Publications.—The October number of Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine, offers much to the reader and of so varied a character that every class is sure to be pleased. Serial and short stories, poems, essays, art and science make up a very attractive table of contents. Among those articles which appear to deserve special mention are the "Fashionable Attire of Women," by Mrs. Alexander; "The Forehead," by Dr. Joseph Simms, an exceedingly valuable study in Physiognomy, and illustrated with many portraits of eminent men illustrating the theories of the writer. "A Night of Horror" by Miss Constance F. Gordon Cumming; "Ivan the Terrible," by P. J. Popoff, an interesting study of this strange character, profusely illustrated with reproductions of original Russian engravings and painting; "Footprints of Washington in 1753," by Mrs. C. Ingersoll Gara, both text and illustrations; and "The Murder in the Bruder Strasse," by Rev. S. Baring Gould, a strange bit of last century's Berlin history. Besides, there is a sermon by Dr. Talmage on "Preaching, Teaching and Exhortation;" many descriptions of new churches in the West, a portrait and sketch of the late Miss Jennie Collins, the founder of Boffin's Bower in Boston; editorials of Dr. Talmage and much other attractive matter.

The September number of Our Little Ones opens with an article on "Blackberrying." Many other interesting stories and poems, together with pretty illustrations, make up an exceptionally fine number of this magazine. Russell Publishing Company, 36 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

O. S. Fowler, the veteran Phrenologist, died August 18th, at the age of seventy-eight years, at his home in Duchess county, N. Y. The October number of the Phrenological Journal, published by Fowler & Wells Co., New York, will contain a portrait and a biographical sketch.

The mysterious virtues of "Household Remedies and Sure Cure" are examined by Dr. Yale, in the Septmber number of Babyhood, which also contains interesting articles on "The Disadvantages of Lying on the Back," by Dr. S. J. Donaldson, and "Early Regularity in Diet and Sleep," by Dr. W. L. Carr. No less valuable is a paper by Dr. C. L. Dodge, in which the senseless exposure to contagious diseases, the belief in crossness as a symptom of improvement, the imaginary distinctions between scarlet fever and scarlatina, the efficacy of rubbing a tooth through, and other popular fallacies are mercilessly exposed.

Spring AND Summer BULLETIN.

IT is just ten days since the arrival of my Spring and Summer Goods, consist of the best made and trimmed, and the largest and cheapest line of

CLOTHING

Ever exhibited in a single store in Western Maryland. They consist of

Tailor-Made Suits

—FOR—

Men, Youths, Boys and Children.

Nobby and Stylish—perfect daisies, in fact—and as my stock is large they will be sold quickly and cheaper than elsewhere, and no mistake. My stock of

Gents Furnishing Goods

Hats, Caps, Trunks and Satchels,

CARPETS, OILCLOTHS

WILL BE SOLD EQUALLY CHEAP.

Don't forget, one and all, I mean business. Come right along, gentlemen, and bring your boys. Patronize home; patronize your merchants, who are with you in good and hard times; who join you in helping your churches and your poor. Besides, it is no use to pay railroad fare to go from home. I guarantee to show you a larger and better selected stock than any other clothing house in this county. Furthermore, from a legitimate standpoint of view, I guarantee each article cheaper than can be sold elsewhere. I ask you only to come and examine my stock and prices. It never was any trouble for me to show goods. You will then be fully convinced of the truth of my statements, both as to the very large stock and extremely low prices. Come early and avoid the rush.
