THE NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, MD.

Saturday, March 11, 1848.

☞We are indebted to the Hon. Jas. A. Pearce, U. S. S., and Hon. Alexander Evans, H. R. for valuable public documents.

Wm. S. Constable, Esq., S. S., B. Chambers Wickes, John E. Cacy and John H. Tilden, Esqs., will accept our thanks for their attention, in forwarding us the proceedings of the Legislature.

☞We call the attention of our Agricultural readers to the Table which we publish on our fourth page. It will be found useful to every Agriculturalist.

BURGLARY.—The hat store of Mr. Jas. Arthur, in this place, was entered on Thursday night and a silk hat stolen therefrom. Ten dollars is offered for the detection of the thief.

Taylor Meeting in Queen Ann's.

The meeting of the friends of Gen. Taylor, in Queen Ann's county, at Centreville, on the 29th February, is said to have been large, and without respect to party. Henry F. Wright Esq. was elected President and Richard C. Carmichael, headed the resolution committee.

The meeting present General Taylor as a candidate for the Presidency, to the people of the State and the Union, of perfect independence of all parties, and no pledge but an adherence to the constitution. They recommend the selection of delegates from the different counties and city of Baltimore, to a State Taylor convention in that city on the 12th of April next, for the adoption of measures to secure his election. The following delegates were appointed to represent that county in the convention: Col. R. B. Carmichael, Col. James Roe, Richard C. Tilghman, Jr., Dr. Thos. S. Wilson, Kensey Harrison, Col. John R. Emory, Henry E. Wright, J. C. Bryan, John Grason and Wm Hemsley.

Gen. Scott.

The Union of Monday evening, in reply to an article in the National Intelligencer, charging sinister motives to the administration in suspending Gen'l. Scott, says:—"We defer all comments upon these gratuitous and insidious insinuations until the correspondence, which has been called for by a resolution of the House of Representatives, shall have been submitted to the world. We understand it will be transmitted to Congress in two or three days. Then it is presumed the impartial tribunal of public opinion will do justice to those who have been rudely accused before the public, without the necessary evidence to convict or even to charge them with such transgression.

Mr. Clay.

The reception of this distinguished gentleman in New York, on Tuesday, absorbed the attention of the whole city, and business to a great extent was suspended.—Mr. Clay landed at Castle Garden, at about 2 o'clock, amid the firing of cannon and the shouts of the thousands who had assembled on the Battery to greet him. He was received by Mayor Brady, who, in a becoming manner, tendered him the hospitalities of the city.

Mr. Clay replied briefly but feelingly, said he was much fatigued—a truth his general demeanor amply indicated. On the way from Amboy to New York, he made quite a long speech in reply to Hon. Morris Franklin, who welcomed him in the name of the city. Mr. Clay said he left home purely on private and professional business; but that he felt truly grateful for these and all former proofs of attachment.

The Vanderbelt was loaded with a great many invited guests who, in addition to the Philadelphia committee, and that of the N. York councils, crowded the promenade deck.

☞A Locofoco State Convention, which assembled at Harrisburg, on Saturday last nominated the Hon. James Buchanan as their choice for the Presidency. The vote stood thus:—Mr. Buchanan, 84; Mr. Dallas, 34; Mr. Cass, 10; Mr. Van Buren, 5.

MURDER.—A horrible murder was committed in the town of Somers, Westchester county, on Monday evening. A rich farmer quarreled with his wife and children, and the latter set upon him and beat him to death.

CHLOROFORM IN ENGLAND.—Births as well of deaths are published in England. The English papers now contain singular notices. A late number of the London Times has:

"On the 27th of Jan'y., in Soho Square (under chloroform,) Mrs. Lewis C. Hertslet of a son."

In one case also the following appeaer:—

"On the 19th ult., at Rotherhithe, (in the unconsciousness of mesmeric sleep, induce by Mr. Chandler,) the wife of Mr. Thomas Moss of a son."

HONORS TO THE ILLUSTRIOUS DEAD.—The funeral solemnities incident to the reception of the remains of Ex-President John Quincy Adams, in their transit through Baltimore to their place of final sepulture, took place on Monday last according to previous arrangement—they were solemn and appropriate. At an early hour, flags appropriately shrouded and at half mast, were displayed from the shipping and other points throughout the city.

At 12 o'clock the extra train with the Congressional Committee and the remains arrived from Washington at the Mount Clare Depot; a detachment of the Junior Artillerists commencing the firing of minute guns as soon as the train was in sight. The Mayor, and the Committee of Reception appointed by the City Council, were in waiting at the Depot, and joined the Congressional Committee, who were accompanied by Col. Seaton, Mayor of Washington. On arriving at the place designated, the coffin was taken from the railroad car and placed on an elegant funeral car, drawn by four milk white horses, and conducted into line, the military receiving it with presented arms, and mournful music from the Bands. The necessary arrangements having been made the procession then moved through its appointed route in the following order:

CHIEF MARSHALL,
Capt. H. A. THOMPSON,
and Aids.
MILITARY,
Col. Maguire, commanding.
Fifth Regiment,
Col. Hickman, commanding,
Junior Artillerists, Eagle Artillerists.
Music.
Independent Blues; German Guards; Sharp Shoopers.
Music.
Fifty-Third Regiment.
Lieut. Col. Hoffman, commanding.
City Guards; Maryland Cadets; Ringgold Infantry; National Blues; German Yeagers; City Greys; Washington Guards; Invincibles; Independent Greys.
Greys Band.
Rifle Regiment.
Lieut. Col. Peters, commanding.
Chesapeake Riflemen; Columbian Riflemen; First Baltimore Light Infantry; Officers of the Army, Navy, &c. Then followed the hearse containing the remains, preceded by two of the Chief Marshal's Aids, and surrounded by the Independent Light Dragoons, as a guard of Honor: The Congressional Committee followed in carriages. The Mayor, Committee of Arrangements, and officers and members of the city council, also in carriages.
Music.
Delegation from the Mercantile Library Association, of which the deceased was an honorary member, preceded by their banner.
Music.
Delegation from Divisions of the Sons of Temperance—Grand Division Sons of Temperance—Washington Camp of the United Sons of Liberty, with banner—Cortege of Mounted Citizens.

The stores on the streets through which the procession passed were all closed, and many of them draped in mourning. As the procession moved along, the bells were tolled, whilst the silence and apparent solemnity which pervaded the multitudes, by whom the streets were thronged, served to heighten the effect of the occasion.

After passing along the route laid down the coffin was then deposited in the Rotundo of the Exchange, which had been most tastefully draped in mourning, where a large number of citizens visited to pay their last respects to the venerable sage.

Santa Anna's Retirement.

The New Orleans Mercury, of the 26th ult., says:—

"We understand advices were received in the city this morning, probably by the Edith, that Gen. Santa Anna had arrived at Vera Cruz, only a few days since, under American escort, and with a passport from Gen. Scott, to leave the country, and that he was to leave for Havana on the 26th instant, (this day,) to re-occupy his old quarters among the "Habaneros."

The Delta, of the 27th, says:—

"There is no reason to doubt the truth of the report by the Edith, that the great Mexicans whose energy has sustained this war and communicated whatever of vigor has characterised the defence of Mexico, had received his passports from our commander-in-chief, and ere this has arrived in Vera Cruz, on his way to foreign parts. A gentleman now in this city saw the letter to General Twiggs from Gen. Scott, directing the former to allow General Santa Anna to depart in peace from Vera Cruz. It is probable that the Mexican Chief arrived at Vera Cruz in time to unite in the celebration of the anniversaries of Washington's birth-day, and of the glorious victory of Buena Vista."

BARBAROUS.—A letter to the New Orleans Delta dated Jalapa, Feb. 15, says:—

"A horrible piece of barbarity, which occurred at this place, clearly shows, that though the inhabitants may appear friendly to our troops, still when an opportunity offers for evincing their hatred without risk to themselves, they do not let it pass. Mr. Curran, who was sent out here on the part of some of the citizens of Illinois, to take home the remains of Lieut. Thomas Davis, who fell at Cerro Gordo, and was buried here came up with the train; and on his proceeding to the grave of the young warrior, he found it had been opened, and the body mutilated and burned almost to a cinder, a fire having been lighted in the coffin. With the assistance of some friends, he collected what remained of the body, and proceeded homewards on his mission."

THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO.

The information contained in the subjoined extract, from a New Orleans paper, the truth of which we see no reason to distrust is, at this particular moment, of great and gratifying interest:

Mexican Correspondence of the N. O. Delta.

"The present Government, we are assured by persons fully informed in regard to affairs in Mexico, is the strongest that has been established in Mexico for many years, and is fully adequate, without even the aid of Gen. Scott and of our Army, to enforce any peace it may conclude. It has collected around it the strongest men in the country, who are pledged to uphold it in its efforts to bring about a peace. It is believed that the present is a favorable opportunity—the most favorable which has presented itself since the commencement of this war, or that is likely to occur, for the conclusion of a satisfactory and practical peace. The evidence of the inclination of the Mexican Government to peace is to be found in the address of President Pena y Pena, through his Minister Luis de la Rosa, in reply to the manifesto of the State Government San Luis, in which he says that it is the policy of this Government to make a peace, that he intends to do so, and that the United States are willing to accept terms honorable to both parties."

We have received a copy of a bill from Annapolis, entitled "An act to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors on the Sabbath day," in the State of Maryland, which has already passed the Senate. As it is of general importance, we give its substance, as follows:

Section 1. That from and after the first day of June next ensuing, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons within this State, to sell, dispose of, or barter any spirituous liquors or cordials of any kind in any quantity whatever, on the Sabbath day, commonly called Sunday; and any person or persons violating the provisions of this act, shall be liable to indictment in any court of this State having criminal jurisdiction, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined a sum not less than twenty dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, at the discretion of the court, for the first offence, and if convicted a second time for a like offence, the license of the person or persons so offending shall be declared nul and void by the judge of said court.

Sec 2. That it shall be the duty of the Treasurer of the State or such other person whose duty it is to have the tavern licenses prepared, have inserted in said licenses a clause specially excepting the Sabbath day from the operation of said license.

Sec. 3. That any person who may give such information of the violation of the requirements of this act, he shall be entitled to and receive one-half of fines therein imposed by the first section of this act, and the other half shall be given for the use of the primary schools, if any, and if not, to the general school fund of the county, district, or the city, in which such conviction shall take place.

Sections 4 and 5 make it the duty of judges to give this bill in charge to the grand juries, and repeals all acts conflicting herewith.

MUSTANG" IN WASHINGTON.—A Washington letter says:—

"The reception of Mr. Freaner, who brought the treaty from Mexico to Washington, at the Department of State, has caused a good deal of laughter at the capitol. Coming from Mexico in seventeen days, he had but little time for his toilette, and on his arrival sported a blue jacket and pants, one leg of which was strapless, while the want of suspenders displayed a fold of check line over the waistband, a broad brimmed tarpuline hat, with a face covered with ranchero-looking whiskers. On his landing at the wharf he hastened in a coach, (though the hackman were rather shy of him,) to the residence of the Secretary of State, where he was flatly refused admission by the porter in waiting. However, he forced his way in, and Mr. Buchanan was no less astonished than his servant, to find in the queer chap before him, whom he had at sight mistaken for an old salt, the redoubtable Mustang, and the special ambassador of Don Nicholas Trist."

MR. ADAMS REMAINS AT WILMINGTON.—On their way from this city to Philadelphia, on Tuesday, the remains of the venerable sage received due honor at Wilmington, Del. The Journal says:—

"In accordance with the resolutions of the city council, the stores and places of business were closed at 12 o'clock, the shipping displayed their flags at half-mast, and the city hall bell, church bells, and fire bells tolled while the cars remained at the depot. Thousands of persons were congregated in Water street to testify the admiration of the "Old Man Eloquent." The train was met at Elkton by the committees from this city, and when it appeared in sight, a detachment from Company A, Delaware Artillery, commenced firing 21 minute guns. Part of the committee proceeded to Philadelphia with the corpse."

For the Kent News.

TO THE GRAND JURY FOR MARCH TERM OF KENT CO. COURT, '48.

No. 1.

Gentlemen:

You are about to enter upon a most responsible and important duty; the oath which you are about to take and the charge which you will no doubt review from the distinguished individual, who presides over the proceedings of the Court, will doubtless contribute largely to the production of suitable impressions on your mind.

The solemn character of the charge, connected with the oath, will not fail to prompt you to the faithful discharge of every duty pointed out in the charge.

After you have been selected and sworn into the service of the Law, you will retire to your room to perform the duties of the Grand Inquest for the "body of Kent."

It is most probable some of you, at least, have served in that capacity, on some former occasion, and as a matter of course, are somewhat acquainted with the ordinary duties of the Grand Jury, which, as conscientious men you will not fail to perform the design of this communication.

It is to call your attention to some things, which in my opinion are not unworthy of your serious consideration.

You are about to enquire into the facts of all disorders, and disturbance of the peace, all riotous assemblies of men, white, colored, or mixed, and while you enquire into the facts, would it not be well to extend your enquiries into the causes of those very disorders, of which you are charged to present—Evils, which endangers the peace of society, the property and even the lives of your fellow-citizens.

This, gentlemen, you are to do, under the obligation of your oath, without allowing yourselves to be influenced by fear or favour, knowing no one with any degree of preference. In order to enable you the better to do so with impunity, you are protected by seclusion, from the public gaze, as also, the obligation not to disclose the transactions of your room.

Thus protected from the prying curiosity of medlers, your business is to inquire into those things which you stand charged with—power to send for person and papers, by which you may elicit, testimony, respecting that of which you have had some information.

Now, Gentlemen, in making your investigation would it not be well to look beyond the mere fact, of the existence of disorders and enquire into the causes—the primary causes of most, if not all those disorders.

It will not fail to impress itself indelibly on your mind, that drunkenness is the fruitful source of nearly all the mischief's that afflict society, and if you will only do the part, faithfully, which now devolves upon you, much mischief may be prevented. I may point out some of those things for your consideration in a future number, hoping that it will not be in vain.

In all the streets people are moving with the appearance of the spectres.

MR CLAY AND THE PRESIDENCY.—The Washington Union says:—

"We learn that the letter which was submitted at the Kentucky convention, from a member of Congress, does not represent correctly his views. We have no hesitation in saying that Mr. Clay does not design to withdraw from the course—and that such is virtually the purport of a letter which was received from him this day in Washington."

TOO SMART.

One day last week, says the Boston Bee, a gentleman who had conceived the idea that all coal dealers were rogues, having occasion to purchase a load of Lehigh, determined that he would in person superintend the operation of weighing. Accordingly he proceeded to the coal-yard, and watched every lump of coal deposited in the cart, with an eagle eye. When he was satisfied that he had obtained full weight, he ordered the coal to be conveyed to his dwelling, and followed it to its destination, to be assured that nothing was lost on the road. After the coal was delivered, the teamster returned to the yard, and being observed to be in uncommonly good humor, was questioned as to the cause of his mirth.—He explained it by saying that the gentleman who purchased "that last load of coal," in his anxiety to avoid being cheated, had stood upon the platform balance while the coal was weighed. The gentleman alluded to weighed about 180 pounds.
