PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE NEW UNION STATION AT WASHINGTON.

All the passenger trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad will enter and depart from the new Union station at Washington on November 17, 1907, and on the same date the present station at Sixth and B. Streets will be closed to traffic.

The date is singulary fitting. In 1807 both wings of the Capitol were completed, and now a century later a building even larger is opened for a great public utility, which did not exist at that time.

The railroad terminal facilities at Washington have been inadequate for years, particularly at inauguration periods and on the assemblage of other large gathering at the Capital. Their improvement was imperative and so it has come about that, by the combined effort of the railroads and the United States Government, one of the largest and unquestionably the handsomest railroad station in the world is now provided not only for the convenience of the citizens of the United States, but as a notable architectural addition to the great public buildings of the Capital City. It is a monumental edifice and a worthy type of the future structures, which will make Washington the municipal beauty spot of the world.

The station including the Concourse is longer than the Capital and nearly as wide. The waiting room is larger than the hall of the House of Representatives. The concourse, which is the train lobby, is longer than the interior of the Capitol building, if it were one continuous hall, and half as wide. It is the largest building ever constructed for a like purpose.

Within the great structure there is every convenience the traveler can desire, so grouped about the central hall as to serve his purpose to the best advantage.

The lofty arched entrances face a plaza as large as an ordinary city park, which will be laid out as a plaza and adorned with shrubbery and fountains.

The trackage is sufficient for all demands upon it and as the entrance to and exit from the trains are separated, the confusion and jostling of hurrying crowds moving in opposite directions will be obviated.

The bigness of the station is impressive; its utilities obvious.

GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

ELLEN M. OLSON CLARA E. DARMSTADTER

The responsibility for a daughter's future largely rests with the mother.

The right influence and the information which is of vital interest to the daughter imparted at the proper time has not only saved the life but insured the success of many a beautiful girl.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities. It has been thus depended upon for two generations.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and their mothers, expressing gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for them, are constantly being received.

Miss Ellen M. Olson, of 417 N. East St, Kewanee, Ill. writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have had the best doctors in our town for my sickness and they all thought that an operation was necessary. I had headache, sideache, and my feet were so sore I could hardly stand. I took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when my periods were established and now I am perfectly well. Mama says she wont be without your medicine in the house. I have told one girl what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me and she is taking it now."

Miss Clara E. Darmstadter, of 453 Breckenridge St., Buffalo, N.Y., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For about a year, except during the past few months, I suffered with severe pains every month, with backaches and headaches. I had the blues so bad that I was in despair. It is a pleasure to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me. The change in my appearance is wonderful and I desire that this good may come to every sufferer. Any one desiring to know further details may write to me and I shall be glad to give them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs cures where others fail.

No other remedy has such a record of actual cures of female ills. Thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for them.

HIS TRIUMPH IS UNIQUE

SMITH'S VICTORY AN UNUSUAL POLITICAL FEAT.

How the New Leader of Maryland's Democracy Brought it About.

Six months ago John Walter Smith was a prophet only in his own county. Beyond its limits there were few to do him honor. Today he is the recognized leader of the State Democracy, and incidentally, the United States Senator-elect from Maryland, and the man behind the guns that nominated and elected a State ticket; swept all of the sure and most of the doubtful counties of Maryland for their local tickets and elected 90 out of a possible 128 members of the General Assembly of the State.

As the leader of the Maryland Democracy he can make and unmake United States Senators and Governors yet-to-be and exercise a voice in the distribution of the offices that pertain to the honors he bestows on others. He can exercise a great influence on the laws of the State through its Legislators, and, more than all, he can shape and mold the organization forces to be a power for good or an influence for evil.

Is Unique in State's History.

Never before in the history of Maryland has a man sprung forth from relative political obscurity into absolute political domination in so short a time. His control is absolute and complete. It cannot be disputed nor belittled. Moreover, it comes about as close to having the ratification of the Democratic party as it is possible for it to have, for no man who voted for Ex-Governor Smith in the Senatorial primaries could have been blind to the fact that he was naming for Maryland a political leader to take the place of the late Senator Gorman. Not only did he carry the Legislature in the Senatorial contest, but with it went a great majority of the Democratic vote of Maryland. He was the popular choice. All down the line of the Eastern Shore counties and in Southern Maryland his opponents in the race scarcely got a corporal's guard of votes, and right in their own strongholds he disputed sway with them.

Then and Now.

Two weeks previous to the Democratic State Convention the politicians and the newspapers were counting up the strength of the political leaders in Maryland and speculating on their attitude toward the various men who were mentioned as possible candidates for Governor. Ex-Governor Smith was credited with having 10 votes—those of Worcester, Caroline and Kent. In the State Convention those 10 votes grew to 114½ and nominated Austin L. Crothers for Governor of Maryland. In reality, however, Governor Smith had more than 10 votes to start with.

How He Did It.

He had been laying lines while other politicians were counting some chickens they did not possess. He had gone into Dorchester county and in a rough-and-tumble fight ousted Ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson from control by beating his lieutenant there, Ex-State Senator Applegarth. Through Crothers he got Cecil and he promised Hopper to Queen Anne in return for its support of Crothers in the State Convention. He had a plan to capture Wicomico, Jackson's own county, through the factional troubles there. Somerset was the only Eastern Shore county that was holding out against him.

Played Brown Against Mahon.

Judge Crothers was in the good graces of Ex-Governor Brown, and Smith played Brown against John J. Mahon, who was with Henry Williams for Governor, and Henry Williams had the backing of Congressman Talbot, the State leader; State Senator Gorman, Ex-Congressman Miles and one or two of the Southern Maryland counties.

Had Him Licked At First.

The Williams combination had Ex-Gov. John Walter Smith beaten for six hours in the State Convention. He stood his ground, determined to go down to defeat with his man. Fate that has often hit John Walter Smith such mighty blows in the past extended the hand of friendship on this occasion. Cold water was thrown on the Williams boom, and Ex-Gov. Frank Brown, who was looking for a man to relieve him of the expense of financing the campaign, worked the city delegation around to Crothers after Mahon was pacified and brought in line.

Ex-Gov. Jackson supplemented these efforts, although in doing so he complimented the digging of his political grave. Crothers was nominated and the other places on the State ticket filled in as incidentals.

This victory made Ex-Governor Smith the leader of the Democracy of Maryland. He went out before the people to have his rule ratified.

Six months ago he was a captain in the ranks. Today the eyes of 100,000 Democratic voters are centred upon him. All hail the new king!—Baltimore News.
