Box Social.—Did you ever attend a Box Social? No? Then you should by all means not miss the next one as the revelation as to what the lades of Kent can get into a box is worth knowing. One of these events was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. B. Usilton, Chestertown, Wednesday evening, in which seventy-five persons participated. There were 38 boxes well wrapped and disguised and lettered. The auctioneer was that witty and popular entertainer, Cashier Wm. F. Russell. Experts Greenwood and Hurlock could learn points from him, and a continuous peal of laughter was kept up during the sale. His remarks at each offer were apt and striking. For instance when the box L was put up he said, "Here's L, which stands for love and it is your first opportunity of buying the greatest of things!" It brought $1.30. Then came the box P, about which he stated, "Now this is P which stands for precious and the man who buys it will doubtle s be penniless."

Thus all through the alphabet the funning and joking was kept up by the auctioneer and the buyers, so that when the sale closed the sum of $40.65 had been realized. The gentlemen joined in the search for owners of the boxes they had purchased after which a grand feast was enjoyed. Miss Eunice Lambert's box brought $1.60, the highest price When the lid was removed, some of the boxes contained fried oysters, chicken and potato salad, pickles, celery and olives, baked chicken and turkey, deviled crabs and eggs, biscuits and rolls, cake, candy, oranges, apples and bananas. No one got a lemon!

The receipts were divided between the three classes taught by Miss Nettie Russell, J. Frank Wheatley and Fred G. Usilton.

Settled For $3,700.—The suit of Amelia J. Ward, mother of Harry Ward, deceased, against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and three other defendants has been settled by the railroad company for $3,700. The case arose out of disastrous collapse of the railroad pier, April 27, 1907, at Locust Point, which was in course of construction. Mr. Ward who was an ironworker, was engaged in the installation of the elevators when the pier collapsed and the debris buried and killed him. His mother, whom he supported, sued for damages and she was represented by Attorney William Pepper Constable.

"Target Brand"
Scale Destroyer

Containing over 4000 gallons will arrive on Monday, March 2d. We will distribute this oil on arrival to nearly every point or fruit section in this County.

Orders continue to come in for "TARGET BRAND," and we are making every effort to fill these orders without delay. Last Spring the factory could not fill orders fast enough to supply the demand and there was much disappointment as the trade had to buy some of the imitation oils as a substitute for the "TARGET BRAND."

This season the trade is general and our own people in particular are placing their orders early so as to be assured of the genuine "TARGET BRAND" SCALE DESTROYER.

Mail orders have our immediate attention and we make quick deliverance to any wharf or station.

SULPHUR, 2c

Even with Thompson Chemical Co.'s Sulphur at 2c per pound, we are unable to sell our fruit growers anything but "TARGET BRAND" SCALE DESTROYER for spraying their orchards.

This "TARGET BRAND" OIL is guaranteed to kill the San Jose Scale and cost no more than the Sulphur Wash and is really more effective.

Write some of our fruit growers who will use it exclusively this season, after the good results of last year. Hon. James S. Harris, J. H. O. Stokes, James G. Harris, C. H. Price, A. L. Harris, E. M. Bonwill, S. G. Roseberry, Joseph R. Usilton, Benjamin F. Rash and many others.
