In the Circuit Court for Kent County In Equity. No. 1646.

THE object of this bill is to procure a decree for the sale of the real estate which Robert A. Gamble departed this life intestate sometime during the year 1853.

That the said Robert A. Gamble was married twice, the first time to Emily Ann Gamble (nee Woodall) who died at the time unknown to your orators, and the second time to Ann C. Gamble (nee Miller) who died on January the 16, 1908.

That William G. Ringgold and Antionette Ringgold, his wife, conveyed all of their interest in said real estate to the said Emily R. Nicols by deed dated the 18th day of April, 1898, which is recorded among the Land Records for Kent county, in Liber J. T. D. No. 1, folio 100.

That Mary E. M. Gamble, who married Edgar H. Strong, died intestate and without issue at a time unknown to your Orators, and that the said Edgar H. Strong conveyed all of his interest in said real estate to the said Catherine A. Ringgold Maria L. Gamble and Charles S. Gamble by deed dated the 29th of April 1881 which is recorded among the Land Records of Kent County in Liber S. B. No. 2, folio 176, etc.

That Maria L. Gamble died in 1891 and under her last will and testament which is recorded in the office of the Register of Wills for Kent County in Wills Liber T. K. S. No. 1, folio 128, she devised all of her interest in said real estate to her mother, Ann C. Gamble, for her life and after her death one half thereof to the children of Josias Ringgold by his first wife Anna Catherine Ringgold, share and share alike and the other half to the children of Charles S. Gamble share and share alike.

WHY DO WE WORRY!

BY S. S. C.

Why do we worry about the nest?
We only stay for a day,
For a month, or a year, at the Lord's behest,
In this habit of clay.

Why do we worry about the road,
With its hill or deep ravine?
In a dismal path or a heavy load,
We are helped by hands unseen.

Why do we worry about the years,
That our feet has not yet trod?
Who labors with courage and trust, nor fears
His fellowship with God.

The best will come in the great "to be,"
It is ours to serve and wait
And the wonderful future the soon shall see
For death is but the gate.

THE OLD, OLD QUESTION.

A Chestertown Girl Takes Advantage of Leap Year.

One of our young men last week received the following letter:

My Dear Friend—The time has come when I must ask you a question, one concerning something which has cost me many sleepless nights, also days of anxiety. This is a subject upon which I have hesitated to speak to any one about, and I have known a whole community to be upset completely and many happy homes have been broken up by the same trouble. Yet I must know the worst. I dare not communicate my state of mind to my mother, for, as you well know, she is old-fashioned concerning these things.

In my distress I appeal to you. It may surprise you to have me turn to you in this trouble, but I know you so well, I feel that you understand me and that your heart is ever open to me; also, I am assured of your affection for me, and therefore I know that my troubles are yours also. While you are considering this, I beg of you to put away all cares and all social pleasures and devote your time and faculties to the proper consideration of this question which I am about to ask you.

Now, my dear, I want you to answer me truthfully what your thoughts are in this matter, and to promise never to tell any one, as I feel that this is too serious a matter to jolly about. Another thing, it is between you and me and no one else, but I must come to the point. When do you think we will have warm weather?

NEW GAME LAWS PROPOSED.

Several new game laws applying to the whole State are proposed by the Maryland State Game and Fish Protective Association and will be introduced in the Legislature at Annapolis. Talbot Denmead, Esq., the secretary, has sent a letter to each member of the Legislature calling attention to the fact that the measures proposed are not innovations, as they have been tried with success in other States. The license measure in particular is being strenuously advocated and has been found to work well in 22 States. Mr. Denmead and the Association invite letters from the sportsmen of the State, criticising the laws proposed and making suggestions for other laws.

The law for the protection of other game says:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to kill more than fifteen partridges, or more than six pheasants, or more than twelve woodcock, or more than eight rabbits on any one day that it is lawful to shoot at all.

The fine imposed shall be $5 for each bird or animal killed in excess of the limit prescribed, or, if the fine is not paid, imprisonment of one day in jail for each $1 unpaid, but not for a greater period than 10 days. The entire fine shall go to the deputy game warden or constable procuring the conviction."

The general uniform State game law says:

"The shooting season is limited to the period between November 1 and December 24. At all other times, even the possession of game, alive or dead, shall be illegal.

"Partridges, rabbits, woodcock and pheasants shall not be shot when there is tracking snow upon the ground, upon election days nor upon Sundays. At such time the possession of a gun while walking in the fields or woods shall be considered a violation of this law.

"The Commissioners of any county may petition the Governor of the State to shorten or to close entirely the season for that county. The penalty suggested is the same as that heretofore mentioned in connection with the killing limit."

To provide funds to protect and propagate game the following law is proposed:

"In order to hunt, it shall be necessary to procure a license, the fee for which shall be $1 for residents of the State and $5 for non-residents. A description of that person obtaining the license must appear upon it, and it shall not be transferable. It must further be signed in ink by the person for whom it is issued, and must be shown to anyone on demand. Owners of farm lands shall be permitted to hunt upon their own lands without obtaining such license.

"From the sum received in payment for such licenses the clerk issuing them shall retain $1 in the case of non-residents and 25 cents in the case of residents. On January 1 of each year such clerks shall transmit the aggregate residue to the Treasurer of the State, who shall place it to the credit of a fund, to be known as the "State game protection fund," to be disbursed upon warrants signed by the State Game Warden, approved by the Governor and filed with the Comptroller. The State Game Warden is required to expend this fund, with the approval of the Governor, for the protection and propagation of such game in each county of the State in the proportion that the licenses issued by the clerk of that county bear to the total number of licenses issued.

"The penalty for hunting without a license shall be a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $25 for each offense. Non-payment will result in imprisonment for not more than 10 days for each offense.

"Persons holding a sink box or sneak-boat license will not be required to take out any further license."

Senator Campbell presented Father Brady, the vice-president of Loyola College, to the Governor Tuesday. Father Brady came to Annapolis in order to invite the Governor to be present at the graduation exercises to be held in June at the college. The Governor was also informed that he would receive the degree of doctor of laws at the commencement. The Governor promised that he would surely be on hand, and seemed to greatly appreciate the honor which the college will confer upon him giving him this degree.
