DIRECTLY OPP. COURT HOUSE

Chestertown, - - Maryland

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Hon. Gideon C. Bantz, assistant U. S. Treasurer, of Washington, with his sister, Mrs. J. W. Evans, of Baltimore, have been guests at the Imperial Hotel, Chestertown, during the present week. They have been enjoying the fine fishing in Chester river, both the visitors being expert anglers. Capt. T. D. France extended them special courtesies. Mr. Bantz and his sister both took great interest in a number of the old colonial buildings in town and were surprised that our citizens apparently took so little interest in them. College avenue and lawns, with that grand old institution and stately buildings, were all greatly admired. We regret our visitors could not stay longer with us.

Mrs. W. R. Graham, of Pocomoke City, arrived in Chestertown yesterday accompanied by her son, Newell, who will matriculate Monday at Washington College, making his home with his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dodd.

Mr. George Perkins, son of Dr. George Perkins, visited friends in town this week. George left this place some years ago and after a few years in Colorado drifted into California where he now lives on a ranch near Los Angeles. It is a nut ranch where 20,000 walnut trees are cultivated like onions and the crop yields well. There has not been any rain in that section since March and all crops are irrigated. George says the pumpkins raised there are large enough to hold a 7-year-old child!

A Singular Case.—Mr. Noble E. Gears, of Worton Station, had a horse and carriage left with him some weeks ago, the party who left it saying that it belonged to a dentist who would call for it. But no one ever called, and Mr. Gears was put to the trouble and expense of keeping the team and telephoning to different places for the owner. Yesterday the owner was discovered in Mr. Grant Abbott, a liveryman of Dover, Del., who is to be here to-day.
