FAIR AT CHESTERTOWN

Splendid Grounds, Fast Track, Amusements Galore, Baloon Ascension, Baby Contest, Good Music.

BOAT RACES ON CHESTER RIVER

The first Fair held under the auspices of the Kent and Queen Anne's Driving Association opened Tuesday under most favorable auspices. The grounds, located overlooking the beautiful Chester river, cannot be surpassed and the improvements meet every demand for the present. Another year exhibition buildings will be erected no doubt and the interest of the farmers elicited. James G. Beck, president, and Clifton L. Jarrell, secretary, have done their best to make it a success and have had the co-operation of the horsemen and others.

The Chestertown Cornet Band furnished excellent music, Prof. Daniels directing. They also furnished music in Kent Square during the evenings.

The inner man is well looked after by Messrs. J. S. Vandegrift, T. B. Elliott, C. H. Horn, A. M. Brown, Joseph Lambert and the Candy Kitchen.

Among the exhibitors were Davis & Satterfield with machinery, carriages, etc., Kent Lambert with plumbing supplies, etc., A. S. Turner with his wares Graham and Clements, Walter T. Bramble, Kilbourn and Bramble, Henry S. Deford.

The races were the center of interest and proved quite interesting. The officials were "on the job" and proved efficient. They were as follows: starter, E. Lee LeCompt; Judges, Jas. Merrick, Jr., W. F. Watson, W. E. Parsons; Timers, Harry S. Dailey, R. Oscar Roe, John Brice; clerk of course, Conlyn Noland; distance judge, George Bell; weighing in judge, Robert Ayres; marshall, Fred S. Russell. Thursday.

Thursday was the big day of the Fair, over 6,000 people being present. Chestertown never had as many people in it before, but the hotels and restaurants fed everyone and no one had any fault to find with the facilities for handling a crowd. Chester bridge at one time had an unbroken line of vehicles. From 7 a.m. to 7 p. m. there were 1600 teams came over Chester bridge. There were 200 automobiles in town! Notwithstanding this big crowd the conduct was ideal and not an accident reported.

Two balloon ascensions afforded interest for the crowd while the 702 pound fat man was visited by hundreds. An excursion from Love Point brought over 800 here. Next year the Penna. R. R. will run an extra trains to Chestertown.

The effort to sell Orrington at public sale after winning his race was a novelty, but he was withdrawn on a bid of $225. This stallion could have been bought for $250. He is 7 years old and went in 2 20¾.

Better Babies Contest.

Monday was Children's Day, the feature being the Better Babies' Contest as conducted by the Woman's Home Companion. Mrs. Arthur L. Harris was the supervisor and deserves great credit for patience and success in conducting this healthful contest. The object of the contest is to arouse interest in child study and call attention to the importance of children, especially the physical and mental welfare of the child. Also to secure and compile accurate information which will assist the parents, educators and scientists to better understand the laws of child development.

The following physicians conducted the contest: Dr. Lee M. Thomas, of New York; Dr. H. Benge Simmons, of Chestertown; Dr. H. G. Simpers, of Chestertown; Dr. Nurkin, of Betterton; Dr. W. L. Maxwell, of Still Pond; Dr. Geo. Jones, of Galena; Dr. Elizabeth Whittaker Johnson, of Oklahoma; Dr. E. A. Scott, of Galena; Dr. N. S. Dudley, of Church Hill; Dr. Coppage, of Church Hill; Dr. Fisher and Dr. McPherson.

A committee of ladies from town, including Mrs. H. L. Boyd, Mrs. Wm. B. Usilton, Jr., Mrs. W. B. Copper, Mrs. W. T. Pippin, Miss Adel France and other assisted in managing the contest. There were 60 who stood the test and who made a splendid showing. Dr. Thomas, of New York, says the Kent and Queen Anne's babies beat any city show he has attended and was delighted with the high health test which prevailed. It was with much difficulty that the judges made the awards as follows:

A SAD DROWNING.

Baltimorean Visiting Mr. Owen C. Smith Meets Death in Chester River Rescues a Lad.

Charles Jackson, wife and three children, of Baltimore, has been guests of Mr. and Mrs Owen C Smith on the Chester river opposite Chestertown. Mr. Jackson has been enjoying the sport of swimming in the river with Mr. Smith's two boys, Spencer and Franklin. Expecting to return to his position with the Adams Express Co on Wednesday, he and the boys started for a final swim. Spencer ventured out a little too far and called for help which was promptly given by Mr. Jackson, cautioning the boys not to venture out far, Mr. Jackson, went out and had hardly reached water over his head before he threw up his hands and called for help Miss Duncan, who was bathing near the shore, saw the man and heard the outhry and remarked. "you ought not to do that;" remembering he had done the same thing the previous day. The young folks soon realized that Mr. Jackson was not joking and they ran for help, but when it arrived the man drowned. The body was soon fonnd and Drs Simmons and Whaland summoned but they failed to revive him. It is thought he had an attack of acute indigestion after a hearty dinner. The body was prepared for burial by undertaker Chas. L Dodd and carried to Baltimore. The deceased was 25 yrs. of age and was a brother in-law of Mr. Smith. He had receutly bought a new home in the suburbs of Baltimore and quite popular.
