too, must have an Indian name. You are short of stature, so we will call you Little Chief."

"I take your pipe," said the Secretary, "as a pledge between us. I know what it means. It is a promise on your part that you will bear faith to me, and when I shake your hand and take your pipe, it means that I bear good faith and good will toward you. I have spoken to the Great Father in the White House about you. You have a good friend in him, one who will always keep his word. I speak for him and promise that we always will try to do justice to you."

To the Secretary's little daughter, Miss Nancy Lane, who has become much interested in Indians, Chief Little Dog, of the Blackfeet, presented a pair of moccasins decorated with beadwork.

Chief Plenty Coups, head of the Crow Indians, gorgeously arrayed for the occasion in red trousers and an immense headpiece of feathers, presented Miss Nancy with a beautiful pair of buckskin gloves, covered with fine beadwork, as a token of his friendship.

"I give these to you," he said, "as the daughter of our father, who will look out for the Indians' interests."

Plenty Coups is the Indian whose strong profile is seen on the $5 banknotes.
