continuance of his blessings on our beloved country.

ANDREW JACKSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6, 1836.

CAMBRIDGE:

MONDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1836.

THE PRESIDENTS MESSAGE.

To the almost entire exclusion of other matter, we insert to-day, this able and satisfactory Document, which will be read with universal interest and cordial approbation. Our foreign relations are discussed with great dignity and masterly comprehensiveness, and our domestic affairs, with the frankness and independence of a time-worn, time-honored and sterling patriot. The pervading spirit which breathes throughout, this distinguished communication of President Jackson, in favor of State rights and adverse to the federal doctrine of loose and latitudinarian powers of government, meets our hearty concurrence, and will, we trust, commend it to all the lovers of a strict construction of the Constitution of the United States. General Jackson has done much for the country and in closing his career of usefulness, he will leave the nation in possession of peace, with all the world, and with augmentated prosperity, to the various departments of trade and industry at home. Who is there under such circumstances, but must wish him in the retirement to which he will soon return, great happiness, and the cheerful blessings of a dignified old age. We have not space, for further comment, upon his last annual Message.

Judge Strange, a Van Buren man has been elected United States Senator from N. Carolina, in the place of Mr. Mangum, resigned.

Mr. McKinley, a Van Buren man has been chosen U. States Senator from Alabama, in the place of Mr. Moore, whose time expires on the 4th of March next.

Mr. Van Buren has already received, as far as heard from, 155 electoral votes, nine more, than is indispensably necessary to elect him. Of course, he will be the next President. But, beside the above, from the other States, to be heard from, he will probably get 12 more. Independent of his electoral majority, the popular vote is greatly in his favor, against the entire vote of the trio of candidates. When we get the official returns we will publish the full result.

Congress commenced its session on Monday last, and we have the proceedings of the first and second days. In the Senate, we observe that the two new Senators from the State of Arkansas appeared, were qualified by the V. President, and took their seats. Both of them are Van Buren men. Mr. Kent, of this State, alluded to the death of Mr. Goldsborough, in a pathetic and appropriate manner, and the usual resolutions of respect were passed.

CURIOUS EXPERIMENT IN NATURAL HISTORY.—A lady of the name of Lendon, particularly attached to the study of nature, had the fancy to attempt to hatch an egg by the natural heat of her bosom. Having selected a new laid one of a favorite breed, and put it into a flannel Bag; she placed it between her breasts, carefully attending at night to secure that portion of warmth necessary to perfect existence, during incubation. At length the time came to relieve the nalcent chick from the brittle cell of its confinement; the moment was preceptible by the appearance of its little beak through the large end of the shell—but lest an injury should arise to the animal by too precipitate a wish to emancipate it from its prison, the lady frequently applied a drop of water to the bill of her nursling, till at last it had acquired strength to effect its own deliverance.

It appeared in every respect as perfect as if it had been reared by its natural mother; but its foster parent, not thinking her task finished, attended to its feeding with the utmost assiduity; vigilantly protected it from the cold; and in due time, had the pleasure to find it a fine henbird, of perfect growth and beauty.

In the course of three years it has lain 300 eggs, and brought up several broods of chickens, and one of ducks, but its singular habits are yet to be remarked, and are well deserving the notice of the curious in natural history. Its domestic qualities are numerous. It constantly prefers the house and the company of its kind protector to that of its own species, & shews a desire to accompany her wherever she goes.

This extraordinary hen obtained the name of Fanny; seems to understand its mistress's language, and by marks of affection shows it is not insensible to gratitude. In a word, it appears to have lost many of the natural habitudes of its kind, to have required some of the best qualities of the human race—a sense of attachment, and a desire to render itself agreeable.

Female Dress.—The dress of women (among us) is undoubtedly the cause of their bad health—consumption, &c: but as they prefer death to wearing thick slippers and warm stockings, and leaving off tight corsets, there is no hope of reforming them.

CURE FOR BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

DR. D. JAYNES' Carminative Balsam. A safe and effectual remedy for most diseases of the Stomach and Bowels, such as Diarrhœa or Looseness, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cramp, Cholic, Vomiting, Sick or Nervous Headache, Sickness at the Stomach, &c. and that frequent and fatal malady among children termed Cholera Infantum or Summer Complaint. It is very pleasant to the taste, and will readily be taken by children Its success has been unrivalled, and it is now used in the practice of a great number of physicians, many of whom have forwarded certificates detailing cures of great importance.—Hundreds of certificates have been received from physicians, clergymen, and families of the first respectability, who have used it, and have testified to its great utility, may be seen by calling on any of the agents for the sale of this medicine. The following from Dr. M. L. Knapp, late physician to the Baltimore Dispensary, and agent of the Maryland Vaccine Institution, is deemed sufficient:

Baltimore, March 27th, 1836.

Dr. Jayne: Dear Sir—You ask me what proofs I meet with of the efficacy of your medicine. I can safely say that I never prescribed a medicine for bowel complaints that has given me so much satisfaction, and my patients so speedy and perfect relief as this. Whenever introduced into a family, it becomes a standing remedy for those ailments, and is called for again and again, which I think a pretty good proof of its usefulness and efficacy. In the Summer Complaint of children, it has frequently appeared to snatch the little victims, as it were, from the grave. "It saved the life of my child, and of such and such a child," I have repeatedly heard said. In dysenteric affections of adults, I have time and again seen it act like a charm, and give permanent relief in a few hours, I may say in a few minutes. In fine it is valuable medicine and no family should be without it.

Respectfully, M. L. KNAPP, M. D.

It is hoped that all will perceive the true value of this medicine, and by resorting to an early use of it prevent many attacks of dangerous illness, and preserve many valuable lives. For sale by Dr. D. Jayne, Salem, N. Jersey.; at wholesale and retail, by A. B. & D. Sands, druggists, 100 Fulton, corner William St. New York, only wholesale agent for the State; and by Mess. R. FULLER & Co. No. 99 State Street Schenectaday N. Y.

EVERY BODY'S

ALBUM:

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF

Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c.

EMBELLISHED WITH NUMEROUS

Grotesque & Amusing Engravings.

Each number containing seventy-two actovo pages, neatly covered and stitched—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six-hundred engravings with Tales and Index complete—at three dollars per annum.

The cheerful and pleasing feature with which it is proposed to diversity and distinguish this work has never yet been adopted by any one of the numerous literary caterers that have hitherto abounded in this country—and its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humour and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render it a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humorists, Etchers and Engravers. The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view; has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought into active use so large a proportion of the really deserving offspring of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of fanciful Illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, witty Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiæ, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert into and other and more exhilirating channel much of the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering & extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humour which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

☞The "EVERY BODY'S ALBUM" will be published monthly in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of embellishments—neatly stiched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advanae. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, to prevent the least rubbing by the mails.

☞Notes of solvent banks of every description taken in payment of subscriptions. Address the publisher (postage paid.)

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE subscriber has been informed that there is a report in circulation stating that he has disposed of his possessions on the Choptank, and ceased to keep the Cambridge Ferry. This report was undoubtedly gotten up by some malicious individual with a view of injuring the subscriber, and, if suffered to remain uncontroverted, the aim of its originator would certainly be attained. The subscriber, therefore, takes this method of informing his friends and the public, that there is not the slighest foundation in truth for the above mentioned report; but that, on the contrary, he still keeps the Cambridge Ferry, and expects so to do the remainder of his days. His Boats are substantial, safe and in good order, and are under the management of as prompt, active, trusty and experienced hands as those belonging to any boat that has hitherto been, or may hereafter be, stationed on the above named ferry; while he keeps, as usual, good Horses and Carriages for the accommodation of travellers. He has signals on both sides of the river, which his boat will always answer with the utmost despatch, so that no one shall be kept waiting longer than shall be absolutely necessary.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his friends and the public for the very liberal patronage which he has heretofore received from them; and, as his long experience in the business, and his determinatian to use his best efforts to please, induce him to hope that he will give general satisfaction, he respectfully solicits a continuance of their favor.
