IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of Ella E. Chance, who departed this life one year ago January 16, 1923.

In the graveyard, softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In her lonely and silent grave.
From the world of pain and sorrow,
To the land of peace and rest,
God has taken you, dear sister,
Where you have found eternal rest.

By Brother Vickers and Wife.

Day by day we saw you fade
And gently pass away;
Yet often in our hearts we prayed
That you might longer stay.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell,
Of the grief that is borne in silence
Of the one we loved so well.

By Grandfather and Grandmother.

Although you could not speak to us,
Nor could you say good-bye,
But we know your thoughts were with us all
When you were called to die.

WHAT "INFORMATION" CAN AND CANNOT TELL YOU

When a telephone subscriber looks in his directory for a certain number and does not find it, he calls the operator and asks for "Information," whereupon she replies "I'll give you Information" and immediately connects him with one of the Information operators who have access to the latest records of names, numbers and addresses of all subscribers who have been connected since the most recent issue of the directory. After obtaining the number, the subscriber puts the call through in the usual way.

Most companies make it a rule to confine the work of Information operators to giving information which has a direct bearing on establishing telephone connections. They are not allowed to answer subscribers' questions as to the time of day, the location of fires, the outcome of athletic contests, elections, etc., because it might at times result in a serious congestion that would prove detrimental to the regular service and impose a heavy burden upon the operators.

ITALIAN TELEPHONE USER NEEDS PATIENCE OF SAINT

Telephones will be the first of the publicly owned utilities in Italy to go back to private enterprise, according to Signor Giovanni Colonna di Cesaro, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs under Mussolini.

"Our telephones are nearly the worst in the world," he said in a recent interview. "Excepting Russia, no civilized country has so little telephonic develoomment. As to quality our telephones are even worse. Telephonnig in Italy . . . is a Christian and spiritual exercise in divine patience. More than 8,000 villages are without any telephonic connection. The blame must be laid indirectly on the State."

Definite action by the Italian Cabinet has confirmed the proposed transfer of the telephones to private companies, and bids have been requested.
