KENT NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1852.

The Belini Band Excursion.

We had the pleasure on Monday last of a trip to the Monumental city in company with this spirited corps of musicians lately formed at Millington, in this county. The excursion was one truly delightful; every thing alike conspiring to promote the pleasure of the party and the success of the trip. The Steamer Osiris, with the Band, arrived at our wharf about 8 oclk. A. M. and were joined by about thirty of our own citizens, arriving in Baltimore in the afternoon and returning on the following day.

The execution of the Band was in most excellent taste and served to bring back to our memory the days of the old Chester, now almost defunct, but which so long contributed to enliven the town by its spirit stirring strains.

The arrangements of the committee were complete and admirably suited to the occasion.

Camp Meeting.

We understand from a reliable source that a camp-meeting will be held by the Methodist Protestant Church in the woods of Mr. Samuel E. Baker, about three miles from Chester Town, commencing on Friday, the 6th of August. It is expected that Rev'd T. H. Stockton, Rev'd E. Y. Roese and other ministers from a distance will be invited.

Commissioners of the Town

We learn that the Commissioners intend perambulating the town in a short time, but the day is not known to us. Perhaps they intend ta catch our folks napping and impose fines.—We advise the cleansing operation to commenced as soon as possible.

LIGHTNING RODS.—We would call the attention of farmers and others to the advertisement in another column, of Messrs. Merrill & Co. who are prepared to put up Lightning Rods manufactured upon the plan invented by J. Spratt, of Cincinnati, and which are recommend'ed by scientific men of the highest character, as superior to any others before brought to the notice of the public. The agent can be seen at the hotel of John McDaniel.

HONORS TO HENRY CLAY.—From every section of the Union our exchanges are filled with details relative to the death of Mr Clay, and the honors that are paid to his memory. Nearly every city, town, village and hamlet in the country are preparing to solemnize the event. At Richmond. Va., a committee of thirty has been appointed to make arrangements for a funeral procession and it is supposed the Hon. John M. Botts will be selected to deliver a eulogy. At Wilmington N. C a funeral procession will take place on the 9th inst., when a eulogy will be delivered by George Davis, Esq.

Harvest.

The most of our farmers have finished mowing wheat—the crop in this county, is said to be below an average one.

Philadelphia, July 6, 1852.

Mr Editor—Dear Sir.—Our market this week is as follows:

Wheat, White	100	to	103
" Red	95	to	97
Corn, Yellow	64	to	65
" White	62	to	63
Oats,	40	to	44

Very respectfully,
LEFEVRE, BLACK & Co.

PASSAGE OF MR. CLAY'S REMAINS UP THE HUDSON RIVER.—As the steamer Santa Claus, bearing the remains of Mr. Clay from New York to Albany, was ascending the Hudson River on Monday, she met the steamer Erie, when the latter stopped, lowered her flags; tolled her bells, and commenced firing minute guns. As she entered the highlands, the beautiful steamer bearing name of Henry Clay hove in sight, with all her passengers standing uncovered. Both boats stopping their engines, fired minutes guns, and toled their bells until they had floated past each other. The same scene occurred on meeting the steamer Isaac C. Smith. On coming near West Point, booming cannon reverberated from hill to hill; the American flag on Cozzens' hotel was lowered at half mast; and a body of Cadets were drawn up in a line, and stood uncovered. At Newburgh, where a grand celebration was taking place, the remains were honored by thirteen minute guns.

THE REMAINS OF HENRY CLAY IN NEW YORK.—The remains of Henry Clay were conveyed from Philadelphia to New York on Saturday. They reached the latter city that afternoon and were received by the city authorities, and deposited in the Governor's Room, in the City Hall. The Journal of Commerce says:

The remains of Mr. Clay were escorted from the Battery directly to the City Hall by the military and civic associations participating in the reception. Notwithstanding the immense throng of persons who had congregated on the line of the route, a profound silence was maintained.—interrupted only by the firing of minute guns, the tolling of bells and solemn strains of martial music. The hearse was drawn by eight horses in sable drapery. Dwellings and public buildings were mostly scrouded in the insignia of mourning, and business, in the lower part of the city, was almost universally suspended.

The cortege was followed to the City Hall by many hundred citizens, who united, irrespective of party distinctions, to honor the remains of the departed.—The spectacle was solemn and impressive, and evinced the universal feeling of grief and sympathy that pervaded the hearts of all.

A large number of persons visited the City Hall to take a last look at the remains of the great man.

A VOICE FROM THE COUNTRY.—The Richmond Times publishes the following extract of a letter from the interior of Virginia, from an able and distinguished Whig champion, who did gallant service in the campaign of 1848:

"I am rejoiced at the nomination of Scott. I appreciate Mr Fillmore very highly, and if my act could have made him President, I would have taken him before all others, because I think the Whig party owed him a debt of gratitude for great services, rendered at a critical time; but it is important that we should have a candidate whose election is certain, and I do not doubt for a moment that General Scott will be elected easily Do not surrender Virginia by any means. You will find some Whigs who are lukewarm, and some perhaps who say they will not vote for Scott, but they are among the politicians who take kinks in their heads; they are not the men who make Presidents. Among the masses Scott's name is a tower of strength.—There is not a log cabin in the State where his name has not been heard, and his deeds in the war of 1812 and the Mexican war will gain him thousands of votes. Let not the weakness of the disaffected and lukewarm dishearten you.—I am in for the race, and my enthusiasm is even greater than during the Taylor campaign."

THE CASE OF DR. GARDINER.—It is said that Dr. Geo A. Gardiner, who was re-arrested at Washington, on Saturday, and in default of $20 000 bail was committed, was indicted the day previous by the grand jury, on the charge of forging the signatures of the Governor and of the Secretary of State of San Louis Potosi, the prefect of Rio Verde, and his secretary, and the seal of the State. It is also said the government demanded $100,000 bail, but Judge Crawford fixed it at $20,000; and that Henry May, Esq., of this city, has been employed by order of the President, to assist in the prosecution Mr. Barragan, Comptroller General of San Louis Potosi; his son, a lawyer; and the Secretary of the Corporation of Rio Vordi, important witnesses in the case, have arrived at Washington.

DEATH OF GOV. CALHOUN.—A telegraphic dispatch was received at Washington on Saturday, announcing the death James S. Calhoun, governor of New Mexico, while on his return to the States from Santa Fe. The Union says he died on the prairies, a few miles from the Missouri line, on the 30th u't.

THE SOUTHERN PRESS.—Messrs Fisher and De Leon, the two proprietors of this paper, having differed as to the propriety of coming out in support of Pierce and King, the sole proprietorship has passed into the hands of Mr. Fisher, who will continue the paper as heretofore without regard to either of the two political parties.

CONFIRMATION was administered by the Rev'd Archbishop Kenrick, at Sacred Heart Church, St. Mary's county, Md. on the 24th ult., at St. Joseph's on the, 25th, at St. John's on the 26th, and at Newtown on the 27th. The number confirmed at the later place was between seventy and eighty.

WONDERFUL

WITHOUT either wire riddles or straw carrier, wheat and oats are thrashed and cleaned fit for market at the rate from 40 to 60 bushels of wheat per hour, with less power, and with a saving of grain and men. Boys and women may be employed in place of men; also giving the farmer double advantage by dispensing with all complications of straps, slats canvass, or other fixtures liable and getting out of order besides reducing the price to one half of former machines.

Also a large supply of the latest improved Horse Powers and seed drills constantly kept on hand.

To all whom it may Concern

THE undersigned, citizens and property holders at Georgetown, Kent county, hereby forwarn all persons from placing lime, lumber or other manures on or opposite our premises in said village. The nuisance and the obstruction of the public highway is of such a character as to compel us, in self defence, to present to the next or any succeeding Grand Jury whoever disregards this notice. The offence of obstructing the common road, or of placing nuisances near private property are indictable, and any injury or inconvenience resulting from it to any person, an aggravation of them,—we therefore hope not to be placed under the necessity of prosecuting to the full extent of the law those who may persist in the practice complained of.

Report of Analysis of Quick LIME.

DELIVERED by Messrs Ermentrout at my farm. The specimens were taken with my own hand from a number of cart loads after they were deposited in the field, and the sample was a fair representation of the whole:

Lime weight of, as pure Lime, or Oxide of Calcium,	60.37
Magnesia, weight of, as pure, or Calcined Magnesia, or Oxide of Magnesia.	22.35
Potash and Soda,	01.00
Iron and alumina, or clay,	06.60
Silica, or sand,	01.10
Silica acid, or soluble silica,	03.00
Bone earth, weight as Phosphate of Magnesia,	00.49
Loss, supposed to be carbonic acid and water,	05.15
	100

REMARKS—Every hundred bushels of this Lime contains Phosphates about equal to one bushel of Bones When bones are dissolved and infinitely divided, it is said that the immediate effects of one bushel is equal to four: if so he value of these phosphates is more than one bushel.

Respectfully,
DAVID STEWART, M.D.

I have showed the annexed to our State Ag. Chemist, Dr. Higgins and he says he could send you any amount of orders

Extract from a letter of Fred. Wm. Beckell, M. D. of of New York.

"As under manure we understand a compound substance which restore to the soil, what previous or succeeding crops abstract. Therefore, it of course follows, beyond a doubt, that your lime must be beneficial to any soil and prevent its exhaustion." This Lime will be forwarded on accommodating terms.
