The Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN:

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 29, 1865.

THE NEWS.

President Johnson has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, the 25th of May, as a day of humiliation and mourning for the death of President Lincoln, to be observed in the United States wherever the flag of the country is respected, and he recommends the people then "to assemble in their respective places of worship, there to unite in solemn service to Almighty God in memory of the good man who has been removed, so that all will be occupied at the same time in contemplation of his virtues and in sorrow for his sudden and violent end."

Montgomery, the capital of Alabama, and noted as the place where the Rebel junta first commenced shop-keeping, has been captured by the Union forces. The Rebels retreated toward Columbus, Ga., and the stores and supplies at that point were being removed in anticipation of its capture. Columbus is about eighty miles east of Montgomery, on the Opelika railroad, and midway between Montgomery and Macon, at which latter place report located Jeff Davis last week. The only arsenals remaining to the Confederacy after the capture of Fayetteville and Richmond are located at Columbus and Augusta, Ga.

General Canby reports that he found in Mobile and its defenses, on the west side of the Bay, over one hundred and fifty guns and a very large amount of ammunition and supplies of all kinds, and about one thousand prisoners. A large amount of provisions and forage was also found, and the quantity of cotton captured will probably reach 30,000 bales.

Major General Hancock has offered a reward of $2,000 for the capture of Moseby, the notorious guerilla. Nearly all his gang, including several officers, have surrendered. Some of his own men are said to be hunting him for the reward.

Full and interesting particulars of the capture of Selma, Alabama, have been received. The first resistance met by Gen. Wilson's troops was at Monticello, where, after a short engagement, Roddy's Rebels were routed. They retreated, skirmishing for about twenty-seven miles, when on the 1st inst., having formed a junction with Forrest, Lyon and Chalmers, the first named took command, and the Rebels again made a stand, but were driven in every direction, with the loss of 100 killed and wounded, over 200 prisoners, and 3 pieces of artillery. They then retreated to Selma, where behind very strong works an obstinate defence was prepared for.—On the 2d inst. General Wilson moved to the attack of this place, and after about an hour of severe fighting the fortifications were carried by assault; his troops entered the town, capturing over 2,000 prisoners, 100 cannon, large numbers of horses and mules, and immense quantities of supplies, ammunition, &c. Besides these there fell into Gen. Wilson's possession millions of dollars worth of cotton, a large arsenal, naval iron works and other manufactories, all of which, together with many buildings belonging to prominent Rebels, were destroyed.

The Army of the Potomac is undergoing some important changes just now.—The Ninth Corps has been sent to Washington to be stationed along the Orange and Alexandria Railroad as a guard for that important line of communication.—The Sixth Corps has moved off in support of a large body of cavalry, and is supposed to be on the way to join Sherman. The Second and Fifth Corps are still encamped along the Southside Railroad, near the scene of the late conflict.

On Monday morning the transport steamer Massachusetts with a load of exchanged and paroled prisoners, collied in the Potomac river with the steamer Black Diamond, one of the picket boats of the Potomac flotilla. Both vessels were badly damaged, the Diamond being sunk, and it is estimated that at least fifty lives were lost by the collision.

On Monday one of the conspirators in the assassination plot, named Paine, attempted to knock his brains out against the walls of the apartment in which he is confined at Washington. He failed to accomplish his purpose, though badly cutting himself about the head. He has been so secured that he cannot make a similar attempt.

Junius Brutus Booth has been arrested and committed to the Old Capitol prison on the suspicion that he had a knowledge of his brother's intention to assassinate the President.

Secretary Seward had so far recovered from his injuries as to be able to ride out on Wednesday in a carriage. Mr Frederick Seward continues improve.

Several paroled officers of Lee's army having signified their desire to go abroad to Europe or elsewhere, General Ord informs them that passports and passage will be furnished them to Halifax.

It is stated that General Sherman will be relieved by General Grant, and be required to answer for his assumed offense before a military court.

Three men were hung at Camp Burnside, Indianapolis, last Saturday morning, for expressing gratification at the assassination of President Lincoln.

BOOTH CAPTURED.

He Resists, is Shot and Killed.

CAPTURE OF HAROLD.

They Arrive in Washington.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

War Department, Washington, April 27th, 9.30 A. M.—Major General Dix, New York: J. Wilkes Booth and Harold were chased from the swamp in St. Mary's county, Maryland, to Garrett's farm near Port Royal, on the Rappahannock, by Col. Baker's forces. The barn in which they took refuge was fired. Booth, in making his escape, was shot through the head and killed, lingering about three hours; and Harold was captured.

Booth's body and Harold are now here.

(Signed) EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

Interesting Particulars.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The Star has the following particulars of the discovery and shooting of Booth:

It seems that a detachment of the Sixteenth New York Cavalry, numbering about twenty-five men, which was dispatched from this city on Monday, under the direction of Colonel S. C. Baker, Special Detective of the War Department, in command of Lieutenant Dougherty, accompanied by some of Colonel Baker's officers, captured and killed Booth, and captured Harold, one of his accomplices, alive.

The cavalry after leaving here landed at Belle Plain in the night, and immediately started out in pursuit of Booth and Harold, having previously ascertained from a colored man that they had crossed the river into Virginia at Swan Point in a small canoe, hired by Booth from a man for $300. Proceeding on towards Bowling Green, some three miles from Port Royal, Lieut. Dougherty, who was in command of the cavalry, discovered that Booth and Harold were secreted in a large barn owned by a man named Garrett, and were well armed. The cavalry then surrounded the barn and summoned Booth and his accomplice to surrender.

Harold was inclined at first to accede to the request, but Booth accused him of cowardice, and then they both peremptorily refused to surrender and made preparations to defend themselves.

In order to take the conspirators alive, the barn was fired, and the flames getting too hot for Harold, he approached the door of the barn and signified his willingness to be taken prisoner.

The door was then opened sufficiently to allow Harold to put his arms through that he might be handcuffed, and as an officer was about placing the irons upon Harold's wrists, Booth fired upon the party from the barn, which was returned by Sergeant Boston Corbett, of the 16th New York regiment, the ball striking Booth in the neck, from the effects of which he died in about four hours.

Booth, before breathing his last, was asked if he had anything to say, when he replied: "Tell my mother that I died for my country."

The statement heretofore published that Booth had injured one of his legs by the falling of his horse, has proven to be correct. After he was shot it was discovered that one of his legs was badly injured, and that he was compelled to wear an old shoe and use crutches, which he had with him in the barn.

Booth was shot about 4 o'clock in the morning, and died about 7 o'clock. He had upon his person bills of exchange, but only $175 in Treasury notes.

It appears that Booth and Harold left Washington together on the night of the murder of President Lincoln, and passed through Leonardtown, Maryland, concealing themselves in the vicinity until an opportunity was offered them to cross the river at Swan Point, which they did as above stated.

The man who hired Booth and his accomplice the boat in which he crossed the river, was captured we understand, but afterwards made his escape. Harold has been lodged in a secure place.

Bowling Green near which place Booth was killed is a post village, the capital of Caroline county, Virginia, on the road from Richmond to Fredericksburg, forty-five miles north of the former.

The Status of the Paroled Rebels.

IMPORTANT ORDER.

Secretary Stanton has promulgated in a general order an opinion of the Attorney General of the United States in relation to the status of the paroled officers of Lee's army. Mr. Speed says that "the Rebel officers who surrendered to Gen. Grant have no homes within the loyal States, and have no right to come to places which were their homes prior to their going into the rebellion." He also says that persons who have been in the civil service of the rebellion, or otherwise given it support, aid and comfort, have no right to return. The opinion concludes as follows: "Rebel officers certainly have no right to be wearing their uniforms in any of the loyal States. It seems to me that such officers, having done wrong in coming into the loyal States, are but adding insult to injury in wearing their uniforms. They have as much right to bear the traitors' flag thro' the streets of a loyal city as to wear the traitors' garb. The stipulation of surrender permits no such thing, and the wearing of such a uniform is an act of hostility against the Government."

Commanders of military divisions, departments, districts, detachments and posts are required by the Secretary of War to give attention to the above opinion, and act in accordance therewith.

Major Gen. Wallace, commanding this Department, has issued an order requiring the immediate arrest of all Rebel officers, soldiers and citizens in the Middle Department, who are to be held in confinement, to be disposed of as may be directed hereafter by the General Government. The effect of this will be, it is presumed, to return the parties South, except in cases where special exception may be granted.

Union Meeting.

A meeting of the Union citizens of Kent county was held at the Court House, in Chestertown, on Thursday afternoon last, for the "purpose of adopting measures of precaution, rendered necessary by the impending dissolution of the rebellion, the return of peace, and the future peace and quiet of the county." On motion, Col. Edward Wilkins was called to the chair, and Thos. A. Norris and R. J. Ruth appointed Secretaries.

The following named gentlemen were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting: Hon. J. B. Ricaud, Capt. Thos. D. C. Ruth, and George W. Crossley. The committee reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted:

WHEREAS, since the surrender of the so-called Confederate forces, under the command of Gen. Lee, to the Federal army under the command of Lieut. Gen. Grant, paroled prisoners have under their construction of the terms of said surrender, returned to the loyal States, in which they had been citizens, and from which they had voluntarily removed and taken up residence within the limits of territory in open rebellion against the United States Government and joined themselves to said rebellion; and whereas, the authorities of the National Government, under the advice of the Attorney General, have determined that such persons had forfeited their rights as citizens within the limits of the loyal States, and at this time had no right to return to such former homes, and which determination is full and sufficient protection to the loyal citizens of Kent and the other counties of Maryland from all apprehension to be caused by the presence of such paroled prisoners whose disloyalty was open and avowed; therefore

Resolved, That this meeting deem it unnecessary to take any further action upon the matter, and repose with entire confidence upon the action of the General Government.

Resolved, That this meeting regard with feelings of the deepest horror and detestation the brutal and cowardly assassination of the late President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, and in common with their fellow citizens of the whole country deplore his death as a great national calamity, and entertain the earnest hope that the majesty of the law and outraged justice may be speedily vindicated by the arrest and punishment of the wicked perpetrators of the most fiendish murder.

Resolved, That the loyal citizens of this county will maintain and support Andrew Johnson, the President of the United States, in all legal and constitutional means to advance the peace and integrity of the Union one and undivided, and to bring to merited punishment the originators and leaders in the present unholy rebellion, and who have proven themselves guilty of the rankest treason against the Constitution of the country.

Mr. J. N. McDaniel offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee to consist of fifteen persons (three from each election district) be appointed by the chair, whose duty it shall be to assist the properly appointed officers to carry out the orders of the Secretary of War, by the arrest of all persons coming into this county from the armies of the so-called Confederate States.

The meeting then adjourned.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The April term of the Circuit Court of Kent county, adjourned from the 17th inst., commenced its session on Monday last. Present: Hon. John M. Robinson, Judge, and all the officers of the Court.

After empanneling the Grand Jury the Clerk administered to each the juror's oath of allegiance, and also the attorney's oath to the members of the bar.

The Court was engaged for two days in the trial of cases of assault and battery, of no special interest. John Mathews, supervisor, for neglect of public roads, was fined $5 and costs; and Wm. Robinson, for neglecting bridge on public road under his supervision, was fined $5 and costs. Jim Anderson, col'd, indicted for stealing chickens, was found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary for twelve months.

Both the Grand and Petit Juries were discharged on Thursday, and the Court adjourned on Friday.

RAILROAD MEETING.—A protracted session of Court on Tuesday interfering with the railroad meeting advertised to take place on that day, the meeting was adjourned to Thursday next, at 2 o'clock P. M. It is expected that the gentlemen appointed to solicit subscriptions to stock will be prepared to report, and it is hoped that there will be a general attendance of all who feel interested in the success of the road.

DEATH OF A STATE SENATOR.—Daniel Jones, Esq., State Senator from this county, died at his residence near Kennedyville, on Sunday morning, of paralysis. Mr. Jones was frequently detained from his seat in the Senate during the late session of the Legislature in consequence of affliction. He was a man of strict integrity, of fine sense and good business capacities.

THE CROPS.—Farmers from all parts of the county inform us that the wheat looks remarkably well. We learn that some peach orchards in the upper part of the county have been considerably injured by recent frosts.

LICENSES.—Monday next, May 1st, is the last day for doing business under old licenses. Persons selling after that time without obtaining a new license are liable to prosecution and fine.

MRS. LINCOLN.—The Washington Star of Wednesday evening says:

Mrs. Lincoln is yet greatly depressed in spirits, but is recovering somewhat from the prostration occasioned by Mr. Lincoln's sudden death. She is unable to leave her room as yet, however, and is constantly attended by Mrs. Secretary Welles. Mrs. Lincoln will probably leave for her home, in Illinois, about the latter part of May.

☞ Attention is called to the advertisement of sale of town property belonging to the estate of the late S. E. Baker, to take place on Monday next.

BEEHIVES.—We call attention to the advertisement of Bryan Tyson, relative to Beehives, to be found in another column.

DEATHS.

At his residence in Kent county, near Kennedyville, on Sunday morning last, the 23d inst., DANIEL JONES, Esq., in the 69th year of his age. The death of Mr. Jones will cause a vacancy in the Senate of Maryland from this county. [Obituary next week.]

At his residence, in Quaker Neck, of pneumonia, on the 21st instant, CORNELIUS C. BROWN, in the 44th year of his age.

Near Chestertown, on the 18th inst., of congestion of the brain, DANIEL McCLELLAN, youngest son of Daniel and Mary M. Cox, aged 1 year, 4 months and 5 days.

This lovely bud, so young and fair,
Was called by early doom,
To leave this world of pain and care,
In Paradise to bloom.

And by and by, when life is past,
And troubles are no more,
We'll go and join him hand in hand,
Around that peaceful shore.

On the 16th inst., near Black's Cross Roads, in Kent county, of pulmonary consumption, aged 22 years and 1 month, Miss LYDIA ANN ROUSE, daughter of Mr. Robert H. Rouse, and his former wife Sophia.

From very early years she was remarkable for thoughtfulness, prayerfulness and amiable deportment. For more than two years, that fatal disease which had, years ago, carried off her mother and her two sisters, became fully developed in her. While languishing, with occasional hemorrhages and other effects of that terrible disorder, she gave herself largely to retirement, meditation and prayer. Not being very favorably situated for attendance on public worship, she strove to make up this deficiency of the public means of grace by "working hard" (to use her own words,) in the diligent calling upon God in private.

Very gradually, yet steadily, she thus attained a religious experience, which made her very happy when called to die. She then overcame her natural reserve and timidity, so as to testify to her weeping friends her great peace and joy. She declared that she had had no idea that one could be so happy in death!

May God bless her sorrowing relatives greatly, and bring them all to meet her in Heaven.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN BEEHIVES.

Ahead of Everything of the Kind that has yet been Patented.

A SURE PREVENTIVE AGAINST MOTH.

On receipt of one dollar a circular containing a fine engraving with full directions will be forwarded, which will enable you to construct this hive (no difficulty whatever in the mechanism,) or to attach the fixtures to any other hive. The common box hive fixed in this way would, in my humble judgment, be rendered far superior to any of the two hundred and twenty-five hives that have been patented since the burning of the Patent Office in 1836.

Bees delight to work in these hives.

$2500 REWARD. To any person who will produce a more effective preventive against the bee moth, to say nothing of its great simplicity and cheapness over all others, the above reward will be given.

This advertisement will appear in this paper but this once. Therefore secure this valuable invention by ordering at once as it is positively worth to any person engaged in the bee business more than twenty-five times the price asked for it. All orders should be addressed to
