ASKED FOR CITY DELIVERY SERVICE.

Postmaster M. Wilber Thomas, has asked that Chestertown be included in the list of second and third offices in Maryland that are entitled to City delivery. An inspector from the post-office department at Washington has been detailed to visit Chestertown and ascertain what action should be taken looking to the establishment of free delivery. If the people of the town want free delivery it will soon be put to them and Postmaster Thomas thinks it will also be necessary to have all houses numbered.

OPENING GUN FIRED!

Earnest Democrats of the Chestertown District Hold a Mass-Meeting in Firemen's Hall Tuesday Evening—Good Music—Fine Speaking.

The Wilson, Marshall, Covington and Constable Democratic Club, of Chestertown, opened the campaign in Kent last Tuesday evening with a splendid meeting, considering the stormy evening. There were nearly one hundred loyal and enthusiastic Democrats present, who enjoyed the speaking and music.

Mr. William F. Russell, President of the Club, made a few opening remarks and introduced the speakers. On the stage were Herbert E. Perkins, Esq., secretary, S. Scott Beck, Esq., treasurer, and R. Hynson Rogers, Esq., member of executive committee.

John F. Malloy, Esq., of the Wilmington, Del., bar, was the first speaker and made a most excellent address. He dwelt upon the tariff issue and showed that the Republican party was taxing everything used by the voter and his family, all for the Trusts. He touched on Teddy and declared he was the greatest fakir the world ever saw, and a member of the audience seconded the motion! Mr. Malloy met with a warm reception and greatly pleased all the people present.

The second speaker was Armon D. Chaytor, Jr., Esq., another member of the Delaware bar, and a pleasing talker. He also confined his remarks to the tariff, presenting unanswerable facts and figures why every laboring man should vote for Wilson. He pictured Wilson as not only the greatest statesman, but also the greatest politician in the best sense. The young speaker has an attractive delivery and held the closest attention of his hearers for about an hour.

The Chestertown Cornet Band, under the leadership of Mr. Arthur Bacon, furnished sweet music. This band is improving rapidly and are to be congratulated on the music furnished on this occasion.

BARROLLISM.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—There is a noisome animal that, upon the approach of danger, cowardly seeks cover and in hidden security endeavors to overcome its adversary by scattering filth and disgusting odors around. It prowls and preys by stealth. How like our Boss in Kent, who, from the safe protection of the Transcript corporation, spreads abroad lies and infamies on those who thwart his plans and uncover the villainies being perpetrated against the people of the county. We have had leaders before his day, who were termed "bosses" at times, but they worked and fought lion-like, and claimed to act for the people's interest and not for the benefit of themselves and their personal gang only. But this new Boss, from the safe security of his corporate owned paper, cowardly and basely seeks to break down or render less efficient those two great props of our civilization—good roads and good schools. He has greatly reduced the efficiency of the road and bridges of the county by refusing to grant a sufficient amount to keep them in proper repair. Whatever may be Engineer Gibb's faults, no engineer living could keep the roads and bridges of the county in proper condition on $18,000 a year, under the weather conditions and high cost of labor. And now, having rendered the roads and bridges of the county almost unfit for use by contemptible niggardliness, he is proceeding to attack the schools.

Now the whole cause of the baseless lies and personal attacks by the Transcript gangsters is due to the determination of the School Board that the public shall know who is the enemy bent on depriving the children of Kent county of equal opportunities with the children of other counties in securing educational advantages. Having attained supreme power in the county largely by traducing and defaming all opponnets (or in the light of his testimony in the Cannon case, would it be truer to say he bought it?) he villainously seeks to cripple all branches of government in the county he cannot control, and then blame their inefficiency on others. If a town or village needs a new school house, he kills the bill authorizing it, unless the money to build it is to be deposited in his greedy fists. How like Judas, the thief and traitor, who always wished the money deposited in his bag. If Chestertown wishes to lay a sewer to improve its sanitary condition, he amends the law until it is so objectionable the voters reject it.

But Barroll's ability to cover up his villainies is not equal to their immensity. After a career of 30 years debtor-hounding, his recently aroused interest in those "poor colored people" is refreshing. How his sensibilities must have suffered after his grinding the faces of the poor, black and white, for nearly a generation! Has he at last grown rich enough to afford a conscience? If so, let him exercise it in furnishing the county funds to educate the helpless children of the poor and not shut the door of opportunity in their faces. They are certainly entitled to as much sympathy as the delinquent negro debtors he is shedding tears about.

And now his organ wants to usurp the powers of the court and demands a statement of the Gardner trust funds. Well, I return each December an account of this fund to the court, and when the voters of the Second Judicial District become so lost to all sense of decency and self-respect as to elect a political skunk like Barroll judge, I will make him a report. They assert that I have no more respect for my oath than for truth and veracity. I certainly have a high respect for truth and veracity, which, I hope, I widely differ from the limitless and cowardly liars of this Transcript gang, who hide their identity behind the corporate name of their paper.

Now, so anxious is the gang to distract the attention of the public from treacherous intention to cripple the public schools, that they publish the most unheard of falsehoods about me and my clients' personal affairs and the intentions of the School Board. The following letter answers their latest and most flagrant lie:

September 25th, 1912.

JOHN D. URIE, ESQ.:
Dear Sir—The statement published last Saturday that you resigned as attorney to the Republican Board of County Commissioners on account of an impending or any other investigation is totally false. You resigned simply on account of the small salary fixed by the Board. As to the disappearance of the old minute book, I remember it as one used by a Board of County Commissioners years before you had any official connection with the County Commissioners office and you could have had no object whatever, that I can imagine, in its removal. This happened 10 years ago and I never heard your name connected in any way with it before.

DANIEL HILL,
Former President Board of County Commissioners for Kent County.

Everybody knows that this political degeuerate would not have waited ten years to have told the public all about this resignation and missing ledger if there had been a scintilla of truth in the statement made. Instead he would have been skulking around the grand jury room door to prefer an indictment, as he did against another on the occasion when the judges kicked his indictment out of court as being baseless.

Now this pack of cowardly, yelping curs scent danger. They know they are largely responsible for the condition of the roads and bridges in not furnishing adequate funds to keep them in repair, and if they cut short the school year by refusing to furnish the funds which both School Superintendents show by their statements to be necessary, while the rake-off of the Transcript corporation has about doubled, the people may want to know who is guilty of this betrayal of their interests and drive the rascals out.

As Barroll largely achieved power by an endless campaign of villification and misrepresentation, he, by like means, hopes to keep the people in the dark and his treachery from being noticed by resorting to every accusation against his opponents which unscrupulous rascality and moral depravity can invent, and thus continue in office to gorge his gangsters at the tax-payers' expense. Knowing that the Republicans are in a hopeless minority, he feels he has only to appeal to the political prejudices of the many Democrats who despise him and his methods to keep them in line and enable him to maintain himself undisturbed at the public crib. The necessity of having some creature to openly assume the responsibility of publishing the malignant lies resorted to by the Boss to overawe and intimidate his opponents, has called for the use of such wretches as "Uriah Heap" and "Truthful Tommy," men of a low order of intelligence and less self-respect, who are base enough to accept the Boss' dole in return for their degradation; men who will publish all the "it is said" the Boss may require or deem necessary in his campaigns of villification and detraction, playing the part of the skunk's tail in scattering his filth.
