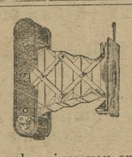
EASTMAN KODAKS AND KODAK SUPPLIES



Ordinary photography gives you one thing—the picture. Autographic photography gives you three things—picture, date and title. Obviously enough, autographic photography is possible only through an autographic camera and this feature is exclusively Eastman.

With an Autographic Kodak or Autographic Brownie used with autographic film, the date and title of the picture may be photographically imprinted on the negative margin at the time of the exposure—a permanent identifying record without interferring with the usual operation of the Kodak in any way, without entailing extra expense of any kind the autographic feature stands ready to render you important service at all times, and in connection with at least two types of pictures, a service that is invaluable.

DAIRY FACTS

SILO NECESSARY FOR DAIRY

Increase of 7½ Per Cent Made on Missouri Farm by Feeding Cows on Silage.

No man who is milking a herd of a dozen or more cows can ever hope to make maximum returns from his herd without a silo, according to E. M. Harmon, dairy extension specialist for the Missouri College of Agriculture. This statement was proved by the Missouri Cow Testing associations during the past year, as shown in the following results:

Cows receiving silage produced an average of 5,798 pounds of milk, 266.8 pounds of fat and a profit above feed cost of $108.60 per cow. Cows without silage averaged 5,189 pounds of milk, 252.7 pounds of fat and a profit of $101.02 per cow. The difference was 609 pounds of milk, 13.9 pounds of fat and $7.58 cents per cow in one year.

This means an increase of 7½ per cent in profit due to the silo. The average man would go a long way to market his wheat for 7½ per cent more. It is worth that much to build a silo and we must have a lot more of them before we will reach the economy we should in butterfat production.

BIG VALUE OF COW-TESTING

Some Convincing Comparisons of Best and Poorest Herd Brought Out by Expert.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

With figures from a Virginia cow-testing association as the basis for his calculations a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture has made some convincing comparisons of the best herd and the poorest herd, that bring out with unusual emphasis the value of testing.

There were 511 cows owned by members of the association. The best herd consisted of 16 cows, with an average of 306 pounds of butter fat in a year. The poorest herd had 91 cows, averaging 155 pounds of butter fat in a year. The first herd made an average income of $75 per cow over the cost of feed consumed; the latter made an average return over feed cost of only 64 cents per cow.

The introduction of a few variations on these figures will help to show just how far apart were these cows in the two herds. The average cow in the best herd produced more income above the cost of feed than all of the 91 cows in the other herd. It would require 117 cows like the average in the poor herd to equal in profit production one of the cows in the top herd. To equal the herd of 16 good cows a farmer would have to keep 1,872 animals like the average cow in this poor herd.
