After suffering for seven years, this woman was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read her letter.

Mrs. Sallie French, of Paucaunla, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat your letter in confidence and advise you free. No woman ever regretted writing her, and because of her vast experience she has helped thousands. Address, Lynn, Mass.

PASTOR REFUSES A RAISE.

Church Officers Insist, But He Will Not Hear Of It.

Catskill, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Few persons refuse an increase in salary of $500 a year, but Rev. Irving H. Berg, pastor of Catskill Reformed Church has that record.

In August Rev. Mr. Berg's congregation gave him a month's vacation, and while he was away the officers voted to increase his salary to $2,500. He had been receiving $2,000 and the use of the parsonage. When notified on his return Mr. Berg immediately called a meeting of officers and asked them to rescind the resolution increasing his salary.

The officials insisted on letting the increase stand, but Rev. Mr. Berg, while very thankful for the expression of good will, just as firmly declined to accept more pay.

The officers decided to let the matter rest until next May, when the increase will again be tendered.

NEW HAIR GROWS AT AGE OF 114.

In Mr. Samuel Salyers, of Dooley, Wise county, Va., claims the distinction of having the oldest citizen in the State.

Mr. Salyers is 114 and has been a justice of the peace in this county for 50 years. Reports say he shaves himself regularly without the use of a mirror, rides horseback with as much ease and enjoyment as anyone and reads without the aid of glasses. For 75 years his hair has been flecked with gray, and for a number of years totally white, until a short time ago when his hair began coming out and a coal black crop is now coming in. He is also cutting a third set of teeth. Mr. Salyers has been married twice, and his eldest son, Logan, who lives at Whitesburg, Ky is 85 years old and has, within the last few years, led the third bride to the altar, and has a child not more than two years old.

GYPSY SMITH SPEAKS TO A VAST THRONG.

While Thousands of Men, Women And Children Were Gathered on St. Paul Street, Opposite the Courthouse, the Evangelist Urged Upon Them the Necessity of Accepting Christ.

Armed with the spirit of the Lord and backed by scores of ministers and prominent lay church workers of the city, Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, laid siege to the very heart of Baltimore, Tuesday, with a great open-air meeting, shortly after the noon hour, on the Courthouse Plaza. At least 5,000 people crowded the wide space on the St. Paul street side of the building to see and hear the man who has stirred hundreds of citizens of the city to religious activity. Scores, under the power of his convincing eloquence during the street meeting, publicly declared their determination to lead Christian lives in the future. It was a wonderful meeting, the greatest religious demonstration that has taken place in the city for a long time.

Using the steps of the stately courthouse for a pulpit, and looking out upon a sea of upturned faces, straining to hear every word that might be uttered, the evangelist spoke simply, yet eloquently, and before he had finished his appeal to the fathers and husbands present to go away a new man, a new father and a new husband, to live for the best that is in them, for their families and for their Christ, handkerchiefs began to appear all through the throng, and men who thought they were hardened to any appeal found the tears rolling down their cheeks. Men of every class and condition of life were there, from millionaires and successful business men to the humble vender of peanuts on the corner of the street, and the little gamins of the gutter.

What Evangelist Said.

There were judges, lawyers, doctors, politicians, city officials, clerks, office boys and many women.

"There are more important things in this life to be looked after than the acquisition of stocks and bonds or the accumulation of a bank account," said the speaker. "There is a future for you to think about. Your heart is not a safe nor a vault that you can satisfy its hunger with such things. You can surround yourself with luxuries on the outside, but there is still a gnawing within, that reaching out after an intangible something, that Jesus Christ only can satisfy. Some of the richest men in our country are the most miserable, because Jesus has never entered into their lives; yet that old mother of yours, who lived from hand to mouth, through the saving power of Christ was one of the happiest persons in the world.

"Think not so much of today, with its swirl and confusion. There is another day coming, a day when you will have to stand before the judgment seat of God and answer for the use you have made of your time and opportunity in this world. Think! That is the message that I bring you. Think of what you owe to God, and then think of the life you are leading. Think until you realize fully what it means for the future of your soul. Take home to your wife and children today a new husband and a new father!"

Before the meeting began it looked like it would come to an untimely end, for Assistant Superintendent of Public Buildings Matthew Dunn insisted on seeing Gypsy Smith's permit for holding such a meeting, but there was no permit forthcoming. While Mr. Dunn was trying to find out the law in the case, however, thousands gathered, and the evangelist went on with his service.

Afternoon Meeting.

"Exercising One's Holiness" was the theme of the afternoon service at the Lyric. "As the muscles in your body grow through exercise, so does ones holiness grow through exercising it. We don't get like Jesus by any spasmodic effort, by fits or starts. It is a growth. There are lots of people who wake up when an evangelist is about, but as soon as he is gone they go to sleep again. You have to be at it 365 days a year and 24 hours a day. You must make it your life-work. Religion is very much like riding a bicycle. If a man wants to ride a bicycle he has to exercise. When he gets on it he has got to keep on going, for as soon as he stops he is off. A man told me once that he had been a Christian off and on, and I told him that I guessed that it had been more off than on, and he said I was right."

"Sin," His Theme.

"Who touched me," was the text at the night meeting, but the same discourse could have been delivered under the heading, "Sin," for the whole sermon dwelt emphatically upon sin, its enormity and its penalties. "S—S—Sin," said the evangelist dramatically, "you can't say the word even without hearing the hiss of the serpent. Some people tell us that there is no devil, but you can't travel very far in this world before you find a lot of devilishness. Any man who says to himself, I am going to do right, doesn't go very far before he discovers that there is an evil genius somewhere. Sin is your enemy, and your destruction unless you avail yourselves of Christ's cleaning mercy. Sin is the undertaker at every funeral, the spade that digs every grave, sin is the builder of the city of the dead. But Jesus Christ came into this world to save it from sin. He is the savior of sinners.

It is a terrible thing for a home when a woman turns her back upon Jesus. Think of a mother doing such an inhuman thing as giving her baby a dose of whisky to make it sleep while she goes off to a dance. God save the children of this city that have such parents. Don't take your children to the devil and then expect them to come back when you call them. Mothers introduce their children at the dance, at the card party and at the theater, and then afterward ask us to pray for their boys."

On Friday afternoon there will be a special meeting for the young people of the city, ranging in years from 10 to 20, "and not any old-fashioned twenties either," said Mr. Smith. The meeting will be held at 4 o'clock, in order to let those who attend the schools get there in time.
