WHY DO MEN MARRY?

The normal man, who is sound physically, mentally, morally, marries because he is prompted to do so both by natural instincts and by the mandates of reason. This, of course, does not include a considerable number of men who, from vagaries as diversified as the individual, distort the marriage relation into something foreign to its true purpose.

The average man, as he comes to maturity and the sense of his responsibilities dawns upon him, is conscious of his incompleteness. He realizes that something is lacking. In the woman of his choice, where true affection exists, he recognizes those elements essential to his full development. The love of woman, home and offspring is inherent in the heart of every true man who has a proper conception of life.

***

Under existing laws and the conventions of society marriage is the proper avenue to the attainment of this fuller life. From observation and experience man reasons that a faithful wife will be to him an inspiration and incentive to effort and achievement, as well as a real helpmeet. If success shall crown his labors she will rejoice with him; if he fail she will be to him a constant source of sympathy and encouragement, and when suffering and sorrow come she will prove a ministering angel indeed. He feels that within the sacred portals of his home he will find a haven of safety when the tempests of life beset him, where, for a time at least, he may find surcease from strife and renew his strength and spirits for the battles of tomorrow.

***

If children shall bless his home, he knows that through them he may again drink from the fountain of youth and that in training them and watching their development he will find a potent source of rejuvenation. Then, should he live to know the decrepitude of age, his children grown to maturity, should be an inexpressible comfort and help until the end.

***

The cynic may say I have pictured only the bright side and omitted to mention the seamy side. Cares and perplexities will come in plenty—the reasonable man knows this—but he also knows they have their recompense. That they do not kill is attested by the established fact that married men live longer than single ones. Those unaffected by real troubles summon imaginary ones which are more exhausting and bring no compensation.

***

Many more reasons could be adduced to show why men should and do marry. An old and friendless bachelor is one of the most pathetic sights that earth presents. True he may in his younger days revel in the excitement of selfish pleasures, but these soon grow stale and and usually his later years are clouded in gloom and solitude.

***

Through the vista of departed years he sees the grim specter of a stunned life which ever and anon whispers in his unwelcome ear the sad refrain, "What might have been."

***

The man who remains single because he can't help it is an object of sympathy, but he who does so from choice is a fool

THE PEOPLE SEEM HUNGRY FOR THE NEW THINGS

It is now almost a year since people began to make themselves do without many things they didn't actually need. Perhaps that accounts for their eagerness about the new styles during these early days of autumn.

Wardrobes haven't been so bare of pretty gowns probably for years; so the new collections we bring in are picked out almost as fast as they arrive.

We are fortunate in being ready earlier than usual this fall. Certainly Jefferson's was never more interesting than it is to-day.

You'll Enjoy Picking Out the Linens You Want From Jefferson's Stock

Here are to be had the best and largest assortment of Damasks ever shown in Chestertown. Considering the moderate prices every housekeeper will realize what a delight it will be to pick out her new fall supply from such a collection.

TABLE LINEN BY THE YARD:

Full Bleached Irish Damask Table Linen, 2 yards wide - - - - - - - - - - - - $1.00
Snow-white Union Damask, full 2 yards wide, worth 85c a yard - - - - - - - - - 75c
We have just received a large lot of remnants or short ends of Damask, pure linen, worth 75c a yard, our price, - 50c

TAILORED SUITS FOR WOMEN

The quest may begin here. Without doubt it will end here. For even this early in the season we are making new records, proving indisputably that women are finding here smartest styles, most satisfactory variety for choice, and best values:

At $10.00 of worsted in the smart mannish effects, semi-fitting 32-inch Jacket, single breasted, trimmed with black satin. Gored skirt, flare bottom.

At $12.00 OF SHADOW STRIPE SERGE, SEMI-FITTED JACKET, 36 inches long single breasted Coat. Gored skirt.

At $16.00 A VERY PRETTY STRIPED SUITING IN BLACK, BLUE AND GREY, semi-fitting single breasted jacket, 36 inches long. Gored skirt with buttons down the front.

The Best $1.00 Black Taffeta in Chestertown

How do we know it? By the best evidence possible. We have bought silks from a dozen different houses to try its wearing qualities, and have paid strict account to it, aud now we have settled on one silk and have bought 1000 yards of it. Our silk contains more silk and better silk and is woven more evenly than any silk you ever looked at. It is full yard wide, for dress purposes as well as linings and petticoats, and at $1.00 a yard.

We Invite You to Inspect Our New Shoes For Fall

There has been a revolution in shoedom. Revolutions come slowly except in South America. Perhaps you've hardly noticed the gradual turning away from the long vamp to short and therefore broader toe effects.

This season the short toe is "IT" and great has been the art employed to give the extra stylish effects so many of our customers desire. Conservative styles, too, for those who prefer them, as many of the best dressed people do.

The past season has seen Tans galore. They will be used more this fall and winter than they were in the spring. The best advertisement a shoe store has is its satisfied customers.

We have comfortable shoes, stylish shoes, serviceable shoes. Any shoe store can sell you any one of these three. But does any other shoe store take the trouble Jefferson does to see that their Shoes have all three qualities? Come and judge for yourself.

DRESS GOODS DISPLAY!

In colors and in black—in fanciful weaves and the latest shades of solid color—the dress goods display of Jefferson's to-day gives you the whole cream of the favored things, and the favored things only.

In extreme fancies we've bought just one or two dress lengths so that you can't meet yourself on the street or at a function.

Black Dress Goods a superb display. Many beautiful, new fabrics this year. Highly lustrous, soft and clinging for dressy wear. In a variety of smart wearers herringbone, and shadow stripes, wide wale diagonal effects and others equally desirable, for tailored use. The Black Goods Store is brimming over with interesting news of the latest creations in these raven-hued weaves that are the vogue.
