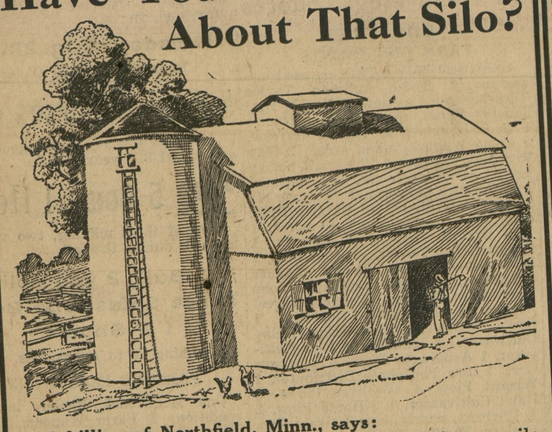
Have You Seen Us Yet About That Silo?



F. Schilling of Northfield, Minn., says:
"I am satisfied that every farmer should have a silo regardless of the size of his farm."

W. H. Schuerring of Sac City, Iowa, says:
"By converting corn into silage you double the feeding value per acre of your crop."

Gavin McKerrow of Waukesha County, Wis., says:
"We would no more think of farming without a silo than we would without a hay barn or granary."

Silos have done wonders in other parts of the country to increase farm profits.

If you can make more money with a silo on your farm, you ought to know about it. Write us for free particulars.

MEMORIES

Adown where the suns upon Dorchester glow,
The tides of the Choptank serenely flow
From bayous where once rode the birch-bark canoe,
Wherein Waltonites would their quarry pursue.

The river is rolling along by the shore,
Replete—we are told—with its mystical lore:—
The breezes that greet you from over the lee,
Are now but a jolly, sweet mem'ry to me.

Out there in the orchard where Albertas grow
The bees were a-wing and the fireflies a-glow:—
And there in the shadows of fruit ladened trees,
Were peaches that would e'en a gormand appease.

Our host was a courtier—his daughter a belle—
Our hostess a lady whom none can excel.
The peaches we gathered were luscious indeed,—
But,— "Those Peaches of Cambridge!" could aught them exceed?

So, here's to my "messmates," what more can I say?
We tasted the joys of a rare, perfect day.
And the song I now sing has but one refrain—
"We are waiting the day when we'll see you again."

Typhoid Fever

How To Prevent Its Spread

Issued by the

State Board of Health
OF MARYLAND

When Typhoid Fever appears in a family the source of the infection must be looked for in drinking water or food taken within the preceding twenty days. The patient may not have been infected at home, but if a second case occurs this second infection will in all probability be traced to the first patient. In a majority of instances the drinking water has become infected. Your first business, therefore,, is to find the quality of your drinking water.

You can do this by asking your local health officer, for instructions about shipping us samples of your drinking water. THE DAILY SUPPLY OF DRINKING WATER SHOULD BE BOILED.

The infectious material of typhoid fever is produced in but one way. It grows always in the bowels and sometimes in the bladder. It, therefore, escapes from the sick person in the stools and urine. If we kill the germs in the stools and urine as soon as they are passed, there can be no spread of typhoid fever. These discharges should, therefore, be disinfected as soon as possible. You will need a large quantity of a good disinfecting solution.

Receipt for a Good Disinfectant

To four gallons of water add enough salt to make a strong brine. Put this in a five-gallon demijohn or jug and add a quart of crude carbolic acid. Shake it up well and you will have a good disinfectant for stools and urine.

The crude carbolic acid, known as U. S. P. 90 per cent, is very good, and a quart will cost about 50 cents. There is a cheaper grade, known as a 36 per cent acid, which is nearly as effective.

About a pint of this solution should be put in the chamber or bed pan before it is used, so that the discharges will begin to be disinfected as soon as they leave the body. There must always be at least as much of the disinfecting solution as there is of the discharges, so that more of the disinfecting solution may need to be added after the discharges are passed. If the stools are thin and watery, their disinfection will be accomplished in half an hour or so; but if the stools are thick or formed very much, more time will be required. On that account it is best to have a covered jar or bucket into which the bed pan can be emptied, and to empty this jar only once in 24 hours. If the discharges cannot finally be thrown into a sewer they should be buried in the soil at a convenient spot where there is no chance of their fouling a water supply. The discharges should never be thrown upon the surface of the ground, for you will hardly be successful in killing all the typhoid bacilli, and you must not place them where those not killed by the acid may be blown about in the dust or carried away by the flies to infect other people.

In spite of every precaution those who wait on the sick person will get their hands infected, and it is therefore necessary to wash the hands every time one does any service about the patient's bed or body. Whoever waits on the patient must not prepare food or drink for other persons in the house. or if it is impossible to mind this rule, one must must carefully and thoroughly cleanse the hands before performing any household duty outside the sick room. Good scrubbing with soap, water and a brush, and then rinsing well in fresh water, will suffice for cleaning the hands.

If anyone else in the house falls sick within two weeks after the first patient, the probability is that the infection was lodged before the precautions were taken in regard to drinking water and the disposal of discharges. But if the second case occurs more than 20 days after the first case, that will signify that we have made a mistake somewhere in our precautions.

DR. GEORGE H. JONES,
Secretary Local Board of Health of Kent County, Galena, Md. a17-tf.
