HAND OF DEATH.

"Uncle George is dead," was the news flashed over the community early Sunday morning and there was sadness on account thereof. We all knew Mr. George E. Lambert as "Uncle George" and it was he who had passed to the beyond after long months of intense suffering, aged 65. The deceased was for many years a successful manufacturer of carriages at the corner of Cross and Cannon Streets, Chestertown. Later he and his industrious helpmate conducted the Voshell House and Riverside Hotel, Chestertown, and the Chesapeake House at Rock Hall. His son, Joseph, succeeded him at Chestertertown by renting the Hotel Imperial where the deceased made his home until the days of his death and where his every need was ministered to by his devoted wife and affectionate children. He was a good honest, sincere and upright man and beloved by all who knew him; of a bright and sunshiny disposition and patient in all his suffering. He was a member of Christ M. P. Church for 37 years and for 42 years a member of Chester Lodge A. F. and A. M. He leaves a widow and eight children, viz: Walter R., of St. Mary's county; George E., Jr., and Kent, of Panama; Mrs. J. Harry Vickers, Baltimore; Mrs. Thos. A. Ayres and Mrs. Mamie Wilkins, of Rock Hall; Joseph R. and Dumont, Chestertown.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Christ M. P. Church, conducted by Rev. Dr. F. T. Little. Interment was in Chester cemetery, the pall bearers being Messrs. J. H. Simpers, James S. Bradley, John F. Howard, Jacob F. Thompson, C. M. Clay and Samuel Vannort. Undertaker Chas. L. Dodd had charge of funeral arrangements.

ALEXANDER H. CREW.

Mr. Alexander H. Crew, one of Kent's best-known farmers, died at his home on High street, Chestertown, Wednesday night, after a long illness, aged 76. The deceased has been a great sufferer and through it all his faithful wife has been constantly at his side until the messenger relieved him of all pain. The deceased was born and reared at Worton Heights, started farming on the Spry farm and lived successively on the Col. Groom farm, the Ireland farm near Galena, and for 29 years on the Cochran farm, near Chestertown. He leaves a widow who was Miss Sallie Mirch, and five childen, viz: Walter, Dan, Highley, Alfred and Mrs. George Rash.

The funeral will take place at 9.30 o'clock Sunday morning, interment at Still Pond, Revs. F. T. Little and W. L. White officiating. The bearers will be George S. Biddle, Thos. Faulkner, Jas. W. Lambert, J. T. Dixon, A. S Crawford, Benj. F. Rash; C. L. Dodd, funeral director.

Allen M., 3 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clough died on Saturday evening last at Kennedyville. Remains were taken to Hartley, Del., on Tuesday morning train for interment. Undertaker W. H. Krusen in charge.

JOHN BUSHROD SCHWATKA.

Mr. John Bushrod Schwatka, the eldest son of Dr. John B. Schwatka, died early yesterday morning of tuberculosis at the home of his father, 1003 North Broadway. He was 22 years old.

Mr. Schwatka was a brilliant young man and gave great promise. He contracted his fatal illness two years ago while doing laboratory work at Johns Hopkins Medical School, where he was fitting himself to take up his father's profession.

He passed through the primary and grammar grades of the Baltimore public schools and spent one year at the Baltimore City College, having made that year at the early age of 12. Later he went to Deichmann's Preparatory School thence to the Johns Hopkins University, where, in 1906, he was graduated as bachelor of arts. He had finished two years of his medical course when he became ill.

Dr. Schwatka took his son to Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas at different times in the hope that the young man would be restored to health. He was then taken to the Blue Ridge Mountains, but had to be brought home a week ago.

Young Schwatka was very popular. When in health he was tall and robust and was an athlete and a clever boxer. That he should have been attacked by tuberculosis is considered remarkable, as his descent is from two families noted for longevity and rugged health. Three of his grandparents still live. In his immediate family, besides his father, he leaves a brother, who is a graduate of the University of Maryland and a sister who is at a school in Tennessee. His mother died in April, 1905.

RICHARD L. NAUDAIN.

The friends and relatives were very sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Richard Lockwood Naudain, of Middletown, on Thursday evening last, in the 58th year of his age. Mr. Naudain was one of Delaware's most prominent, progressive and successful farmers. He was one of the best-known men in lower New Castle county. On November 23rd, 1875, he led to the marriage altar, Miss Lillian J., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Cann, of near Kirkwood, whom with one son, Richard L., he leaves to mourn his sudden death. Mr. John M. Naudain, of Baltimore, was his brother, besides two married sisters, Mrs. Mary Eliason and Mrs. Louise Francis, of Baltimore. Interment was made at St. Anne's cemetery, six of his cousins acting as bearers: Richard Lockwood, Wm. G. Lockwood, Richard L. Price, Samuel Price, Andrew S. Eliason, Frank L. Tatman.

LILLIAN N. CROW.

Lillian N., the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crow, near Kennedyville, died on Wednesday morning at six o'clock of Meningitis. Funeral services were held at her parents home on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Edson officiating. Interment was at Shrewsbury. Undertaker W. H. Krusen had charge of funeral arrangements.

THE football game between Washington College and Mount St. Mary's College last Friday resulted in a tie. All the playing, however, was in St. Mary's territory and our boys reached the 5-yard line several times but could not get over. The college team this year is the best for years and in the four games has won two and tied the others.

ROCK HALL NOTES.

"Human Mortality" was the subject of a most interesting sermon by Rev. Mr. Richardson on Sunday morning from the text, "We all do fade as a leaf," Isa. 64: 6. Quite a good audience gave close attention to the discourse. The evening service was a revival effort with gratifying results.

The cottage meetings are growing more and more in popularity. This week they are held on the Haven. The good effects of these meetings are noticeable in the regular church services, which, later on will be forceful in the revival campaign.

As a means of convenience to patrons the Shallbourne daneing pavilion has been moved from the park to a vacant lot on the Coburn farm where dancing and roller skating will be among the winter's past times of the young people. Mr. McCloskey did the moving job with fine success. The shade trees however through main street had on Saturday and Sunday the appearance of a passing cyclone striking them so demolished were they by the big structure and saw. The porch in front of Mrs. Ashley's store was also slightly damaged.

Mrs. J. W. Boyer visited the city last week for an indefinite period, and this means for Jack and the boy house keeping, poultry tending and many other things not in accordance with masculine fancies.

Mr. John Fogwell, of up the county, spent Sunday in this section.

Carpenters and painters have nearly completed the new dwelling for John Michsowski, in Allen's Lane.

Our town was thronged with people on Saturday but the purchasing power was rather weak at the counters of our merchants.

The dense pall of smoke held over here on Monday afternoon and night was extremely unpleasant. It permeated the interior of dwellings. Many thought a big fire was raging on the other side of the bay and great anxiety prevailed.

The evenings having become long and pleasant, the Odd Fellows here are doing things. Several young men will tackle the goat next Tuesday evening. Others are intending to do likewise.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kerr have returned home after a short visit to friends in this town.

Miss Mae Robinson, the forelady of Mendels wrapper factory, was taken seriously ill Monday with acute indigestion, but under the skillful treatment of Dr. Beall, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Ida Moffett is giving her house a coat of paint, the painters are Wilson and Happy, two expert painters, but Willson would rather be running the tickler at Tolchester.

Miss Anna Leary is visiting friends in Washington, D. C.

Miss Mary Coppage has returned to Washington to resume her position in the government department.

AUTUMN WEDDINGS

Happy Couples United For Their Voyage of Life Amid Beautiful Surroundings.

BURT—BROWN.

Maryland reluctantly gave up one of her charming daughters to one of West Virginia's noble sons on Wednesday noon last when Miss Nina Virginia Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, of Kent, became the bride of Mr. Fred. A. Burt, of Mannington, W. Va. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Old Bond Chapel at Pomona in the presence of a large company of friends. The church was tastefully decorated in evergreen trees and palms. Rev. Dr. W. R. Mowbray, of Lewis, Del., a former pastor of Bond, and a particular friend of the bride's family, assisted by Rev. Mr. McCoy, the pastor of Bond, performed the ceremony. The wedding party entered the church led by the ushers, Messrs. Fred. A. Prichard and Robert Burt, of Mannington, W. Va., S. Scott Beck and J. Raymond Simpers, of Chestertown, followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. C. Howard Long, of Mannington, W. Va.; then came the bride and groom.

The bride, who has been one of Kent's most beautiful ladies, upon this occassion looked more so than ever and was richly gowned in a gray silk voile, white hat and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The matron of honor, herself only a bride of one week, was very pretty indeed, and was attired in yellow mulle with hat to match and carrying yellow roses. Mrs. Thomas T. Craven, of Chestertown, delighted the audience by the skillful manner in which she presided at the organ, rendering the Lost Cord, Tanhausser and Wagner's Evening Star and other masterpieces, and during the ceremony, O Promise Me. After the wedding the couple boarded the after-train at Chestertown and amid a shower of rice, good wishes, etc., left for a tour North after which they will make their home in Mannington, W. Va., where the groom is assistant cashier in one of the thriving banks of that city.

On Tuesday evening a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents to the wedding party and a few intimate friends of the two families. The bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Brown received the guests beautifully attired in a magnificent dress of black embroidered hemandez, assisted by the bride in a handsome amythist mirage gown.

Among the wedding guests out of Kent were: Mrs. Burt and daughter, Miss Laura, of Mannington, W. Va., Mr. and and Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Miss Elizabeth H. Richardson, Mrs. W. S. Gardner, Misses Marie and Julia Brown, Miss Virginia Maslin, and Mr. J. Logan Duncan, of Baltimore; Mr. Harrison Sasscer and daughter, of Prince George's county; Mrs. Spruance, Miss Palmatory, Wilmington, Del.

BROWN—MALTZ.

Mr. Hiram Staunton Brown and Miss Mae Roslyne Maltz were married on Wednesday last in Brooklyn, N. Y. They will be at home after Dec. 1st at 445 Third Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Brown is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Brown, formerly of Chestertown, and holds a responsible position in a large Wall street brokerage firm, New York.

BROWN—THOMSEN.

The marriage of Miss Helen Thomsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomsen, and Mr. Arthur Leon Brown, of Chestertown, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 2730 North Charles street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Arthur Clinton Powell, rector of Grace Church, and was witnessed by the two families and a few intimate friends. The only attendant was Miss Margaret Thomsen Raymond, of Philadelphia, a niece of the bride, who was flower girl. Two nephews of the bride, Roszel Cathcart Thomsen and George E. Raymond, were ribbon boys.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed with point lace and hand embroidery, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for the Hudson and Lake Champlain. Upon their return they will live at Chestertown, at "Radcliff Manor."

WHEAT is all seeded in Kent and most of it is showing above ground.

THE GREAT MASS MEETING

A Galaxy of Noted Orators Address Crowded Houses in Chestertown on Tuesday—Great Eenthusiasm—A Fine Prospect for Great Victory.

No one present at the mass-meeting of the Democracy of Kent in Chestertown last Tuesday could have any doubt about the spirit and determination of the masses relative to the results of the election. The meetings, both afternoon and evening, were the largest in numbers ever held here, while the enthusiasm of the people and the splendid speeches gave thrilling inspiration to all who are expecting so much from the splendid leaders of the people in the present campaign. There was no disappointment in a single feature of the meetings—everything excelled even the party's best expectations—every speaker promised was present, and each of them seemed in the best condition for effectiveness. A more brilliant galaxy of orators were never together on a platform in Kent than the four able men who visited Chestertown last Tuesday.

Governor Crothers left Elkton at six o'clock in the morning in his automobile with Mr. Omar Crothers, and made the forty-mile ride to Chestertown before the reception committee were fairly out of bed, and at noon with characteristic originality he waited for no one, but when the dinner bell rang he proceeded to the table and was in his room enjoying his after-dinner cigar when the committee arrived!

Senator John Walter Smith made the trip to Chestertown and back to Baltimore as the guest of Gen. Francis E. Waters on his yacht Priscilla. Other guests of General Waters were Colonel and Mrs. Arthur D. Foster, Mr. W. Lee Carey and Mr. Samuel K. Dennis.

The fine Perryville band of twenty five pieces arrived before noon and played good music in "the square," while our town band enlivened the section about Stam's Hall.

At two o'clock the crowds of people gathered at the hall, and in a little while it was packed to the doors, while many turned away without even a sight of the speakers.

The meeting was called to order by Lewin W. Wickes, Esq., in a few very forceful and appropriate words, who introduced Dr. W. Frank Hines, State Immigration Commission'r, as chairman. The Doctor, after some earnest remarks on the importance of the campaign issues, introduced as the first speaker United States Senator John Walter Smith. He was received with great enthusiasm.

Senater Smith's speech was a strong and eloquent one, and his method of presenting the issues of the contest from the Democratic standpoint brought forth vigorous applause. Senator Smith was in Europe when Bryan was nominated and until Tuesday had not appeared on the stump. His speech left no doubt of his attitude and interest in the campaign, and showed that he has his shoulder to the wheel and is doing all he can for the Democratic cause. His tribute to Mr. Bryan was a glowing and eloquent one, and his indorsement of the principal planks in the platform was strong and unequivocal. He denied that Bryan and what he stands for constitute a menace to the country, and declared that no legitimate business interest has anything to fear from Democratic success. The only interests that need be apprehensive, he asserted, are those which seek special privileges and governmental favors.

Senator Smith's plea for the election of Mr. Covington aroused intense enthusiasm.

As president of a national bank, Senator Smith discussed the bank guarantee plank, declaring that the principle of the guarantee of deposits is a correct one, and that a Democratic Congress could be trusted to work out a feasible and practical method of putting this principle into effect. He also emphatically asserted his distrust of any revision of the tariff by the Republican party.

Governor Crothers was given a warm welcome and made a vigorous speech in which he attacked Mr. Taft as an "amiable, good natured, but weak" man, who would as President be influenced unduly by Mr. Roosevelt.

He declared Bryan to be far better qualified to appoint Justices of the Supreme Court than Taft, and said that Maryland might be vitally interested in the personnel of the Supreme Court, as well as the other Southern States. "Our interests," said the Governor, "are linked with those of the States south of us. They are looking to us to lead the way to Democratic victory, and we are going to do it."

Senator Rayner and Mr. Covington arrived from Centreville in time for the night meeting. They addressed the big meeting in Centreville in the afternoon and brought cheering reports of the outlook for an oldtime Democratic majority in old Queen Anne's for the whole ticket.

At half-past seven o'clock every inch of space was occupied in the hall, at least fifty ladies being present also, and yet the crowds could not be accommodated. When the distinguished Maryland Senator, whose brilliant oratory is known far and wide outside of our own State, stepped out and faced the great audience, he was heartily cheered. He spoke a little over one hour and kept every one in wrapt attention by his thrilling eloquence and consummate ability with which he riddled the Republican platform and showed the rediculous claims of that party for "Teddy" and his man Taft. Senator Raynor also spoke in highest terms of Mr. Covington and strongly endorsed him for Congressional honors.

Hon. J. Harry Covington was the next speaker and he grandly "capped the climax" of the day's oratory with a speech both forceful and eloquent. Mr. Covington is one of the ablest lawyers of the Talbot bar; he is a fine speaker and his splendid social qualities charms every one with whom he comes in contact. The fact that he kept his large audience intact for over an hour after such a speaker as Isidor Rayner, is in itself evidence of Mr. Covington's fine abilities.

Without undue personal reference to his opponent he showed the utter failure of Mr. Jackson as a Congressional representative. Every one in the audience could not help but feel that Mr. Covington, as a represenative in Congress, will do far more honor to our beloved section of Maryland than such a nobody as W. H. Jackson possibly can.

Taken altogether, the meeting was a great encouragement to the Democracy in the full expectation of a big majorfty in Kent for our great leader, WM. JENNINGS BRYAN, and his worthy associates, KERN and COVINGTON.
