A FEARFUL PROSPECT.

General Butler, having been elected to Congress, is likely to be afforded an opportunity of carrying out the terrible threats he has been making against President Johnson. But we judge that there is danger of his weakening himself by undertaking too much. For it appears from speeches recently made by himself, as well as by his principal backer, Wendell Phillips, that Butler is almost as bitterly opposed to General Grant as he is to the President. The charges against Grant are no less serious than those against Johnson—the former being jointly responsible with the latter for the New Orleans massacre, the Memphis riot and the Baltimore troubles, as he was also a joint partner in the President's Western tour. Butler's dealing with Grant will also be enlivened by his personal vindictiveness toward the head of the army, which has been so long restrained. It came near finding vent a year ago, when Butler had a book printed (which for some reason has not yet been published) showing up Grant in a style more pungent than complimentary—so we are informed. Neither is Butler likely to confine himself to Grant and Johnson when he gets going. He has accounts not merely political, to settle with Sherman; and there are a number of distinguished officers, of only less fame, such as Gens. Gilmore and Baldy Smith, and Admiral Porter, who cannot be overlooked, and might as well be knocked down in the general melee. In fact, when Butler gets into Congress he will have to lay around him right and left, if he means to get even with all who have been the objects of his wrath. We are glad that a year must intervene before he takes his seat and opens out.—N. Y. Times.

AN INCIDENT—A Lesson for the Politicians.—Whilst the whole country has been suffering from the old feuds, born originally of the war, and kept alive by vengeful politicians, a scene was witnessed at the great Horse Fair here on Saturday, which should set these mischief breeders to thinking:

It happened that General Grant was present at the Fair, and occupying one of the stands, when his attention was called to the fact that General Jo. Johnston was upon the other—the question being put—"Would he like to see him?"

"Certainly," was the reply of the General, "There is no man on the ground I would be more pleased to see!"

General Johnston was sent for, and a cordial greeting took place betwixt the distinguished soldiers; and whilst this was going on, General Stoneman also made his appearance, a like cordial meeting occurring, the three occupying the stand for a couple of hours in company.

Now, this may seem a trifle; but it nevertheless conveys a deep and much needed lesson; for until the masses of our people can in like manner consent to bury old antagonisms, none need ever expect that we shall have a Union to be proud of and worth cherishing.—Balt. Commercial.

THE ELECTION IN ALLEGANY COUNTY.—Of the election in Allegany county the Alleganian says:

"The contest in Allegany is over, and the returns exhibit majorities against our candidate for Senator and all but one of our nominees for the lower House of the State Legislature. Figures don't lie, it is said, but in this case they do not represent the truth or demonstrate the sentiment of the county. Fairness, honesty and simple justice elects every man on the Conservative ticket. Not one of the Radicals who claim to be chosen here will hold his seat. In several districts of the county the basest means were resorted to to prevent an expression of the popular will, and in some localities, where the Conservatives were in a minority, the Radicals exercised intimidation by attending the polls as an armed force."

The Legislature will no doubt give this case proper attention.

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.—Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 20.—Governor Worth's message has been sent to the Legislature. After discussing purely local affairs and the hopeful aspect, he then declares that law and order exists at all points of the State, and that the civil authorities are adequate for the punishment of all offenders. The courts are in operation effectively, and justice is meted out to men of all colors. He opposes negro suffrage and the constitutional amendment, and recommends the Northern States to encourage the diffusion of freedmen in their midst. He says everything seems to invite immigration to the dominant States, but most of the freedmen are too poor to pay the expenses of moving thither; but this difficulty may be overcome, he thinks, by diverting the appropriation to sustain the Freedmen's Bureau to the defraying of the expenses of those who may choose to move.

EXTENSIVE FRAUD ON THE GOVERNMENT.—The United States revenue officers have detected immense frauds upon the government by various importers of cherry and other wines, and silks and ribbons. Seizures of property of this class to the amount of more than a million of dollars have been made in New York. One firm paid $53,000 as a compromise for its alleged frauds upon the revenue, another paid $50,000, and a third proposes to pay $40,000.—Heavy seizures of a like character have been made in New Orleans and San Francisco. It is estimated that there will be secured to the government revenues by these seizures, in the aggregate, about $1,700,000. The government special agents who discovered and brought to light these frauds will make about $400,000 as fees.

PROBABLE HOMICIDE.—A man named Thomas Redman, of Kent county, Delaware, was recently found dead near the gate of Samuel Powell, on the De Ford fard, in Queen Anne's county, Maryland, the dividing line between Delaware and Maryland, in the neighborhood of Blanco.
