KENT NEWS

THE KENT NEWS

CHESTER TOWN, MD.

Saturday, Janaury 30, 1847.

Col. Benton and the Lieutenant General.

Col. Benton has made a statement in the Senate of the origin of the President's recommendation of the officers and our Agency in the transaction. The substance of the whole is, that Mr. Polk asked his opinion about conducting the war with Mexico, when he made a plan and submitted it to the President—the plan, requiring the appointment of an officer superior to all others, the President, (naturally enough) asked him to execute his own plan and he consented, (as was very natural)—this plan was to have an issue—a result—to be adhered to absolutely and carried out at all hazards—a grand plan, looking to a 'result,' and not to be altered or changed by the President.

We have often heard of great men, having "weak points," but if ever the bumps of vanity and self conceit, were developed in the pericranium of any one, they are largely so on that of the Missouri Senator.

The idea, of a civilian—a politician—one whose whole life has been passed in public halls—who never saw a battle—and who never campaigned three months—who probably never exercised a regiment on the parade ground, and whose title of Colonel is merely one of distinction, to lay out a plan and command Scott, and Taylor and Worth and Wool and Kearney and Butler and others, to fight it through, (for it seems Mr. Benton intended them to do the fighting) is one among the strangest and wildest, if not the most supremely ridiculous, occurrences of the 19th century.

Did Bonaparte select his Generals and Marshals, from men reared to civil life as Mr. Benton? Could he have shaken Europe to its centre by the exploits of such civic heroes? Was Lannes and Massena, Davoust, Murat and Ney, Suchet and Victor, McDonald and Soult, the pillars of Napoleon's Empire, taken from civil life, or were they not rather from childhood enured to arms, and received their Marshals Baton, on the bloody battle fields where their noble and heroic deeds were done, and not till they had fought a hundred sanguinary conflicts, and earned by almost super-human efforts, the titles they acquired!!

We know not at which, we are most astonished, the assurance of the Senator, or the credulity of the President. Perhaps, the President, fell into the suggestion, rather than risk the ire and opposition which general succeeds a thwarting of any of Mr. B. plans. **

Gen'l Taylor's Letter.

We publish, on our first page, a letter from Gen'l Taylor to a friend or connection, giving an account of the delay, and difficulties and dangers that have beset his path, and his plans for carrying on the campaign. We see no reason why any one should be offended at the letter—no doubt the facts are all true as stated as they are set down in a plain and respectful manner. We regret however the breach of confidence in the gentleman who received the letter—a private one, evidently so, and not intended for publication for the plans so far as Gen'l Taylor, laid them down, ought not to be published. They may be set down for the private, but not the public eye.—Gen'l T. however is not responsible for the breach of honour of his friend. Nothing can justify the publication of a private letter and the man who violates this law of right, can never be trusted. We regret also the publication, because some will censure the war-worn and victorious General, from political considerations. Officers of the army have nothing to do with politics while in actual service—their political opinions ought never to be mentioned—they cease to be politicians and become fighting patriots and it matters not, how they may differ in political sentiments at home, they do not differ abroad, and we doubt, if in camp, a word of politics, is ever heard—there, all is "country" and "home" and "friends" and "battle" and "victory" or "death." *

ELOPEMENT OF THE "DEVIL"!—Our devil, who was well known as a notorious character in this place, eloped last Saturday. A few copies of old exchange papers will be given for his apprehension. We hope soon, to procure another, but not one of the "same sort."

☞ It is estimated that 161 men and 81 women have been arrested for drunkenness in New York city within the last nine days.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

THE NEWS BY THE HIBERNIA.

We announced yesterday, says the Baltimore Patriot, in a telegraphic despatch the arrival of the Hibernia at Boston, and gave account of the English markets. The following despatch came to hand last night about nine o'clock:

NEW YORK, Jan 25.

We have the news by the Hibernia.

President's Message gives full assurance in England that low duties on British goods will be maintained, and ensures to English manufacturers cheerful prospects for their trade the coming spring.

Paris papers assert that the French Government intend proposing a reduction in duties on Foreign corn.

There have been terrible inundations in the Roman States, causing great distress and extensive loss of property. The new Pope is mitigating hardships by purchase of food and personal exertion. He has reduced duties on foreign grain.

The President's message is assailed by the whole British press—ugly names given to it because of its account of the Mexican war. The annexation of California is more unpopular in England than the Texas annexation was.

Severe comments are made in England upon the President's declaration that the war was not undertaken with a view to conquest.

The distress in Ireland was absorbing an topic in the papers. There were many deaths by starvation, and they were increasing. The Government had offered Father Mathew an annuity of one hundred pounds a year. Great distress prevailed also in the Highlands, in Scotland.

The Hibernia brought out the Governor of Canada and suite.

The Money market was quiet. From two to three hundred thousand pounds, in specie, were received at Boston by the Hibernia.

Great Indian Massacre.

BUTCHERY OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

A letter from a gentleman at Council Bluffs, dated on the 17th of December, to his correspondent in St. Louis, states that, on the previous day, a band of the Omahas were met by a band of the Sioux, in the neighborhood of the Bluffs, that a battle ensued ensued between them; and that the Sioux killed sixty of the Omahas before the conflict terminated.

The following particulars we find in a letter to the St. Louis Republican:

It was a cold bloody butchery of women and children, in the absence of all the warriors of the village. On the night of the 12th and 13th, the latter states, a war party of Yancton Sioux Indians defeated and destroyed fourteen tribes of the Omaha tribe of Indians, located at the time at Wood's Bluffs, situated about sixty miles from this place—Belleview. The men and warriors of the Omahas had left the camp on a hunt; and the Sioux, soon after they reached the camp, discovered that they only had women and children to contend with. The slaughter was terrible—seventy three were killed, and nineteen mortally wounded. Two men made their escape—one of them Joseph Lafleeche, a trader in the employ of Mr. Peter A Sarpy, and at the time in the charge of a stock of goods.

He ran from the scene of blood bare footed, and arrived at Belleview with both feet frozen. Mr. Sarpy and Major Miller, the present agent, dispatched a party of men to ascertain the facts, and they confirmed, on their return, the report of Lafleche. They also reported that five of the Sioux Indians had been killed no doubt stabbed by the Omaha squaws. Going twenty miles further than the ground of the massacre, they found the place where goods of the trader hrd been divided among the robbers.

Maryland Legislature.

In pursuance of previous notice, Mr. Wickes, asked and obtained leave, and introduced a bill, entitled, an act for the relief of Jacob W. Bird, of Anne Arundel county.

Which was read first time, ordered to a second reading and on motion,

Committed to the committee on the Judiary.

Mr. Steck submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That we commend the Executive of the United States, for his message recommending an energetic prosecution of the present war, as the only means to accomplish a peace.

Resolved, That the Mexican Government in their attack upon the forces of Gen. Z. Taylor, commenced the conflict, and it is the bounden duty of every good citizen to uphold our chief magistrate in the measures he proposes to "conquer a peace."

Which was read the first time, and order to a second reading.

Mr. Patterson, of Baltimore city, presented a memorial of the associated Professors of Saint Mary's college, praying to be exempt from taxation;

Whish was read and referred to the committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. Donaldson, of Howard District, Mr. Orrick, of Baltimore county, and Mr. Turner of Frederick, presented memorials praying that the question of license or no license for the sale of spirituous liquors, be submitted to the voters, &c. at their next general election;

Which was read and referred to the committee already appointed on that subject.

THERE is a very remarkable passage in Mr. Oldschool's letter this morning:—"The administration may move General Taylor from his present post, and he them from theirs."

So true as the administration makes a more open demonstration against General Taylor, so true is their danger that Mr. Polk's private secretary will have to hand over to General Taylors' private secretary, an inventory of the property of the White House, in 1849.—U. S. Gazette.

DIED.

At his residence in Quaker Neck, on Sunday last Mr. Joseph T. Merritt.

In teis place on Tuesday last, Mrs. Hyland consort of Mr. Henry M. Hyland.

At New Market, last week, Mr. William Barnet.

Departed this life, January the 10th, 1847, at the residence of her father; Sarah Elizabeth Sappington, in the seventeenth year of her age; after a lingering affliction of 18 months which she bore with exemplary patience and resignation. The deceased from a child, was amiable in her disposition, and interesting in her manners. This sweet temper of mind she exhibited by submission to parental authority, by respect for superiors, and by kindness to inferiors. By this beautiful conduct, she not only enjoyed the warmest affection of her parents; but also won for herself, the esteem and love of all her associates. She for a number of years was a scholar in the Sunday School of the M. E. Church of this place; where she was taught to fear God and keep his commandments. Where too she gained the approbation of her teachers, and the affection of her schoolmates. The disease that terminated her mortal life, was contracted by sleeping under an open widow and exposing herself to damp night air.—Alas! alas! how frail is mortal man! "As for man, his days are as as grass; as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone." "In the midst of life we are in death." Legions, legions of disasters, such as no prudence can foresee, and no care prevent, lie in wait to accomplish our doom. The crimson fluid which distributes health, is impregnated with the seeds of death. Heat may inflame it, or toil oppress it; and make it destroy the parts it was designed to cherish. Some unseen impediment may obstruct its passage, or some unknown violence may divert its course, in either of which cases, it acts the part of a poisonous draughts, or a deadly stab.

"Ah! in what perils in vain life engag'd!
What slight neglects, what trivial fault destroy
The hardiest frame! of indolence, of toil
We die; of want, of superfluity.
The all surrounding heav'n, the vital air,
Is big with death."

Since then, we are surrounded by so many diseases and dangers, which may push "us to the tomb;" let us live in a constant state of preparation. This young girl, with all the loveliness of her disposition—with all the love of parents and acquaintances—with all the instruction of a religious character, received at home elsewhere;—nevertheless lived until a few days before her death, without a knowledge of her acceptance with God. Her affliction excited in her an anxiety about her salvation, to which she was before a stranger.

"Afflictions, tho' they seem severe,
In mercy oft are sent."

She was visited by several ministers of Christ, who explained to her the way of salvation more fully. She sought God earnestly;—she sought not in vain—he was found of her to the joy and comfort of her heart. Three days before her departure, she aroused from a seemingly slumbering state; enquired who it was that fasted forty nights; on being told that her Savior, had so fasted, she commenced, singing, O Jesus my Savior, to the I submit, &c. She continued some time in this happy frame of mind, praising God for the great things that he had done for her. She then turned to her disconsolate friends, and told them not to grieve after her; and endeavored to console them by telling them, that she believed that the Lord had afflicted her body, for the good of her soul. Oh! what wonders grace can do! A short time after this she was seen by her minister, to whom she gave every assurance of the delightful change which she realized through faith in the son of God. And as they sung that beautiful hymn commencing: What's this that steals upon my frame, &c. When this came to the verse:

Bright angels are from glory come
They're round my bed, they're in my room;
They wait to wait my spirit home—
All is well, all is well!

She raised her feeble voice and united it with theirs, and sung several stanzas. In this heavenly frame of mind, she continued until three o'clock on Sunday morning when without a struggle or a groan, she fell asleep, we trust in Jesus—

Happy soul, thy days are ended,
All thy mourning days below.

Reader, art thou ready for the change? "What are thy hopes beyond the grave?" If thou art not prepared to meet God; awful is thy condition! "Without an habitual readiness, we are like wretches that sleep on the top of a mast, while a horrid gulf gawns, or furious waves rage, below."

OMEGA.

Let all the world know that Sellers Vermifuge is the best in use! Here is the proof.

LICKING STATION, Ky. Dec 17th, 1846.

Mr. R. E. Sellers:—I have the pleasure to inform you that I have used in my practice your celebrated Vermifuge with the most happy results. I have formerly used Fahnestock's but being persuaded to try yours, I have found it far superior in every respect, and can say without the fear of contradiction, that your Vermifuge possesses more virtue than any I ever used, and most cordially recommend it to the attention of the public. I will state a case where I gave one vial of your Vermifuge: My brother's child was pining and wasting to a mere skeleton; in 30 hours after I gave the Vermifuge, the enormous quantity of upwards of six hundred worms were passed. The child that was given up as lost, is now well and as hearty as any in the neighborhood.
