Big Stock.—In another column of the NEWS will be found a list of licenses issued by Clerk of the Court James T. Dixon. Wm. Medders & Co., Still Pond, who advertise the big store, have to pay the largest license of any store in Kent. They carry a $15,000 stock. Messrs. T. W. Eliason and A. F. Huey also carry a like amount but in different kind of goods.

Night Boats.—It is reported that the officials of the Chester river line of steamers are contemplating replacing their line of day boats with night boats. This plan has many advantages in that the farmers along the route would be able to get their produce to an early market and have more time to prepare same. The only objection comes from day passengers. All the down-the-bay boats now travel by night whereas years ago they used to be all day boats.

When the Hair Falls

So make up your mind this very minute that if your hair ever comes out you will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It makes the scalp healthy. The hair stays in. It cannot do anything else. It's nature's way.

HELD FOR MURDER OF CAPT. WALMSLEY.

Three Negroes Charged With Triple Crime In Morgnec Two Years Ago—Major Robinson Says It Was Horace Hynson—Money Said To Be Cause.

Major Robinson, a well-known colored resident of Morgnec, was arrested Sunday in Middletown by Constable Frank Lockerman and brought to Chestertown jail. Major left Kent a month ago and at the last term of Court was indicted for selling liquor, but he disclaims any knowledge of the indictment.

He was charged with Alexander Moseley and Horace Hyson with being implicated in the murder and robbery of Capt. J. E. Walmsley and it was upon this writ that the officers brought him to Kent. He proves to be an important capture.

Justice J. C. Loud gave the three negroes a hearing on Thursday morning the Court room being used for same. The room was crowded with witnesses and others and the testimony all pointed to Horace Hynson as the guilty party. Marion deK. Smith and H. W. Vickers, Jr., Esqs., appeared for Hynson. States Attorney Beck represented the prosecution. There were a number of witnesses sworn and their evidence heard but the most direct witness as to the murder was Major Robinson whose evidence is here given:

"I have known Horace Hynson for many years. About a month before Capt. Walmsley was killed Hynson remarked to me, 'Capt. Walmsley has an old colored woman living with him and he's got some money and I'm going to kill the d—— old fellow.' I told him not to do it as the Captain was good to us colored people. The night of the fire I saw Hynson at a crap game in Carpenters' house in Morgnec. He had no money and I loaned him enough to get in the game. We afterwards went to the store of Mr. McClary's, stayed a short time and returned to my home. Upon reaching my home Hynson asked me for some white powder but I hadn't any and grabbing up a base ball bat went out.

"I saw him the next day and he told me that he had killed the old man, poured oil on him and set fire to the house! I told him he had done wrong. He showed me a roll of notes about as big as my wrist which he said he had gotten off the Captain."

William Faulkner, Charles Rollison and others testified that they saw a roll of notes in Capt. Walmsley's hands the night of the fire and left the captain about 9 o'clock. The fire occured about 2 o'clock a. m. on Dec. 27, 1905.

William Hynson, the father-in-law of Horace Hynson, lived in Chesterville forest in 1905 and had been keeping Hynson's wife and children. He stated that about 8 o'clock the morning after the fire Horace Hynson came to his house and paid him $1.50 for keeping the children and at the time had a roll of notes as big as his wrist.

When asked why he did not tell about this murder before Major Robinson replied, "Nobody ever asked me!"

Aleck Moseley testified that he slept in Robinson's house, saw Hynson come there that night and afterwards go out. The next thing he knew Hynson was standing in the room all dressed and yelling "fire"! He disclaims any participation or further knowledge of the affair.

Horace Hynson did not make any statement and Justice Loud held all three for Court.

SOFT CRABS were in market this week and selling for 25 cents per dozen. They are plentiful.

Sold Out.—J. T. Anthony has sold out his milk route to Col. Albert Story, the exchange to take effect June 1st. Mr. Anthony will handle cream exclusively.

Married.—The wedding of Mr. William F. Malin, of Chestertown, and Miss Eva Hope Wallis, daughter of Justice Samuel W. Wallis, of Worton, took place Wednesday evening. They will make their home for the present on College Avenue.

A Runaway.—An exciting runaway occured on Queen street about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd and baby were driving a young horse to a carriage and in coming from Queen Anne's up Maple Avenue, the horse took fright and ran. The horse turned the corner at Queen street and bolted into the alley near Mrs. O. B. Knights home barely missing injuring Mrs. Hadaway who was sitting on her porch with her baby. The occupants of the carriage were thrown out and one wheel crushed.

Mr. John D. Welch and family, Mrs. F. M. Miller and others went to Mrs. Lloyd's assistance. Dr. H. G. Simpers was called in but found Mrs. Lloyd and baby only suffering from the shock.
