GOAT BUCKED.

Editor Sues Modern Woodmen For Damage Sustained In Initiation.

John A. Greisel, editor of the Golden City (Mo.) Register, has brought suit for $10,000 damages against the M. W. A. camp at that place.

In his petition Mr. Greisel says that on April 10, while he was taking the second degree in the Woodmen's initiation ceremonies, several members of the lodge knocked him down and jumped upon him. As he lay blindfolded on the floor, he alleges, they beat and kicked him most unmercifully.

The editor adds that the attack on him was made when he resisted efforts of the lodge men to remove his clothing and "brand" him.

As a result of the manner in which he was treated, Mr. Greisel says, four of his ribs were broken, his side and abdomen were terribly bruised, and for many days he was unable to leave his home. Even now he is troubled with a bad cough as a direct result of his injuries.

GRAVEL AND SAND ROADS GOOD.

Dr. S. T. Earle, of Baltimore, who is a native of Queen Anne's county, believes from what he saw in New Jersey that good roads can be constructed on the Eastern Shore from gravel and sand, which are so plentiful there. In an interview recently, he said: During a recent visit to Atlantic City I rode over considerable distances of New Jersey roads in an automobile and was forcibly impresseed with the exceptionally good character of the roads for that purpose. Both from inquiry and observation I learned that they were made entirely of gravel and sand, they were evenly rounded from the sides to the center, remarkably smooth and in certain localities the dust was laid by a tar-like preparation, which also made the machine less likely to slip. It was also noticed that the surface coating of the road was not affected by the momentum of the machine, as is so notably the case where the dust of rock is used for surface coating. I wish to call the attention of the Eastern Shore public especially to these facts, inasmuch as when the Good Roads Commission was considering the subject of road building in that locality, it was thought necessary to import crushed rock and stone for the purpose, which would add very much to the cost of construction. It is well known that there is plenty of gravel and sand to be had in all parts of the Eastern Shore.
