BRYAN FLAYS ATHEISTS

And Says Whole-Souled Belief In God Is Greatest Need Today—Thrills Y. M. C. A. Audience.

Declaring that the teachings of Nietzsche, the German philosopher, were responsible for the atrocities committed upon the human race by the Huns; that Lloyd George and Woodrow Wilson are in accord upon the one great idea of peace based upon Christian principles; that the faith of our young men is often undermined in our colleges by professors who attempt to teach too much, and flinging defiance to atheists the world over, William Jennings Bryan thrilled one of the largest audiences which ever assembled in Ford's Opera House Sunday afternoon in what has been designated by many who heard him as one of the greatest addresses he has ever made.

The meeting, which was under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association, was scheduled to begin at 3.30 o'clock, but by 3 o'clock the audience was packed to the doors, and those who had stage seats had to force their way through the rear entrance. Nearly as many men—the meeting was for men only—were left on the outside as gained admission to the theatre. Mr. Bryan was evidently in splendid condition, and it seemed that he gained inspiration from the enthusiasm of his audience as he proceeded with his address. There was a dramatic moment near the end of his remarks when, after defending the Bible with all the vigor of his strong personality, he said that, with all that the doubters in all the world had been able to do to discredit it since the time of Christ, it was the only book a man or woman cared to have near when they were about to face the mysteries of the great beyond, and he recited the twenty-third Psalm, beginning with "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." The audience listened to the familiar words as though they were new thoughts and they did seem to have a different, a new meaning when spoken by Mr. Bryan, with all the fine intonations of which the Nebraskan is capable in his masterly delivery.

"Back To God," His Theme.

Mr. Bryan took for his subject "Back to God," and prior to speaking had asked the Rev. Hugh Birckhead, rector of Emanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, who had been asked to read a passage from the Scriptures, to read from the twenty-second chapter of St. Matthew, with emphasis on the thirty-seventh verse: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." After the reading Dr. Birckhead offered prayer, the audience joining in at the end in the recitation of the Lord's Prayer. Eugene Levering introduced Mr. Bryan simply as "The Great Commoner," following the singing of "America," by the audience, led by Hobart Smock, and announcements by William H. Morriss, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

In Church Longer Than Politics.

"When women complain about not being able to attend these meetings," said Mr. Bryan, "my answer to them is that if they crowded in here the men would be excluded and it has been my experience that men need religion more than the women do.

"Let me venture into a prophesy. The peace, which will soon be signed will be satisfactory or unsatisfactory, a success or a failure, depending on whether there will be written into the compact of the nations the theory of the Christian faith, that theory which will allow the fulfillment of the great prophesy of the Christian martyrs, the breaking of the sword into plowshares. I rejoice that at least two men—two of the greatest who will sit at the peace table—are in accord on this. They have expressed themselves as favoring a peace based on Christian principles. When Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, made his celebrated address, in which he said the treaty must institute the reign on earth of the Prince of Peace, it was cabled to the United States, and President Wilson immediately expressed an approval of the sentiments of that address."

PRICES IN 1822 AND NOW

An Interesting Comparison Of The Low Cost Of Commodities.

General commodities sold in the year 1822 in Kent county as follows:

These prices, when compared with the same items today, are most interesting. For instance, a 7-pound turkey cost 32 cents; it's now 35 cents a pound. An 8-pound roast of beef was sold at 2¾ cents a pound, and now it is 35 and 40 cents.

Other items were: Silver thimble, 4 cents, now $1.50. Two geese at 23 cents each; they are now as high per pound as turkeys. Quart of New England rum at 9 cents a quart, and now it is $4. Lamb at 5 cents a pound; it is 35 cents now.

A cow which now easily brings $125 at any sale was high at $15, and men's shoes were only a dollar a pair, but the same thing at present has skyrocketed to as much as $10; one dozen chickens, frying size, were only $1, and even the poorest now are cheap at $7.

One item shows 6 pounds of butter were sold at 9 cents, but the buckwheat eater now must pay more for the butter on his cakes than the cakes are worth; 65 cents a pound is the prevailing price.

A bushel and a half of the best Kent apples were worth 37 cents; they now bring $1.50 for a small basket full. Potatoes were worth 24 cents a bushel and $1.25 is now needed to take home the same quantity.

Flour was nearly as high then as now, $8.75 a barrel. Sugar, too, was not cheap at 6 cents. There were compensations in living in those old days after all.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

The late J. K. Aldridge house located on Water street adjacent to my home.

The property has more recently been occupied by Mr. L. H. Wood and family, who is changing his address to New York City.

This property is reputed to have cost Mr. Aldridge during his life time over $16,000.00. It is one of the most substantial residences in Kent county, has a beautiful outlook on the river, plate glass windows throughout the entire front of the house and the wood work is exceptional, with electric fixtures installed.

Will sell the property at a bargain, but failing to do this would like to have a good tenant.
