KENT NEWS.

CHESTER TOWN, Md.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 28, 1855.

☞ The weather continues very warm and dry. The growing corn is suuffering badly for the want of rain.

CONCERT.—The young ladies attached to Wentworth Seminary, will give a concert at the Court House on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock. The exercises are to be varied, accompanied by music, speeches, singing, &c.

THE TOWN.—The Commissioners, we understand, intend to inspect the town at an early day. The sickly season is approaching and it is the duty of all good citizens to keep their premises well cleansed.

☞ In our columns of to-day will be found a reply by R. W. Ringgold, Esq., to our remarks upon the anomalous meeting held in the Court House on the 17th inst. He takes occasion to say that we have placed him in a false position before our readers. This we deny, and we reiterate, what he has not denied, that so far as we saw or heard, he was not introduced on that occasion. In giving a description of the proceedings of the meeting, we simply stated that fact and do not hold ourselves accountable for any conclusion the gentleman himself or others might draw from it.

The gentleman we think would have wisely confined his remarks to the rectification of his position But no, he takes the glorious opportunity to throw down the "glove" to the "Goliahs" of the American party. Now, we do not presume but that the gentleman will rest in peaceful security, but should he succed in drawing upon him some hasty impulsive opponent, we would caution him that as the day of miracles has passed, his small stones may not accomplish as much as he may desire.

With knightly pluck he names his weapons, weapons with which every croaker and disturber of peaceful governments, have professed to fight, from time immemorial. In conclusion we wish the gentleman to "understand," that when he or any one else, publicly undertakes to abuse and vilify a party for which we have a preference, we shall take the liberty to say something about it, and he need not fear "a political war," for there we shall stop.

THE CUBAN FILLIBUSTER EXPEDITION.—The base of the Magnolia, libelled in Mobile for breach of neutrality laws, has been on trial there for several days. The mate tesiified that when he shipped at New York he was told that tne ship's nome was Mary Ann, bound for St. Mary's; that he kept the log for that place; and thot from Key West they sailed for St. Joseph's, a deserted plade, where they found the barque Amelia, to which vessel the cargo, consisting of guns, cannon, tents, &c., were delivered—an equipment for ten thousand men. While the transfer of cargo was taken place, the the revenue cutter made its appearance. The Boston Journal has the following information:

"When the Magnolia left New York she had on board about seven thousand muskets, embracing the lot purchased by Georgk Law of the the United States government for about one dollar and a half each. These muskets were altered after their purchase, so as to carry a Minnie ball, and were sold by Law for seven dollars and a half each. Law was a liberal patron of the Cuban expedition, as indeed he could nford to be, under the circumstances. His subscription in aid of the wrospect of revolutionizing Cuba amounted, it is reported, to $10,000.

"The Magnolia left New York with her cargo aad had transfered about two-thirds of the muskets to the barque Amelia, at St. John's, when further proceedfugs were interrupted by the arrival of the revenue cutter. One-third of the muskets were still on board the Magnolia when she was libelled, and will fall into the possessiyn of the government, if she condemn. The main portion remains on board of the Amelia, which is still under blockade at St. Joseph's.

The Liquor Law in Binghamton, N. Y.

Binghamton, July 25.—The sheriff seized to-day, by virtue of a warrant sworn out by the Carson League, all the liquor found at Bodle's Exchange Hotel, and deposited it at the Court-house.—There was great excitement manifested in regard to the case. A writ of replevin was finally issued and the liquor returned. Mr. Bodle has engaged Daniel S. Dickinson, Esq., as his counsel. Mr. Bodle was also arrested and taken before a police justice, but the proceedings were transferred to the county judge on a writ of habeas corpus being taken out. Notwithstanding all this, liquor continues to be sold openly at the Exchange Hotel.

LETTER FROM PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23, 1855.

Dear News:—Quite an exciting scene occured at Walnut street wharf on Wednesdan afternoon last. The Hon. John H. Wheeler, U. S. Minister to Nicaragua, was about embarking on his mission, with three colored persons, a woman and her two sons, his servants, when they were attacked by a number of negroes, headed by that notorious abolitionist, Passmore Williamson, who forcibly carried away the slaves, and threatened to "cut his (Col. Wheeler's) throat," if he resisted. It was a preconcerted affair, and was consummated in a few moments. On Friday, the matter was brought before Judge Kane, of the U. S. District Court, which resulted in Williamson being held to bail in $5000 to appear that day week for a further hearing, on the charge of perjury, he having denied participating in the rescue.

I subjoin Col. Wheeler's testimony before Judge Kane:

John H. Wheeler, the relator, was sworn and examined. I am a native and a citizen of North Carolina; I am the owner of three colored persons, a woman and two boys, Jane, Daniel and Isaiah; I left Washington city on the 18th inst., to repair to my post in Nicaragua, to which country I am the accredited minister of the United States Government, and at which post I have been for a year. My Government ordered me home for consultation on various matters connected with the relations existing with that Government, whose affairs it is well known have been in a very unsettled state for some time.

After my business at Washington was concluded, I was ordered by Government to repair to my post in Nicaragua. It was my intention to sail from New York to-day, and for which purpose I came through Philadelphia. I had my three servants with me, taking them on to my wife in Nicaragua. I reached Philadelphia about half-past one o'clock. Mrs. Wheeler's parents (Mr. and Mrs. Sully) reside in Philadelphia, and I went there to get a trunk for her; when I returned, the two o'clock boat for New York had left, and I had to wait for the five o'clock boat. I then went into the nearest hotel (Bloodgood's,) took my servants with me and procured dinner. Shortly before five o'clock I went on board the steamboat Washington; it being there cooler, went on the hurricane deck, and took my servants with me. While sitting there a gentleman, whom I recognize here as Passmore Williamson, came up and asked me if he could have liberty to talk with those people, pointing to my servants. I told him if he had anything to say he had better talk to me, that I did not see what business he could have with my servants. Williamson then went and laid his hand on the woman and told her that she was in Pennsylvania, and if she would step ashore she was free, or words to that effect; I told him I was very much obliged to him for his kindness, but that those persons knew very well where they were, who they were with, and where they were going; I told him I did not want him to talk to my servants; he told me to go away, that his business was with them, he then said to the woman "You are free if you will go ashore;" Williamson then took the woman by the arm and forced her away; she became alarmed and began to cry; I asked her if she wanted to go and leave her children in Virginia; she replied that she did not; at this time two negroes came up and caught me and held me; one of them held me by the collar; while I was thus seized Williamson got the woman down on the lower deck, and the boys were taken a fter by other negroes; one of the negroes who held me told me if I made any resistance or drew a weapon, he would cut my throat from ear to ear; by this time they had gotten my servants down on the lower deck; I saw Williamson pushing or hurrying the woman on shore, and some negroes were taking the two boys off; they struggled hard to get away and were crying. I asked the white man (Williamson) for his name; he gave me the name of P. Williamson, Seventh and Arch streets, and said he would be responsible for any legal claim I had for the slaves; by this time my servants were driven by several negroes to a carriage, which was standing with the door open at Front and dock streets; they were pushed into the carriage and then driven off; I tried to stop the driver, but he went on. I begged a police officer I saw standing on the wharf to note the names of the persons who had been engaged in robbing me of my servants; told him I was a stranger and my life had been threatened, that I had been forcibly robbed of my property and I did not intend tamely to submit to it. He said he would not have nothing to do with it. I did not use, or intend at any time to use violence; I knew or have always thought that I was in my own country, in a law-abiding country, and that the law would protect me in my rights."

On Friday night, six of the negroes were arrested and taken before Alderman Freeman, who, after a hearing held them in $6,000 each, to answer at Court, the charge of highway robbery, riot, and intent, to kill; in default of which they were committed to Mayomensing prison.

When we reflect that the outrage was committted in open day-light, in a city with 987 policemen on duty, comment is unnecessary.

A tremendous storm passed over this city on Friday evening last. The rain came down in torrents, filling cellars, &c., and doing great damage to property, generally. The "oldest inhabitant" says he "never saw it rain so hard." The corn in the vicinity of Philadelphia is nearly all prostrate. I saw a twenty-acre field yesterday that had not one stalk standing upright.

There is not much change in the Flour market. Common and good brands sell at $10,25 a $10,50, and $11 for fancy lots. Rye flour is held at $7 per barrel, and Corn meal at $4,25.

Wheat comes in very fast and is declining in price. About 5000 bushels were sold this morning at $1,68 for red, and $1,80 for white. 3700 bushels of Corn were seld to day at $1 per bushel. Oats are slightly advancing in prtce; some sales at 57 cents afloat, and 58 cents in store.

Cloverseed is scarce, and quoted at $7,25 per 64 lbs. Timothy $4,25 per bushel.

Yours truly, W. S. F.

Arrival of Steamer Atlantic.

ONE WEEK LATER FROM EUROPE.

Ministerial Crisis in England

SEBASTOPOL STILL HOLDING OUT.

Cotton and Consuls Declined—Breadstuffs Steady &c.,

SANDY HOOK, July 25.—The steamer Atlantic, with Liverpool dates to July 14th, has just passed here geing up to New York. Her news possesses considerable interest.

The steamer Union arrived out on the 12th inst.

A ministerial crisis has again occurred in England, caused by Lord John Russell's shuffling explanation of his conduct at Vienna.

On the 12th Sir Edward Bullwer Lytton offered a motion that a ministry containing Lord Russell is unworthy the confidence of the public. It was expected that Lord Palmerston would either throw over Lord Russell, dissolve the parliament or resign.

Sebastopol has been subjected to two days' heavy fire without effect, and the besiegers were erecting immense works against the Malakoff and Redan batteries. The besieged were also erecting equally formidable works behind those defences.

Some trifling operations are reported in the Baltic.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

Cotton is depressed and prices have declined ⅛, but the market closed more steady.

Wheat and flour are firm owing to the small stock. Corn is 4s lower.

Provisions are dull.

MONEY MATTERS.

Consols closed at 91. The bullion in the Bank of England has decreased £434-000. American securities are active.

SECOND DESPATCH.

NEW YORK, July 25th.—The Atlantic has arrived, and from the papers and circulars received by her, the following summary is transmitted:

The Atlantic left Liverpool at noon on Saturday, the 14th, At 11 P. M. on the same day passed the steamer Asia. On the 21st passed the Hermann; and on the 22d spoke the America.

The steamer Star of the South arrived at Liverpool on the 7th.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Another crisis has occurred in the British Ministry.

A despatch was received at Liverpool at the moment of the steamer's departure, stating that Lord John Russell has resigned. The circumstances which led to his resignation were the disclosures made by him in regard to his course at Vienna.

Previous to Lord Russell's resignation it was reported that if he did not resign he would take the Grey section of cabinet with him, and that Lord Palmerston would fill the places with more decided men out of the liberal ranks. Also that Lord Derby was coming in with another constitution cabinet.

Accounts of the crops in all parts of England are favorable.

THE WAR.

The war news has but little interest.—From the Crimea the intelligence is that another general assault is not far off.

Thirty thousand men are employed on the works of attack.

The Russians in addition to other additional defences are throwing up a formidable star fort behind the Redan.

A weak fire was kept up on the 10th and 11th.

The cholera was decreasing, and the health of the allied armies was more satisfactory.

The Russians made a sortie on the night of the 8th on the works in front of the Mamelon, but effected nothing.

From the Baltic it is stated that the fleets continued their cruising, destroying exposed property on the coast and on the White sea.

The fort of Archangel has been placed in a good state of defense, and a new battery of eighty guns have been erected.

Rumors are published in the papers of a dangerous insurrection in a Russian Silevian regiment. Also of a change in the Russian cabinet.

The British ship Antelope bombarded and destroyed the town of Oldtown, Calabar.

SPAIN.

The spanish insurrection has been suppressed.

FRANCE.

Queen Victoria's visit to Paris is fixed for August 7th.

AUSTRIA.

A new Austriah Circular is spoken of, intended as Count Buol's reply to Napoleon's innuendoe's and defending the conduct of Austria towards the Western Powers.

[From Brown & Shipley's Circular.]

Breadstuffs.—Wheat and flour are firm; the latter has advanced 1s for some descriptions. Stocks are small. Corn is dull and prices have declined 5s. Western Canal Flour is quoted at 40s; Ohio 42s 6d a 43s; white Corn 41s; yellow 40s; mixed Corn 39s 6d a 40s.

Sentence for Misdemeanor in Office.

Cincinnati, July 24.—John Patton, the county commissioner, who was found guilty of misdemeanor in office, was sentenced this morning. The court dismissed him from office and sentenced him to a fine of $400, this being the highest penalty of the law.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE KENT NEWS:

Dear Sir:—In the last number of your paper containing an Editorial notice of the politicai meeting, held in the Court House of Chestertown, on the 17th inst., you have placed me in a false position before the Public. You stated that "the orator for the day was then introduced, or as it appeared introduced himself, in defense of the great cause." Your were present, and you heard me announce in the introduction to my speech, that I had no part in recommending, or giving the notice for said meeting, that my first information respecting it, was obtained after the notice was sent to your Office for publication. You heard me further announce, that five days after the notice was published, I received a written invitation to address the proposed meeting, and that I had reluctantly accepted this invitation, in consequence of having been, for a long time, unaccustomed to public speaking upon politics, or any other subject. I cannot imagine, why you should state that it appeared I introduced myself, unless it be, to produce the impression, that I indelicately obtruded myself upon the patience of the good people of this county.

Now I wish you to understand, that if a political war is to be waged against me, for the honest expression of my sentiments as an American freeman, all I demand is a fair, open, manly combat. I want no bush-fighting, no skulking ambuscades. My sword shall be our Constitution, my shield, the Bible. With this offensive and defensive armor I am prepared to encounter the Goliahs of Know-nothingism, whenever they may defy the advocates and defenders of civil and religious liberty. Respectfully,

R. W. RINGGOLD.
