MURDER.—A young man named Thos. E. Pearce, was shot dead in a house of ilt-fame, Baltimore, on Saturday evening last. A jury of inquest was held over the body and after due consultation delivered the following verdict:

"That the deceased came to his death from wounds in his head, from a gun in the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury, and that the jury further believe Catharine Shriver, Mary Miller any Elizabeth Brown are accessories to the deed." The parties have all been committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

General Walker.

New York, Nov. 9.—The Evening Post states that Gen. Walker sails this week from New Orleans with 1,500 troops for Nicaragua in a fine steamer, with plenty of provisions and ammunition.—Col. Duncan of the U.S. army commands his artillery.

☞ There were 105 deaths in Baltimore for the week ending Monday.

From the National Intelligencer.

REVIVAL OF THE WHIG PARTY AND ITS ISSUES.

In introducing to our readers the subjoined communication from an old subscriber in one of the far Southern States we may take occasion say that if the political and financial lessons which we have sought to educe and enforce from the monetary evils under which the whole country is now suffering had elicted no other approving voice than that of the intelligent gentleman to whom we are indebted for this favor, we should have been more than repaid for the labor which their incalculation has cost us.

Our readers will bear us witness that, in summing up the results of the past financial experiences of the country, and in pointing out the uses and advantages of a National Bank to give uniformity and stability to our currency, we have not assumed to ourselves the high prorogative of formally proposing the adoption of that measure by the Federal Legislature. Satisfied as we are of its constitutionality and policy we have yet, in the course of our long experience and observation, learned too much of the power, we may say the despotism, of party prejudice and party catch-words, in a country like ours, to cherish the sanguine hope that the proved beneficence of any proposition in politics will afford a guarantee of its acceptance when submitted to the popular ratification, not for trial upon its merits, but for its conformity to some political confession of faith.

In all that we have said, therefore, unthis head, we have sought rather to address ourselves to the candor and intelligence of our countrymen, without reference to partisan divisions at the present time or partisan aspirations for the future. Doubtless it cannot be considered otherwise than unfortunate that questions of pure finance and of public economy should be made the motive or occasion of political dissensions, demanding as they do for their wise adjudication and settlement the calmest consideration, with reference not to the exigencies of party, but to the interests and wants of the whole country. None, however, save those who love "agitation for agitation's sake," will venture to deny that financial and economical issues are much more desirable elements for political organization than those which of late years have entered into the constitution of our leading parties, and which have given a sectional complexion to nearly the whole aspect of our domestic politics. With the inevitable and imminent decline of these latter we might naturally expect the emergency of those which have been so long overlaid by them, but which, founded as they are upon the permanent interests of the Republic, cannot fail to re-assert their vitality at every season when, for any cause, the country is brought to consider its situation may be connexion with the political agencies to whose presence or absence that situation may be referred.

In another part to-day's Intelligencer the reader will find a few extracts from the contemporary press, in which the probable evolution of new issues, and of new political confederations based upon them, is considered as among the signs of the time through which we are now passing. To the same purport is the following communication, which it was our sole purpose to commend to the attention of our readers in inditing these preliminary observations, and of which we have only to say that it presents, in compact adjustment and logical arrangement, a "platform" of principles whose truth and policy will be as enduring as the Republic they seek to conserve and adorn.

SELMA, OCTOBER 30, 1857.

To the Editors of the Nat. Intelligencer:

An old Subscriber to your paper fully agrees with you in your opinions on the expediency and necessity of a Bank of the United States, and is utterly opposed to the State Bank system. It has always been difficult for me to reconcile the inconsistency of that class of politicians who hold that the State bank system is constitutional and that a United States Bank is unconstitutional. It seems to me clear that the bills for circulation of a State bank are "bills of credit" within the meaning and spirit of the Federal Constitution, and at this time they certainly are such to all intents and purposes; and though not issued by the State, they are authorized by the State to be issued; and no person or State can do indirectly that which they cannot do directly. But, however this may be, there are many, and among the number the writer includes himself, who would rejoice to see the Whig party organized on its old time-honored principles—

1. A United States Bank, as the safest and only constitutional bank.

2. A protective tariff, to foster home industry and secure commercial independence.

3. A judicious and equal system of external improvements by the General Government.

4. A distribution of the proceeds of the public lands among the several States, in proportion to population.

5. A opposition to sectionalism, and a rigid accountability of all public agents and officers.

6. An economical administration of the General Government, and a liberal and magnanimous foreign policy.

7. The maintenance of law and order at all hazards, and unyielding oppositions to "fillibusterism."

8. The Union for the sake of liberty and the old conservatism of the Whig party as the best means of perpetuating both.

With such principles, firmly advocated and boldly maintained on every occasion, if we did not succeed we would at least prove ourselves worthy of success.

As to myself, it would be a source of ever-flowing pleasure to be connected with such a party, even if its "manifest destiny" is to be defeated. A minority, if honest and sincere, will have its influence, and success is but a secondary consideration to being right. The first is the whole aim and object of the politician; the last of a patriot statesman.

It is to be hoped that the Old Guard will yet retrieve its honor, and, if it leads not to a glorious victory, it at least will march to an honorable grave, if our country and its liberties must go down as those of antiquity beneath the waves, first of demagogism and red republicanism, and then of a military despotism. We are in the midst of the first; shall we escape the second?

ALABAMA.

SEVERE SENTENCE.—James Symes, a white man, convicted at Charleston, on three separate indictments, viz: One for horse stealing, and two others for cow stealing, has received the following sentence.

For horse stealing to be imprisoned for six months, and on the first Monday in January, 1858, to receive twenty stripes on the bare back in the public market; on the first Monday in February twenty stripes; on the first Monday in March twenty stripes, and on the first Monday in April twenty stripes, and pay a fine of $200. The sentence for cow stealing in the first case is, to pay a fine of $50, and in default thereof receive twenty stripes; and for the second to pay a fine of $150, or in default thereof receive twenty stripes.

The Pennsylvania Bank.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9—The stockholders of the Pennsylvania Bank held a meeting to-day, when Col. Patterson, the President and the Board of Directors resigned their posts. Resolutions were passed appointing a committee to investigate the frauds and select new directors. Col. Patterson said that no report could be made under present circumstances but it was possible that by a careful nursing the debts of the Bank could be paid, and, perhaps, the bank resuscitated. Many of the speakers denounced President Allibone in most severe terms.—John M. Dutton defended his character and declared that he would return and no one would dare then repeat the slander. Great confusion followed and a storm of hisses and groans interrupted the speaker. A resolutions to accept the act legalizing the suspension was adopted when the meeting adjourned.

HOGS.—The Cincinnati Gazette of the 10th says:—The weather having turned cool, and being favorable for the Pork business, two of the slaughtering establishments commenced operations this morning. The Cincinnati House killed sixteen hundred, head, and had 1895 in the pens this evening. At another house about 200 were slaughtered. Should the weather continue favorable, the business will progress without interruption, the arrivals being fair for the season, and a large number having been contracted for delivery this month, they will be pushed forward without delay. The market presented a heavy appearance to-day. A lot of 800 head on the spot was offered at $5 50 per 100 lbs. net, without finding a purchaser. There were buyers at $5, and $5 25 would have been paid, perhaps, had the holder manifest a disposition to accept that figure. Packers are generally quite indifferent about operating. There is not, we think, a single eager purchaser in market. The future is regarded with a great deal of doubt, and there is more timidity manifested, even on the part of those who are noted for their "back bone," than we have noticed for many years.—The course of the trade will, as remarked previously, depend very much on the condition of the money market; but in any event, there promises to be a pressure that will operate against the establishment of prices that were calculated upon during the summer.

BALTIMORE MARKETS.

[CORRECTED FROM THE "SUN" OF THURSDAY.]

GRAIN AND SEEDS.—The receipts of Grain fair to-day. Wheat—A good demand from both the millers and shippers but some qualities declined fully 3 cents per bushel. About 14,000 bushels offered on 'change to-day, and all sold, fair to good red at 1 06a$1 12, prime red at 1 15a$18. Sales of ordinary to fair white at 1 15a$1 20, good to prime shipping do. at 1 25a$1 35, and sales of 600 bushels choice do. at $1 43 per bushel. Corn A good demand and receipts light; prices had rather a drooping tendency. About 3000 bushels offered on 'change to day, and all sold, good white at 72a73 cents, good to prime yellow at 72a75 cents: and good new crop white Corn at 66 cents per bushel. Rye—A good demand, but none offered to-day. We quote Pennsylvania Rye nominally at 80 cents, Maryland Rye at 75 cents per bushel. Oats Receipts fair and the market steady.—About 3000 bushels offered on 'change to-day, and all sold, good to prime Maryland and Virginia at 28a32 cents. We quote Pennsylvania Oats nominally at 33a36 cents per bushel. Seeds—Sales yesterday and to-day of 100 to 150 bushels Timothy seed at 2 25a$2 50. We quote Cloverseed nominally at 5a$5 50 per bushel.

MARRIED.

On Wednesday, 11th inst., by Rev. David Wilson, Mr. Wm. Stevens, of Talbot co, to Miss Rebecca W. Jones of Kent co., Md. [Easton Gazette please copy.]

DIED.

On the 10th inst., after a brief illness, ANTOINETTE daughter of John L. and Louisa Staun in the 15th year of her age.

In this place on Tuesday last, of pneumonia, Mrs. Rachel Duyer, relict of the late Philip Duyer.

In Baltimore on the 9th inst., Mrs. Mary Ann relict of the late Thos. N. Fuller.

At his residence, in the city of Baltimore on the 3d inst., Mr. John P. Sullivan, in the 78th year of his age, a native of Kent county. The deceased had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for upwards of 50 years, in good standing, attending to all its ordinances and institutions till within a brief period of his death, when he was disabled by disease. He was exemplary in all the relations of life. As a husband and parent, he had few, if any superiors, and as a business man, friend, neighbor and citizen, he was upright, conscientious, kind and benevolent. Where the life is right there is no apprehension in the hour of death.

The deceased was conscious for several days of his approaching dissolution—his desire was to depart and "be with Christ which was far better"—he looked for death with composure, and anxious for the embrace. He took leave of each member of his family and of children—imprinted a last mark of affection upon the cheek of each—expressed a husband and father and Christians blessing to all, and the word "glory" was the last articulate sound he uttered when he was translated by death, to that better country where he will realize the promises of the gospel and await that reunion with those whom he has left, if they are faithful as he was to the cause of his Redeemer: "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

Trustee's SALE.

BY virtue of a Decree of the Hon. P. B. Hopper, Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit of Maryland, the undersigned will expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, on the 10th day of December, 1857, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at the tavern porch of Mr. John McDaniel, in Chestertown, all that late the property of Angavine Warren deceased, lying in Still Pond Neck, in Kent county adjoining the lands of Dr. J Davidson, occupied by C. H. Jewell, and bordering on the Chesapeake Bay, with a fair view, &c. It contains by survey. There is a very ample supply of WOOD AND TIMBER, for the use of the farm—the latter composed of Chesnut.

Thursday,

Farm and Plantation,

The Farm is divided into eight fields under good fencing, well limed, and adapted peculiarly to the growth of Fruit Vegetables and Corn. Wheat also grows well.

The Buildings are a dwelling of Brick, two stories in height with a frame addition 1½ stories and Kitchen. The out-buildings are not large, but all the buildings are in good condition. There is a two story frame dwelling, recently erected, near the Bay, a division of the farm having been contemplated by the late owner.

This property is very convenient to the Baltimore and Philadelphia markets, adjoins Fishing Valley, one of the most celebrated fishing localities in the county—has a good Fishing Shore on the premises. By making inquiry at Still Pond Cross Roads and at Apsley's Mill, strangers can procure information of the road to the premises.

The Terms of Sale,

As prescribed by the decree, are, a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months from the day of sale, payable in three equal instalments, with interest from the 1st January next, to be secured by the bond of the purchaser, with security to be approved by the Trustee.

The farm being under rent for the year 1858, the purchaser will be entitled to the rent, and possession can be procured under the lease, on the 1st January 1859—situation healthy.

The creditors of the late Angevine Warren are notified to file their claims, duly authenticated, with the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Kent county, within four months from the day of sale.
