From the Boston Atlas, (whig.)

"We cannot conceal our surprise and regret at this remarkable disavowal on the part of Mr Fletcher of what two thousand witnesses heard him solemnly declare in Faneuil Hall. The speech reported in the Atlas was the speech delivered in that Hall. The spirit, if not the exact letter, was faithfully preserved throughout. The remarks of Fletcher in reply to the majority of the committee, throw the whole responsibility of the Faneuil Hall speech on this paper. We appeal to every man who heard the speech for the correctness of our report. The fact is that the publication of the pamphlet edition of Mr. Fletcher's speech, which in those parts quoted by the committee does not vary from the report originally published in the Atlas, was sanctioned by Mr. Fletcher himself.

Painful as it is for us to make the statement, a regard to truth and our own character, most unjustly implicated by the extraordinary disavowal of Fletcher, compels us to declare that the speech as reported in the Atlas, was seen by him previous to its appearance in print, and by him was partially revised and corrected. Nay more, a portion of the expense of the publication of the pamphlet edition, which differs in no essential particular from that which originally appeared in this paper, was defrayed by Mr. Fletcher. Our remarks in this morning's paper in relation to this affair, were provoked by a thorough conviction of the truth of Mr. Fletcher's charges in Faneuil Hall and by a belief that he was prepared to maintain them promptly and manfully. In as far as that belief has been disappointed, we withdraw the personal remarks which were grounded upon those charges.

Every one will perceive that these statements are most reluctantly extorted from us in self defence. Ardently devoted as we are to the support of the honorable cause in which we are engaged, we have never wilfully and knowingly resorted to misrepresentation. A sense of public justice as well as a regard to our own reputation, compels us to vindicate our character on this occasion from aspersions to which it may be subjected by the unexpected course of Mr. Fletcher.

The Journal describes a transparency which was suspended in front of the Galt House, on the evening of the 22d, at the top of which, in large blazing letters were inscribed the words: "HENRY CLAY, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES in 1841"—while on the right appeared the name of "Daniel Webster," and on the left "William H. Harrison," each encircled with stars." The transparency attracted the attention of a passing urchin, who paused, and said to another, "what is the meaning of them black stars?" The ready answer was, "When the stars turn black Mr. Clay will be President."—Louisville Advertiser.

AEFAIRS OF MEXICO.

Symptoms of disemberment are manifesting themselves in various parts of the Republic. At a meeting held at Arispe, the capital of the Department of Gonora, an address to the native was prepared and signed by many persons, proposing that Gonora might be allowed peaceably to secede from the Republic, and to form its own Government independently, upon certain conditions on its part such as bearing a part of the national debt, furnishing contingents to the army for a certain number of years after the separation, ect.—Globe.

A gentleman who had a snuff-box that played 'Drops of Brandy,' and 'The glasses sparkled on the board,', went to dine with a friend a few miles out of town, one Sunday, taking his box in his pocket. He accompanied the family to the parish church, and by some accident all pressure he, about the middle of the service, touched the spring of the box which struck up Drops of Brandy,' most merrily. Every eye and every ear was directed to the spot to the great dismay of the gentleman, who endeavored to stop the box, but in doing so he only caused it to change the tune, on which he hastened out of the church the box rattling away while he marched along the aisle.

The South Carolina Resolutions.—We gave yesterday the vote of the House of Representatives of South Carolina on the Sub-treasury System and national Bank, and now give that of the Senate.

On the first resolution, "that the revenues of the Federal Government be so collected as ultimately to sever the Government from all connection with the banks,' the vote in favor of it was 37 to 3.

On the resolution, that the revenues "be so deposited, kept, and disbursed, as not to be connected with or used in banking operations,' the vote was 38 to 1.

On the resolution, that 'it would be unconstitutional, inexpedient and dangerous to incorporate a national bank,' the vote was 32 to 5.

CAMBRIDGE:

MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1838.

Owing to the Christmas holy-days, when the compositors in the office, must have a little recreation, we have been enabled to prepare but a half sheet, for publication, to-day.

The late news from Canada is less favourable to the cause of the patriots, than the first accounts.

Congress has settled abolition for the present in the Councils of the Nation. Will the destructives again disturb the repose in which it rests?

SMALL POX.—We have understood that several other cases of this disease have occurred in the County. We are glad to find that it has not yet broken out in this town.

Gov. Marcy of N. York has issued his proclamation to the citizens of that state, enjoining them, not to interfere between the patriot insergents in Canada, and the forces of the Crown, so as to disturb the neutrality which our relations with Great Britain, make necessary.

The Legislature of our State, has organized, but we have not seen any important action. There seems to be a good deal of difficulty about the appointment of United States Senator. According to accounts by the last Steam Boat, no choice has yet been made.

The New York American says:—The command of the exploring Expedition has, we learn with pleasure, been tendered, to, and accepted by Captain Lawrence Kearny, than whom there are few more capable officers or expert seamen in any service. This expedition, we may now hope, will soon get away.'

He congratulates himself and his friends upon the possession of this long sought desideratum. He is prepared to make up clothes for his patrons in the neatest and most fashionable style, having made an arrangement to procure the
