MONTEREY SPRINGS, Aug. 1.

[illegible]ed this place a week ago. The situ[illegible]ything that could be desired by one [illegible]alaria. The atmosphere is bracing [illegible]very day so far during our stay has [illegible]t, and the nights comfortable with [illegible] covers. At this writing (7 P. M.) the thermometer marks 58°; 80° is about as high as it ever gets.

The patrons of these Springs generally are Baltimoreans, the Western Maryland Railroad placing them within three hours' ride. There are others here now, however, and some from the Eastern Shore. Among those with whom I have formed a most agreeable acquaintance, I may mention of Cambridge, a gentleman of as large and lengthy experience in Maryland legislative affairs probably as any man in the State. He loves to "live over again" the scenes of bygone days at the Ancient City, and he marks with a touch of sadness the fact that nearly all his associates of those days have passed away. The Doctor is accompanied by his wife, a most estimable and intelligent lady, and their grand-daughter, Mrs. Kleckner, wife of Engineer Kleckner, of the U. S. Navy. Dr. Phelps' public life in Annapolis covered a period of nearly fifty years; he was in the House from '28 to '49; in the Senate ten years in succession; and in constitutional conventions at different times. He was the author of the biennial session bill which passed the Legislature in '47 and was adopted by a vote of the people of the State the following year by only about four thousand majority. A very earnest effort was made in the constitutional convention of '51 to [illegible] the annual sessions, but was defeated by [illegible]nest efforts of Dr. Phelps and others. The [illegible] was also prominently identified with [illegible]ise measures abolishing lotteries in the [illegible]d taking from the Legislature the right [illegible]t divorce; he wrote the reports recom[illegible]g these measures. He is a zealous advo[illegible] the taxation of mortgages, and in the [illegible]f '76 succeeded in passing such a meas[illegible] it was defeated in the House by a close [illegible] Dr. Phelps claims that through his efforts [illegible]genuine reforms for Maryland have been [illegible]plished than by any other one man in the [illegible]. He is now in his 83d year, and continues [illegible]ake a lively interest in public affairs.

COL. J. THOS. SCHARF, OF BALTIMORE,

[illegible]another of the notables here, and is one of the most genial gentlemen we have met. He is accompanied by his wife, a most estimable lady, and three children. Col. Scharf has gained extended reputation by his historical writings. His History of Maryland received the approbation of both the Legislature and Court of Appeals, while his "Chronicles of Baltimore," History of Baltimore City and County, and History of Western Maryland, were all works of recognized merit. The Colonel is now engaged in writing a history of St. Louis, Mo., and has also contracted to write the history of Philadelphia for the great publishing house of Lippincott & Co.—a marked compliment to his ability as a historian. Col. Scharf is a native of Baltimore, is now in his 40th year, and for his age has written more valuable historical works than any one in the State. For his abilities as a historian Georgetown College conferred upon him, last year, the honorary degree of A. M. The Colonel has also been at different times upon the editorial staff of several of the Baltimore dailies, and is now a regular contributor to the Sun and many of the Northern newspapers and magazines. He was the orator of the day at the recent sesqui-centennial celebration in Baltimore, and some years ago delivered an address for the benefit of one of the Orphan Asylums of the city, which was extensively published in this country and Europe.

DR. M. HAMMOND,

a noted homeopathist of Baltimore, is also one of our popular guests. He is acquainted with many persons in Kent, and correctly esteems our county a favored section of the State. Dr. H. is associated with him Dr. Wm. B. Turner, son of R. T. Turner, Esq., of Kent.

PEN-MAR AND HIGH ROCK.

Last week [illegible]d these two noted points. They are [illegible]es distant from here, and are [illegible]tions from Baltimore. Pen-Mar is three miles from that [illegible] the place is a beautiful grove upon a high summit of the Blue Ridge, and is provided with dancing pavilions, dining-houses and all sorts of amusements, but no permanent buildings or lodging places. Thousands visit the place every day. At the above numerous conveyances are always in waiting to carry excursionists to High Rock, the great point of interest, about two miles farther away and higher up the mountain, for which the very reasonable charge of 25 cents round trip is made. Just here we may remark that everything here is regulated by the railroad authorities, and conducted upon the wise principle of fair dealing—no gouging. A splendid dinner is furnished for 50 cents, and one is not limited to a single dish of fried chicken among the substantials or one plate of ice-cream for dessert. Evidently the management believe that there is a future for the place.

High Rock is said to be upon the highest peak of at one of the Blue Ridge; it is in itself a veritable mountain of stone—the immense boulders rising one upon another up to and above the highest point surrounding. Upon this is built a substantial three-story structure, from which the more clearly to view the surrounding scenery. We did not feel at all "at home" in this building; our nerves were not at all equal to the task of a "square view" from even the first story, so fearful looked the measureless depths before us! But after a little familiarizing we were enabled to take observations from each of the several stories of the building, and a lovelier scene—a grander view in one sweep of the eye—we never beheld! Two thousand feet below us, and stretching out to the view for miles and miles, in front and on either hand, lay the beautiful Cumberland Valley; the fenced fields like little squares of variegated hues—here one of green clover and adjoining it a golden stubble, others of fallow, of corn and orchard—all combined to form a picture of surpassing magnificence. A picture indeed!—and in it we saw the Master Hand whose skill alone can paint the rainbow, gild the mountain or cover the valleys with carpets of green. With a small glass the towns of Waynesboro', Pa., to the right, and Hagerstown, to the left, can be seen six or eight miles away, and some think they can see the outlines of Gettysburg, nearly twenty miles distant. It is certainly worth all the cost and trouble of a trip to High Rock to take but a ten minutes' survey of the scene presented from that point.

MOUNTAIN RESORTS.

These Springs are among the oldest of the mountain summer resorts. "Monterey" is a substantial brick structure with a number of outlying cottages, estimated to accommodate about 250 guests; it is kept by Mrs. M. V. Hubbell, who seems to know "how to keep a hotel." It has decided advantages over all the other resorts in this latitude; towering peaks of the Blue Ridge look down upon us from every direction; crystal springs from beds of rock offer their cooling draughts, and refreshing breezes continually stir the leaves of the trees and give comfort to the physical man. The "Clermont" is another hotel a little more than a stone's throw from this; it is also a capacious building and well patronized. The most beautiful view to be had in this immediate vicinity is that looking North from its verandah—a long narrow valley called Fountain Dale, and stretching out for miles between two spurs of the Blue Ridge. "Buena Vista" is another hotel of some note about a mile distant. Its waters are said to be the finest in the mountains. I have not attempted a diagnosis of any of the springs, but learn that magnesia and iron abound in many of them.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY.

We have had the pleasure of a ride through this Valley, and though stripped of the romantic beauty it possessed when viewed from High Rock, it yet has its attractions. Disadvantages, however, are readily apparent to any Kent countian. Its turnpike road to Waynesboro'—a distance of about seven miles—is a continuous bed of ground rock and broken stone, and the jostle and jolt of your vehicle is just about as continuous. Pikesville, the first village on the route, reminds you by its length of Church Hill, but in no other particular. Guest's Hall would swallow about a half dozen of the best buildings in it; the post-office building, in appearance, is comparable only to the smallest and meanest of the dwellings on "Scotch Point;" Dan Wright's new domicile up town is a palace to it! Waynesboro' is a little larger than Chestertown in population and a great deal larger in manufacturing interest. It is a thriving place, has a number of fine public buildings, several good newspapers, large stores and pretty churches. The oddest thing we noticed here was an "old time" pump with its enormous trough-box in the centre of the street midway the town.

FARMS AND FARM BUILDINGS.

The farms in the Valley are all small; the fields looked nothing more than lots of from two to ten acres, though we were told of a field somewhere in the Valley that contained over thirty acres. But the farmers understand their business. Especially do they excel in wheat growing—the average crop in the Valley this year we are told will be 35 to 40 bushels per acre. Corn also looks well but we believe Kent has just as good, and peach trees here are about as scarce as apricots with us.

The capacious barns are noticeable on all the farms. These immense structures appear provided with every convenience, and in their erection seem to have commanded much more of the farmers' attention than their dwellings. Some very mean little dwellings are found crouched beneath the eaves and in the shadow of the imposing brick barns, though we noticed that generally the dwellings were very neat and provided with plenty shade trees.

THE WAR.

In this locality were enacted some of the most terrible scenes of the civil war. In the Gettysburg campaign Gen. Lee occupied this county, and Gen. Longstreet had his headquarters in this very hotel. Not far distant the fearful struggle of Gettysburg occurred, and in this immediate vicinity a cavalry battle was fought between Stewart and Kilpatrick. Along the turnpike road by these doors the long and weary retreat was made by the discomfitted Confederates; rifle-pits are yet discernible at various points and residents will show you the mounds of victims of the bullet and march, and detail vividly some of the fearful incidents of that fearful time.

TURNPIKE ROADS.

The turnpike road we have referred to belongs to a private corporation; toll-gates are maintained at a distance of every five miles and all travellers in vehicles are required to pay. The cost is about a cent and a-half a mile for a single team. The revenue is large, but it requires a great deal to keep them in repair. These roads have this merit, the expense of their maintenance is borne exclusively by those who use them.

NOBODY enjoys the nicest surroundings if they are in bad health. There are miserable people about to-day to whom a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic would bring more solid comfort than all the medicine they have ever tried.—News.

ROLAND

CHILLED PLOWS.

Every farmer in Maryland should use the "Roland." The Mouldboard is hard as steel. They will do more work than any other plow with the same amount of draft. They run level and easy to the plowman. They will scour in any soil. Having the reversible slip point, sloping landside and chilled shares, they cost less for repairs than any other plow in the market. Made in Baltimore, the repairs can always be obtained without delay. The workmanship, material and finish is of the best. There are fourteen sizes and kinds, and they are suited to all kinds of soil. Send for descriptive circular.

CHAMPION

GRAIN DRILL.

This Drill has force feed distributors for both wheat and grass seed, and has the only fertilizer distributor that will not clog, and will evenly distribute wet and sticky phosphate. It will sow grain, grass seed and fertilizer more satisfactorily than any other drill in America. It is the simplest and strongest drill made. It is more easily managed and less liable to get out of order than any drill in the market. As it is the leading drill in this market, and several thousands have been sold during the past few years, a large stock of repairs is always on hand. Send for circular.

BRITISH MIXTURE.

The popularity of this celebrated fertilizer is not due alone to the price, but to the fact that its effects are uniformly good, and that it has been found the equal of the highest priced and best phosphates in the market. It gives more value for each dollar paid than any other fertilizer in the land. Send for circular and price list.

To WHEAT GROWERS.

The undersigned, PIONEER in the manufacture of FERTILIZERS in this city and ORIGINATOR in 1858 of the formulas and process of manufacture of

'Excelsior" and Ammoniated Phosphate,

So well and favorably known by the agricultural public, relying upon his experience and personal reputation hitherto acquired in the uniform excellence of these FERTILIZERS as manufactured by him, continues to offer them to the Farmers and Planters of Maryland and Virginia, with the assurance that the High Standard Quality of each will be maintained as heretofore.

The above are the most concentrated FERTILIZERS ever offered to the farmer, combining all the stimulating qualities of Peruvian Guano and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Bones in fine, dry powder, prepared expresly for drilling.

For growing Wheat, it is the universal opinion of the farmers of Maryland and Virginia, after over twenty years' experience in the use of these Fertilizers manufactured by me, that an application of 100 pounds is equal in its effects to 200 lbs. of any other Fertilizer or Guano, therefore fully 50 per cent. cheaper.

With my present advantages and superior facilities for manufacturing, I challenge competition with any Fertilizer sold in the United States, in quality, mechanical condition and price.

By strictly adhering to my original formulas, using only the most concentrated materials and superintending in person their manufacture, as for the past twenty-four years,

Uniform Quality is Guaranteed.

☞ Farmers, to secure the ONLY GENUINE EXCELSIOR and PHOSPHATE prepared according to my original formulas established in 1858, should see that every bag is branded as above, with the ANALYSIS and MY NAME IN RED LETTERS.
