EASTON, MD.
TUESDAY MORNING, JAN. 17, 1832.

The memorial of the Bank of the United States for a renewal of the charter of that institution, was presented on Monday the 9th, in the Senate, by Mr. Dallas, and in the House of Representatives by Mr. McDuffie. It was referred in the Senate to a select committee, and in the House of Representatives to the committee of ways and means.

Capt. George W. Rogers is appointed to the command of the Brazil station. The Baltimore American expresses a hope that an opportunity may occur for the presentation of the splendid sword, voted to that officer by the Legislature of Maryland, previous to his departure [illegible] his new command.

Chevalier Huygens, the Dutch minister, has taken his leave of the President, on the occasion of paying a visit to Holland, and has left Mr. Roosa Huygens, as Charge des Affaires, during his absence.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE.—The proceedings of this body, as published in the Baltimore papers, present us nothing worthy of notice. The journal of the two Houses, which we expected to receive, through the kind attention of our Senator, Col. Hughlett, did not reach us by the last mail.

We are indebted to the attention of our delegate, George Dudley, Esq for the Annual Report of the Treasurer of the Western Shore.

The Legislature of Delaware was organized on Tuesday last, by the appointment of James P. Lofland, as speaker of the Senate, and Thomas Davis, speaker of the House of Representatives.

From the New York Gazette, Jan. 10.

LATE FROM FRANCE.—The packet ship Havre, Captain Depeyster, arrived last evening from Havre, and brought us our regular files of papers to the 28d Nov. The most interesting intelligence by this arrival is the ratification of the Treaty between the five Powers and King Leopold.

In reference to this recognition, the London Globe remarks:—what will follow, as respects Dutch obstinacy, may now be easily anticipated. The King of Holland appears to be as spiteful as he is sulky. If the annoyance to which he is again exposing the Belgians be continued, we do not see how the five Powers can refuse to interfere on behalf of the latter.

The receipt of the news of the ratification at Brussels, was marked by the most lively satisfaction.

Parliament would not meet in the first week of December, as the new Reform Bill was not yet prepared. The Globe entertains a strong opinion that Parliament will not re assemble till the first week in January.

The Sun says, that in case of the Lords again rejecting the Reform Bill a resolution will be moved in the House of Commons denying the right of the Lords to interfere in the choice of the people's representatives, and if adopted will be presented to the King for his sign manual, with a view to its being recorded in the journals of the two Houses.

It is denied that any difficulties have arisen among ministers in regard to the details of the new reform bill.

The English public are becoming satisfied that the Cholera, with which they are afflicted, is not contagious.

The King of France by his ordonnance of the 19th of Nov. created 36 peers for life.

A letter from Algiers state that the Arab sent by the French to Bona, to negociate an arrangement with the Bedouins, has fallen a victim to his fidelity. The Bedouins loaded him with chains, and after a few hours confinement, he was cut into pieces, under the pretence that he had abjured his religion.

Letters from Malta, of October 26, state on information from Greece, that Mr. Dawkins, the British Agent, had either retired or intended to Cergio, conceiving that the Provisional Government formed after the late President's assassination, was not of a character to render it efficient, or such as he ought to hold official communication with.

The Berlin State Gazette, of Nov. 11, contains the following intelligence from Warsaw, dated the 6th:—"The President of the Provisional Government, Engel, has just issued two Proclamations; one of which announces officially the constitution of the Provisional Government in the form already published, and the other states that the Emperor has fully pardoned the Polish General Stryjeuski and his troops, who had tendered their unconditional submission. Several Russian Generals have arrived here from St. Petersburg.

Accounts from Lisbon to the 5th, state that according to the conversation of the British merchants and officers of the English squadrons, all would be concluded before the end of the month. Mr. Hoppner, the British Consul, was about to post an official notice at the Exchange, informing the subjects of this nation that the blockade of all the ports of Portugal was soon to take place.

Kentucky Convention.—The following is [illegible] of the candidates nominated by the JACKSON CONVENTION at Frankfort, for Electors of President, for the State of Kentucky.

Gen. Thompson Ward, of Greenup; Major Tandy Allen, of Bourbon; Col. Francis F. Jackson, of Clarke; Col. William O. Butler, of Gallatin, John Brice, of Scott; Reuben Munday, of Madison; William B. Booker, of Washington, Gen. Elias Barbee, of Greene; James Guthrie, of Jefferson; Thomas S. Slaughter, of Logan; John C. Ray, of Hardin; Gen. Matthew Lyon, of Caldwell; Gen. John Griffin, of Pulaski, and Charles Henderson, of Ohio.

And the following gentleman were appointed delegates to the Convention to be held in this city, in May next, to nominate a candidate for the Vice Presidency.

Chauncey B. Shepard, of Lewis; Alexander H. Coleman, of Mason; Major James Shannon, of Fayette; Dr. Leander J. Sharpe, of Franklin; Robert J. Ward, of Scott; William Jenkins, of Madison; Joseph Haskin, of Mercer; Hon. Nathan Gaither, of Adair; Levi Tyler, of Jefferson; Joel Yancey, of Barren, John R. Stockman, of Hardin; Hon. Chittenden Lyon, of Caldwell; Gen. Robert B. M'Afee, of Mercer, and Jefferson Phelps, of Campbell.—Balt. Repub.

TWENTY SECOND CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

THURSDAY, January 5, 1832.

In the Senate, yesterday, Mr. Benton, on leave, introduced a bill to reduce the duty on Indian blankets and other Indian goods, which was read and ordered to a second reading. After the presentation of petitions, and second readings of bills, the bill providing for the settlement of the claims of certain States for interest on advances made by them to the United States, during the late war, was ordered to a second reading. The following bills were passed: The bill for the relief of John Proctor; the bill for the relief of John B. Taylor; the bill for the relief of Henry H. Tuckerman; the bill for the relief of Robertson and Barnwell; and the bill for the relief of William J. Quincy and Charles E. Quincy. After spending a short time in the consideration of Executive business, the Senate adjourned.

In the House of Representatives, among the resolutions introduced, was one by Mr. Davis, of South Carolina, calling on the Committee on Foreign Relations to inquire into the expediency of reducing the number of our Ministers resident abroad, above the rank of Charge d'Affairs, to three, viz: to England, France, and Russia. It was adopted, on a division, by a vote of—ayes 89. Mr. Drayton submitted a resolution on the subject of increasing the pay and emoluments of naval officers so as to place them on an equality with officers of similar rank in the army, which was also agreed to. Mr. Drayton likewise introduced a bill, from the Military Committee, to increase the pay of armorers in the army of the U. States, which was read twice and committed to a Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. The resolution of Mr Blair, of Tennessee, was, together with the amendments, laid upon the table, on the motion of Mr. Wickliffe. The remainder of the sitting was occupied in the consideration of private bills.

FRIDAY, January 6, 1832.

In the Senate, yesterday, an animated debate grew out of Mr. Benton's motion to refer the bill reducing the duty on Indian blankets and other Indian goods to the Committee on Finance. The motion of reference to the Committee on Finance was lost, yeas, 17, nays 25, and to the Committee on Manufactures prevailed, yeas 25, nays 18. The bill providing for the settlement of the claims of certain States for interest on advances to the United States made by them during the last war, was read the third time and passed: Several petitions and resolutions were presented, and several bills from the House passed through their first and second readings and were referred. After spending a short time in Executive business, the Senate adjourned over to Monday next.

In the House of Representatives, the resolution of Mr. Heister calling upon the Postmaster General for information, and his opinions on the subject of reducing or abolishing the postage on newspapers and periodical publications, was taken up, and after some discussion laid on the table, upon a statement that the question was then under the consideration of the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, and would speedily be reported on to the House. The consideration of the South Carolina claims' bill was resumed; and an animated debate followed. A motion to commit the bill to the Committee of claims was negatived, without a division; and at 4 o'clock the House adjourned.

The Senate did not sit on Friday.

In the House of Representatives, General Hawkins, of North Carolina, appeared and was qualified, and took his seat. [illegible] of bills were reported and among them the naval appropriation bill for the year 1832, which was read twice, committed to a Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. Mr. Kerr, from the Committee on the Territories, reported a bill establishing the territorial government of Quiscensin, which also was read a first and second time, and committed to a Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. The report of the Committee of Claims on the South Carolina claims was ordered to be printed. The remainder of the day was devoted to private business.

TUESDAY, January 10, 1832.

The Senate, yesterday, on motion of Mr. Clay, postponed to to-day the consideration of the resolution introduced by him directing the Committee on Finance to report a bill to abolish the duties on imported articles which come into competition with those of American manufacture. The bill to erect barracks and store houses in the vicinity of New Orleans was passed. The bill concerning Navy Agents was also passed. Several important resolutions on the subject of the Bank of the United States were introduced by Mr. Benton.

In the House of Representatives, all the unfinished business before the Committee of the District of Columbia, during the last session of Congress, was, on motion of the Chairman, Mr. Doddridge, committed to the present committee on that subject. Mr. Drayton, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported the appropriation bill for the Engineer and Ordnance Departments; and it was read a first and second time and committed to the Whole House on the state of the Union. The resolution offered by Mr. Carter of N. Y. respecting property lost during the late war, was taken up and considered. Mr. Cooke addressed the House in its favor until the close of the hour. The bill for the settlement of the South Carolina claims was the next business in order; but, on motion of Mr. Polk, its consideration was postponed; and the House resolved itself into a committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr. Huffman in the Chair, and took up the bill for the apportionment of Representatives among the several States according to the fifth census. The bill fixes the ratio of representation at forty-eight thousand instead of forty thousand as at present. Mr. Craig moved to strike out the words 48,000, and Mr. Jarvis moved that the ratio be seventy five thousand, but the latter proposition was negatived. Mr. Jenifer moved that it be forty five thousand, but before a vote was taken, the committee rose and reported progress, and the House adjourned.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES,

January 4, 1831.

Mr. Teackle, from the joint committee, to which was referred so much of the Executive communication as relates to his Excellency the late Governor Daniel Martin, delivered the following report:

The committee to which was referred so much of the Executive communication as relates to the demise of his Excellency the late Governor, Daniel Martin, in conjunction with a like committee on the part of the Senate, have had under consideration the melancholy subject of this reference, and recommend the adoption of the following preamble and resolutions, to wit:

1st, Entertaining an exalted sense of the Patriotism and public services of his Excellency the late Governor, Daniel Martin, and disposed to testify by a solemn act, profound regret, at the dispensation of Divine will, which deprived the state of a highly valuable and esteemed citizen, "at a period of life when he might have reasonably anticipated a long career of usefulness;" Therefore, Resolved unanimously, by the General Assembly of Maryland, that in respect to the memory of the deceased Governor, the members of this Legislature and their officers, will wear crape on the hat and left arm, for the residue of the Session—that twenty-one minute guns be fired at sunrise, at mid day, and at sunset on Thursday next—that the state flag be displayed at half staff throughout the day, and that each of the Houses will suspend its session for that day.

2d. Further, Resolved unanimously, that the members of the executive and judicial departments, at the seat of government, and their respective officers, be severally requested to participate in the testimonials of respect, prescribed in the foregoing resolution, and that the Clerks of the Senate and House of Delegates be required to communicate this request to the persons referred to.

3d. Further, Resolved unanimously, that his Excellency, the Governor, be requested to communicate these proceedings to the Widow of his Excellency, the late Governor Daniel Martin, and to express to her the sincere condolence of the Legislature at the heavy affliction which has fallen upon her in consequence of her irreparable bereavement.

All which is respectfully submitted.

Mr. Stansbury reported a bill, entitled, An act to encourage the destruction of crows in Baltimore county.

The clerk of the Senate delivered a letter from the Honorable George Howard, the Governor elect, referred by the Senate to the consideration of this house, which letter was read, and is as follows:

BALTIMORE, January 3d, 1832.

The Honorable the President of the Senate; and

The Honorable the Speaker of the House of Delegates of Maryland.

Gentlemen:—I have had the honor to receive your joint communication, informing me that I have been elected Governor of the State of Maryland.—Deeply sensible of this mark of confidence on the part of the representatives of the people of Maryland, I can only say, that all my exertions shall be devoted to the advancement of the interest of my native state, and to the honor, safety and welfare of her citizens.

I regret to add, that indisposition in my family prevents me from designating an earlier day than Wednesday, the 11th inst. for my appearance at the seat of Government.—I propose to be in readiness to qualify upon that day.

I have the honor to be, with high consideration,

Your obedient servant,
GEORGE HOWARD.

The clerk of the Senate delivered a bill, originated in and passed by the Senate, entitled [illegible] And supplementary to the act, entitled, An act re[illegible] Cromwell's Bridge, in Dorchester county; which was read and referred to Messrs. Ely, Holmes, and Stansbury.

In one of the papers received by the last arrival from Bogota, we find an animated view of the present condition of the United States, introductory to an article translated from the Washington Globe, giving a view of the distribution of political power under our constitution. "It is not yet fifty years," says the writer, "since the United States, with a population not larger than that of Colombia, and less than three millions, closed a bloody civil war. Their national debt was much larger than ours, and we have many resources which our brethren did not possess. Behold what union has done in the north! Contemplate a nation of twenty four independent states united by a constitution, the admiration of all free nations, and of those which desire to be free. Its commerce has increased with a rapidity which has no example and the star of its flag shine over all seas, and in all parts. The first maritime power in the world is England, its marine is yet in its infancy, but what it will yet become may be easily imagined. The United States have now a population of thirteen millions; their national debt is trifling and rapidly diminishing. Their standing army consists but of five or six thousand soldiers, but they can raise a million of armed patriots, with the enthusiasm of liberty in their hearts. Its little veteran force receives the law from the people, but never gives it; its duties are limited to the protection of the frontiers against the savages, and the preservation of the fortifications. They never assassinate their countrymen; in that, so favored of God, there are no Urdanas, Berecenos, Montillas, or Castellis, even of the laws and all human rights. This is peace and national prosperity, and all dods on union. Let us then unite, and there will come in which Colombia will enjoy the same degree of glory, riches and prosperity."

Every editor of a newspaper should learn by heart the fable of the man, his son and the jack ass. As the poor man was reproached for leading or riding his ass, &c. an editor, whether he write or let it alone, a politician or no politician, cannot please—and unless he come to the same determination with the aforesaid man in the fable—please himself—he is doomed to have a wheel of the time of it. If editors could "change shapes with Proteus to advantage," they could not accommodate themselves to all positions. A newspaper is a kind of ollapodrida—a dish of all sorts—and it is hard if readers cannot pick out something to suit their own palates—if they find such they should not grumble that other ingredients are intermixed for other tastes. If editors are not, like the Indian Chief, broiled on living coals, they can at least say with him, that they do not lie on a bed of roses. It is a life of toil and anxiety, and seldom affords a remuneration half commensurate with the labour performed.—Balt. Chron.
