CAPT. ASHLEY'S "ROUND UP"

Six Dredgers Arrested Near Tolchester Wharf—Fines Paid And Turned Over To Clerk Of Court.

Capt. Lum Ashley of the police boat Anna B. Smith, made a "round up" of six dredgers off Tolchester wharf Saturday afternoon for having unculled oysters on board. The percentage ran from 62 to 90. One of the boats attempted to get away but a ball from the police boat's cannon soon brought the vessel to anchor.

The captains each paid fines without question and said fines amounting to $155 were turned over to clerk of the Court James T. Dixon. Five of the boats were fined $25 each and one paid $30.

The captians who paid their fines were Messrs. Wm .H. Clayton, C. D. Middleton, L. A. and John A. Guy, Wells W. Evans, Edward E. Phoebus. If this cull law was strictly adherred to by the oystermen there would be no question of a plentiful supply of oysters.

105 POUNDS PRESSURE.

Water Engineer Quick, of Baltimore, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Chestertown, and superintended the severe test of the mains of the Chestertown Water Company. The pipes were subjected to a test of from 90 to 105 pounds pressure for one and a half hours, the usual pressure being thirty pounds, at the end of which time a break was forced in the 4-inch main corner of Calvert and Mills streets, and a small one in Lynchburg. These were soon remedied and the plant is in better shape today than ever.

Engineer Quick congratulated the Water Company upon the excellent condition of the mains and said he hoped a satisfactory outcome would result from the agitation.

A GRAND OCCASION.

The eleventh anniversary of the Chestertown Council of the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, was held Thursday night. It was a very enjoyable occasion and about 200 persons were present. Mr. Wm. F. Russell was master of ceremonies and addresses were made by Messrs. Wm. F. Russell, J. L. Smyth and Wm. T. Hague. Mrs. Emma Miller had charge of the excellent music which consisted of choruses, a duet by Misses Mary Miller and Edith Dunbracco, duet by Elizabeth Russell and Mamie Layman, etc. An orchestra comprising Messrs. L. B. Russell, Foster Cannon, Roland Matthews and Miss Anna Smyth added much to the occasion.

An elegant banquet was enjoyed after the program.

RELIGIOUS ITEMS.

The Sunday School class of young ladies, taught by Mr. Wm. A. Wheatley will hold a Box Social at the home of Miss Ada Barnett on Kent street next Friday evening. Everybody invited.

The St. James Sewing Circle will meet next Wednesday evening at Worton Manor Beach, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kin. Hudson.

Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., LL. D., President of Western Maryland College, will deliver his new lecture, "In Tent and Saddle In Northern Palestine", in Christ Methodist Protestant Church, Chestertown, on Wednesday evening, March 25th, at 7.30 o'clock. There will be no charge for admission, but a silver offering will be received at the door from those able and willing to make such offering. All will be welcome whether able or not to make a silver offering. Doctor Lewis spent the greater part of last year traveling in the East. His marked ability to tell interesting what he has seen and studied, together with his general culture and excellent qualities as a public speaker will make this lecture a rare treat for the public of our town. Remember the date, Wednesday, March 25th.

The greatest religious revival in the history of Philadelphia is promised by the promoters of the simultaneous evangelistic services, which are to begin in 42 churches on Thursday, and will be continued in every Protestant church that will throw open its doors to the evangelists until April 19. Although public meetings will not be held until Thursday night, the mission was practically started last night, when more than 5000 personal workers assembled in the 208 churches and received instructions from trained workers appointed by Rev. D. J. Wilbur Chapman and Charles M. Alexander, the famous singing evangelists. At the same time 1300 members from church choirs assembled in Grace Baptist Temple for a rehearsal, led by H. C. Lincoln, director of the Torrey-Alexander Mission chorus.

REV. FLOYD E. BLOXTON.

Rev. Floyd Emmett Bloxton, pastor of the M. E. Church at Nanticoke, Md., passed away at his home after a brief illness from paralysis, on Thursday of last week. The remains were taken to Virginia for interment. He is survived by a widow, who was formerly Miss Emilie A. DeShane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. DeShane, of the First district, Cecil county, and two children—Pauline and Frances, aged ten and eight years, respectively. Deceased was a man of sterling worth and was held in high esteem by the congregations of the several charges to which he had been assigned, namely: Crumpton, Trappe, Smith's Island, and lastly Nanticoke.

ROBERT H. VANDYKE.

The severe illness of Robert H. Van Dyke was noted in the NEWS last week. We are sorry to report his death of stomach trouble which occurred last Friday. He was one of the best known civil lawyers in lower Delaware, who succeeded to the practice of his father-in-law, J. Alexander Fulton.

Dr. Deever of the German Hospital, Philadelphia, was several days ago, brought into the case by Dr. Presley S. Downes, the attending physician and the doctors wanted to operate, but the patient asked for delay that a further diagnosis might be made.

Mr. VanDyke who was also known as Dr. VanDyke, was himself a physician, having graduated in medicine at the University of Maryland. He, at the instance of his father-in-law, who had a large civil practice, ceased the practice of medicine and took a course in law. He was admitted to the Kent county bar in 1889, and at once became active in civil law and was appointed the local representative in the state capital of Dun & Company and other mercantile and legal agencies.

Dr. VanDyke was born just on the Maryland side of the state lines separating Delaware and Maryland, near VanDyke's station, where he still owned several fine farms, besides two in Kent, Md., at the time of his death. He took great delight in farming enterprises and even in the field work. During the recent local option campaign he was very active for the no-license forces and Chairman Daly secured his services for a stumping tour. It was during this campaigning that he caught a severe cold, which in some way settled in the abdomen.

The deceased was an ardent Presbyterian, a trustee of Dover Presbyterian Church, leader of the choir and chorister of the Sunday School. He was an accomplished musician, and could not only "sing his part" in the chorale, but could take his place at the pipe organ and play the entire service. His wife, formerly Miss Nan Fulton, survives him, and is prostrated by the sudden blow. He leaves several brothers and sisters in Kent whom he visited frequently. His estate, including $10,000 life insurance, was left entirely to his wife.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon, at 1.30, under the direction of Rev. Joseph Brown Turner, his pastor, of Dover Presbyterian Church. Interment was made in the adjoining churchyard, a historic spot which Dr. VanDyke and a committee of associate churchmen have beautified and made it one of the most interesting places in Dover. Delegations of the Kent county bar, members of the Legislatures, a deputation from Diamond Lodge A. O. U. W., of Dover, and other organizations attended the funeral.

MRS. SAMUEL BRICE.

Mrs. Samuel Brice, of Betterton, died of tuberculosis on Wednesday night last aged 38 years. Funeral will take place from her late home this Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. E. H. Collins officiating, interment will be in Still Pond cemetery. Undertaker W. H. Krusen in charge.

MRS. GEORGE CADWALADER.

Mrs. George Cadwalader died at her home in Chestertown yesterday, aged about 74. She leaves a husband. The funeral will take place Sunday morning at 9.30; interment at Church Hill cemetry. J. E. Ferguson will have charge of funeral arrangements.

Tomatoes.—Mr. Charles Vogelman, of Baltimore, visited the farmers of Worton Saturday to ascertain the sentiment as to the price of tomatoes. He was talking $8 per ton for tomatoes and the grower to furnish brskets. This proposition did not meet with favor and it is thought a final agreement will be made to give $8.40 and furnish baskets same as last year. Delaware and Caroline canners are offering $9 per ton.

The canned goods market is firm and there is no reason for the farmer growing tomatoes for less than what he got last year.
