jy4-3t TOWN COMMISSIONER

LOVE POINT VS. QUEENSTOWN.

THE FORMER TO BE CONVERTED INTO A POPULAR RESORT.

The Love Point Land and Improvement Company Will Spend At Least $200,000 on This Proyerty in The Near Future.

The Baltimore Sun of Sunday last contained an interesting illustrated article about Queenstown, in which the story of this ancient town was told from its starting point, in 1706, to the present time As is known, with the creation of Queen Annes county, Queenstown was selected as its logical county seat, and continued as such until the Revolutionary War, when it was removed to Centreville.

Queenstown has always been one of the best shipping and passenger points on Chester river, and in the days of the old Chester river Steamboat line it was considered the most valuable point from a business standpoint that this company touched. In recent years, with the establishment of the Queen Annes railroad company, the town took on new life, being the outlet to Baltimore city as a shipping and passenger point, and also being popular as a summer resort. The Railroad, however, concluded that Love Point was just a little more accessible to Baltimore and consequently extended its line to this point, thereby making Love Point the water terminal instead of Queenstown. Since this time Queenstown has declined as a railway and shipping centre and as an excursion resort, and Love Point has correspondingly increased as such.

Love Point today has the most brilliant future as an excursion resort on the Chesapeake Bay. The Love Point Land and Improvement Company own about 100 acres of land here, extending from the Chesapeake to Chester River. This land is highly elevated, beautifully wooded and shaded, and is especially adapted for development into an ideal summer resort. At the railroad pier stands a hotel owned by this company and conducted by J. Fill Legg, Esq. So popular has this hotel become as a summer rendezvous in recent years that it has entirely outgrown its present capacity, and Mr. Legg could use one to advantage twice its present size. It is not an unusual thing for Mr. Legg to feed anywhere from 100 to 500 people in a single day, and as a host his reputation has few equals on this shore.

It is understood that the Love Point Land and Improvement Co. will within the next year spend something like $200,000 at this point. A hundred room modern hotel will be built on the Bay Shore side, a pier will be erected and fast steamer, with a capacity of from 2500 to 3000 persons, will be run from this place to Baltimore. Besides this, all of the amusements and conveniences usually found at an ideal resort will be placed there, and, it is expected, that in the near future Love Point will outrival all of her sister resorts along the Chesapeake. The Company having in view the above project is amply capitalized and intends to spare no expense in their promotion of this enterprise. This same company, we understand, have control of the Bolingly property at Queenstown, and it is thought they will erect a pier at this point and connect Queenstown, more particularly for freight and passenger purposes, with Baltimore City.

At all events, the people of Queen Anne's county may look forward to having on the shores of Kent Island one of the most popular and pleasant resorts to be found in the State of Maryland, and its natural advantages are unexcelled, commanding as it does a most favorable view of the Chesapeake and her largest tributaries. Besides, it is stated this company will lay off a goodly portion of its property into building lots and induce Baltimore business men to build summer homes there, guaranteeing to place them from Love Point to Baltimore City within the space of one hour and thirty minutes.

Love Point has grown wonderfully in popularity with Baltimore excursionists within the past two or three years, and nothing, or no one, has had more to do with this popularity than mine host, J. Fill Legg, of the Casino. There is not a hotel outside of Baltimore city that does a better summer business, and, whatever the future of Love Point may be, it is hoped that Mr. Legg will continue the good work which he has carried on for several years past. "Hats off" to Love Point.

FANNIE CROSBY AND GROVER CLEVELAND

In her 89th year Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, mourns the death of Grover Cleveland, whom she knew in his youth. As a lad Grover worked in the blind asylum where Fanny lived, and it is pathetic to learn of the admiration she conceived for him at that time. It seems that never in all the passing years did the rising statesman forget the blind woman and the darkness of her life was brightened on many occasions by the sunshine he cast upon her soul. This is a touch of nature of which the world has hitherto known nothing. Fanny Crosby was a woman grown when Cleveland was born and she still lives on while the great statesman is borne to his grave.
