The Man Who Wrote This Advertisement

—sat with his head in his hand and bewailed the poverty of the English language.

To himself he said, "What can I say that will carry conviction about Adler-Rochester Clothes?

"I know how these clothes are made—from the cutting of the cloth to the sewing on of the last button.

"I know that they are made by the most expert tailors of the country.

"But how can I do them justice in print?"

This is a positive statement of fact. We will vouch for it.

We will go even further to say that no man living can put into words the perfections that exist in—

Adler-Rochester Clothes

We know these clothes to be the product of the finest tailoring institution in the world.

We know that with them we clothe the very best-dressed men in this community.

We know that their style is absolutely correct always—that their materials are always of the most approved shade an pattern—that their fit is almost infallible.

We know all these things so well that we sympathize with our poor ad writer, who tries to make you believe them by the printed word.

And you, too, will share our feeling when you see our stock of ADLER-ROCHESTER CLOTHES.

Take our word for it that the millionaire can command no finer clothes than these.

We want an opportunity to show them to you—COME IN.

LOCAL NOTES

T. H. Vandyke and others near Kennedyville finished planting corn this week.

The contract for the plumbing at the Groves bungalow at Betterton has been awarded Mr. Kent Lambert, of Chestertown.

The congregation of the Methodist Church at Betterton have been given a lot by the Betterton Bayside Land Improvement Co., on which they will erect a new church, work on same to begin shortly.

The chimney on Mr. D. B. McMenamin's home was struck by lightning early Wednesday morning and a part of it knocked off. The family were very much alarmed for a few minutes. Lightning also struck a tree and a fence just across the river in Queen Anne's.

The farmers of Worton, Broad Neck and other parts of Kent have won a partial victory in their united stand against accepting 13 cents per basket for tomatoes. Contracts are now being signed for 14 cents per basket for water shipment and 15 cents for home canneries. This price, the packers claim, is all they will be able to pay.

The removal of a large shade tree from the old electric light plant property to the yard of Mr. W. Frank Jarrell on Washington avenue created considerable interest. Engineer Orem with his big engine hauled the tree and Landscape Gardener Edw. Newton superintended its replanting. The roots of the tree covered about ten feet square of earth.

Continuous wet weather has made conditions serious in this region where acres of early potatoes have been planted. Farmers are already figuring on a heavy loss because of the seed potatoes rotting and it is believed that even now a large part of the acreage will have to be replanted.

Next Thursday, May 1st, is the date of the Charity Tea and Dance at Firemen's Hall. Don't fail to attend and help a worthy cause.

A sad accident occurred in Sudlersville Monday afternoon. Wallace Stant, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stant, was killed in W. O. Thomas' lumber yard. The grandfather of the little fellow was working in the yard and Wallace was playing. He ran upon a pile of lumber when a couple of piles slid, catching him between them and killing him instantly.

Rev. G. A. Morris sold his fine driving mare to Mr. Harry C. Willis for $200. He says she has not a superior in Kent. Her Dewey colt will be kept by the parson. Even horses do not like to leave Kent after a residence here of a few years.

The average cost of raising colts on farms in the United States to the age of 3 years is $104.06; the average selling price for the same animals is $136.17, the average profit is $32.11. These are the figures of the experts in the Agricultural Department. They are based upon estimates made by 10 000 correspondents throughout the country. The cost of raising a 3-year-old varies, however, for out in New Mexico it is only $69.50, while in Rhode Island it run up to $156.60—nearly $100 difference. The Agricultural Department experts find that feed is the biggest item in raising horses. This amounts to $56.30, and is more than half the total. It is readily observed that the influence of variation in prices of foodstuffs is important.

Director Elected.—Mr. James E. Woodall, Jr., of Georgetown, was elected a director of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland on Wednesday last. Mr. Woodall is one of upper Kent's progressive young business men and a gentleman of best character.

SENATOR JACKSON'S SUCCESSOR.

Former Attorney General Straus gave an opinion Friday that even if the Governor does not call a special session of the legislature, an election can be held this fall for a senator for the short term. Mr. Straus holds that the laws governing the primary and general elections can be made to apply to this case, all the necessary machinery being provided. He has not changed his views as to the time when Senator Jackson's term will expire. This, according to his contention, will not end before the beginning of the end of the next session of the legislature. As to the long term, this Mr. Straus holds it is the spirit of the federal amendment that an election should not be held until 1914.

Attorney General Poe has also given an opinion in harmony with that of Mr. Straus.

Marbury and Protection.

To The Editor of The Sun—Your editorial headed "No Place for Protectionists in the Democratic Party", is coming some strong, even though a little inconsistent.

You say: "But the protectionist in the Democratic party is inevitably in the position of a traitor."

Now you are supporting Mr. Marbury for Senator, evidently forgetting that a few short years ago Mr. Marbury supported, contributed and made speeches for Mr. McKinley for President on a high protection platform.

If you really believe what you say in your editorial, I fail to see how you can honestly support Mr. Marbury, unless you are willing to accept him for the Senatorship because he is willing to change his views to land the job, as he is now willing to support Mr. Bryan on account of the desirability of a Senatorship.

I would really like to know if you think Mr. Marbury will support a free-trade measure as a reward for being elected a Senator from Maryland.—H. B. Holton.
