FRUIT SHOW GREAT.

Peninsula Horticultural Society's 26th Annual Convention a Big Success—Walter B Harris wins Apple Prize.

With the election of officers, the adoption of resolution and the announcement of awards, the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Peninsula Horticultural Society came to a successful close in the auditorium of the duPont Building at Wilmington last week and the sixth annual corn show of Delaware Corn Growers' Association began.

The fine exhibit of corn on the first floor of the building was viewed by large numbers as was the fruit and vegetable exhibit on the eleventh floor.

The session of the Horticultural Society marked by large attendance, excellent speakers and plenty of enthusiasm, and it is considered the most successful meeting ever held by the Society people.

William E. Sanger, of Cordova, Md., was elected President succeeding Francis M. Soper. The retiring president was presented with a pair of gold cuff buttons by the society, Mr. Walker making the presentation speech.

Walter B. Harris and W. Irving Walker were elected vice-presidents for their respective counties.

In the awards, Mr. Walter B. Harris, of Kent, came in for a number of prizes on his apples, but Mr. Soper, of Delaware, carried off the first prize

W. Irving Walker of Chestertown, gave a talk on "Good Roads as Relating to the State of Maryland."

He told of the beginning of the good road work in this state. At first the state gave $200,000 annually, but has increasd it $300,000. He said at first politics resulted in some sections being favored, while others were neglected, but now the state has a non-partisan state good roads commission. It was created in 1908 and had $5,000,000 placed in its hands. It has the power to take over any county road for the purpose of improving it. The speaker confined his remarks to the Eastern Shore, where there is no road material, but he declared that roads are being built just as cheaply in the sections where there is no material as where there are quantities of stone lying alongside of the roads. The speaker said the Worcester county residents were criticising the people of this state because the duPont boulevard had not been built.

He said that good roads are being built in Maryland at the cost of $10,319-53 a mile. He spoke of fhe necessity of getting good county road enginees

Mr. Walker advised against the makeshift road. He thought Delawareans had better stick to stone roads.

In conclusion, the speaker told the members that if they cannot have the boulevard, they ha better build it themselves, they could not start too soon.

It is proposed to build 200 miles of good roads on the Eastern Shore at a cost of $2,200,000 or $44 70 for each and every voter on the Eastern Shore.

The counties that have the county roads engineers are Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne, Talbot, Caroline.

THE ROAD QUESTION.

GALENA, MD., Jan. 13, 1913.

MESSRS. EDITORS KENT NEWS—

Just a few lines, please, in your paper. Much has been said against our Kent County Road Engineer. Well, let me tell you that I am a Democrat of the old school. Before I begin to quote anything I want to say I am not wedded to either faction, therefore I speak without fear or favor. The Organization has many good men and so has the anti-Organization. Well, those men, as I say—good, upright citizens—say very little and criticise very little also; and I am opposed to such wrangling by newspapers, and I am not referring to any certain paper. A newspaper is, in my judgment, something that should be clean and upright in all things—truthful, up-to-date and honest in all transactions—and should be something to teach us to be likewise.

Therefore, take the Road Engineer, for example. It looks as though we envy him, and would not any one of us gladly take his place if we had the opportunity to do so? Put any of us in his place and we would think it very nice and we would try and fill his office with credit to our county and ourselves, and at the same time not do so half as well as our present Mr. Gibbs. I have not the least doubt in my mind that the young man is not doing all in his power to give us good highways at terrible odds—every one against him. What for? No one can explain. Take last spring, for example; we never had such washing rains. The roads, as we all know, were impassable and very dangerous to travel. What did we expect our engineer to do? Deprive him of any means to repair them and let the roads go as they were? What would have been the result? Some one crippled or worse, perhaps killed. No one to help him as was done in other counties. Cecil appropriated twenty-five thousand—we not one cent. Just think! How did we expect him to do as well as he has done? He has the roads, in my opinion, as good as they have ever been at this time of the year, with very little expense. And to be frank and fair about it, do not the majority of good thinking citizens agree with me? Just think of the very many dangerous washouts, some place frightful to travel over; one place in particular, between Mr. R R Hill's farm and Locust Grove. My experience in getting into this hole was in going from Galena to Chestertown, with three ladies and myself in the carriage. One horse fell down and broke both single trees and we had to get out and help the ladies out in mud and filth three feet deep. On my return trip we had to go through Mr. Raymond Bonwell's place and down Shrewsbury Neck, over a mile out of our way. Several days ago I had reason to travel the same road, and when I came to this one particular place I was indeed surprised—you could not tell where the place was. I stopped and looked to be sure I was right, and found that place as good as any part of the road; it had been repaired in a skilled manner. Well, who done it? The Engineer. And I give him credit for he showed his good judgment in repairing this one particular place, and no doubt he has many such places to look after now. Do not say this money was all wasted, for my experience is it was money well spent, and no good thinking man or woman who ever had occasion to travel over that place would say that the money was wasted.

So let us all stop this wrangling and fault finding, when to be candid there is no real cause for one-half that is done. Let us all co-operate with our Engineer, and I feel sure he will do his best for us. Let us resolve to begin this year 1913 with good feelings toward all men. We will all be healthier and happier.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS.

The KENT NEWS endorses heartily the "Resolutions For An Editor" as appeared in a recent issue of Collier's Weekly. These resolutions are as follows:

To be humbled by the responsibility rather than exalted by the power of the printed word.

To seek the truth diligently and write it simply.

To hold his pen to strict account for intemperance and exaggeration.

To judge no man nor speak ill of him unless by so doing comes greater good.

To speak plainly about public evils without fear.

To expose scheming and hypocrisy in high places.

To accept fair criticism with candor and misunderstanding with a smile.

To picture the world as God made it, darkened occasionally by war and passion but brightening from year to year as man deals more justly with his brother and as he sees more frequent and less broken glimpses of the divine plan.

The NEWS will make every effort possible during the coming year as has been its aim far many years, to carry out faithfully each one of these resolutions. If we fail it will not be because we have not tried nor will it be because we do not want to carry them out.

Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a quick and reliable remedy for lameness in horses and other farm animals.

"Sloan's Liniment surpasses anything on earth for lameness in horses and other horse ailments. I would not sleep without it in my stable."—MARTIN DOYLE, 432 West 19th St., New York City.

Good for Swelling and Abscess.

MR. H. M. GIBBS, of Lawrence, Kan., R. F. D., No. 3, writes:—"I had a mare with an abscess on her neck and one 50c. bottle of Sloan's Liniment entirely cured her. I keep it all the time for galls and small swellings and for everything about the stock."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is a quick and safe remedy for hog cholera.

Governor of Georgia uses Sloan's Liniment for Hog Cholera.

"I heard Gov. Brown (who is quite a farmer) say that he had never lost a hog from cholera and that his remedy always was a tablespoonful of Sloan's Liniment in a gallon of slops, decreasing the dose as the animal improved. Last month Gov. Brown and myself were at the Agricultural College building and in the discussion of the ravages of the disease, Gov. Brown gave the remedy named as unfailing." "OBSERVER."
