MANAGER W. G. HASKELL. ADDRESS CONFIDENTIALLY

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

BAY SIDE FARM—BETTERTON,
KENT COUNTY, MARYLAND.
BY MATILDA PRICE CANBY.

From the low rustic porch that leans against
A white walled Cottage old and quaint, a
Picture beautiful and grand bursts on the view,
High bluffs, and promontories, stretch out their Giant arms, making the entrance of four
Rivers in the Bay. Named by the Red men
Back through the ages long, so long, that half
The world knew not they did exist, or that
An Empire vast, in lone primeval grandeur
Gemmed the Earth.
The Chesapeake, in majesty and might,
Rolls past, through storm and calm, ever
Enrobed in deep mysterious garb.
Across long miles of waves from shore to shore,
Most distant, blue and purple hills are seen
Houses, and trees half visibly appear.
Passing along towards home, a long green
Island makes a lengthy wall, with Inlets
From the Bay, where wild fowl come each year
To feed upon the grasses growing there.
Around the old home, and the rustic porch,
Garden and orchards bloom, the waving maize
Or golden wheat fields smile. The loamy soil
Is friendly to the husbandman's skill'd touch
Perfume the sweetest floateth through the air,
The mocking birds and robin overflew with
Rapturous gladness at the glowing scene.
Along this lovely shore, the river bank
Is clothed with nature's dyes, its Emerald
Carpet covered with wild flowers, is steep,
Or sloping, or to a brink declines abruptly,
Making fairy caverns here and there. Trees
And low underwood flourish, and grow,
And twine their roots down to the yellow sand.
In the high grass the Partridge riseth up,
The nests of Eagles overhead waive
On the old Oaks, and Chestnut trees around.
The fishing hawks spread out their shadowy wings,
And dip their long sharp beaks into the Gull.
Nearby there is a Grove, where gushes up
A Fountain, cool and pure: more than three hundred Years ago, it had been touched by the Red lips of a young Indian Girl, whose Lover kissed the sweet drops off, and as she Often dipped them in again, teasing
Him painfully; they left a halo round
This trysting dell, and buried in the sod
Unknowingly, the nuts, and seed, that
Beautify this spot, she with her woven
Moccason, and he with rougher tread, sank
Them in earth, A race of kings
No longer build their wigwams round these shores,
Silent their songs of Love, of War, of Death.
Poles rise as if by magic in the Bay,
On which twine nets to catch the luscious shad.
Over the River, at Grove Point, are groups
Of Fishermen in Boats, with Hook and Line
Enjoying the Sport of drawing in the perch.
The Bay and Rivers are alive with sails,
A steamer leaves the wharf, just underneath
The hill, the whistle loud and long cuts through
The air, gray smoke curls round the flaming fire
That the departing sun has kindled in
The West. Close into shore, seeming to sail
Through trees, a sloop and schooner run a fair
Wind race, both loaded to the water's edge
With grain and fruits, sailing for ports whose markets
Find from this prolific shore renewed supplies,
The sun is like a great red ball hung in Midair, down, down he goes, until the glorious
Orb has sunk, is gone, pressing through the Horizon's verge, 'till Orient lands hail
Him, as we did, when the morn opened
Aurora's gates. The waves glow with a paler
Light, 'till sky and water mingle into one;
Enwrapped in gray the Sassafras and Elk
Are thickly veiled, the North East River is
But faintly seen, and wings of darkness on
The Susquehanna move; the moon and stars
Come peeping through the mist, and welcome to
The mariner is seen a steady beacon,
Blazing through the night. The lesser lights are Twinkling as they float in all directions
On the unseen Boats—solemn, sublime the
Darkened landscape steals o'er all the senses
In a silence only broken by the Sound of rippling waters on thy Bluff hewn
Shore, Bay Side.

"Buy Oil from the Barrel.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for canned oil, which ought to cost but 60 cents a gallon. Ready-mixed paint is half oil and half paint. Buy oil fresh from the barrel, and add it to the L. & M. Paint which is semi mixed."

When you buy L & M. Paint you get a full gallon of paint that won't wear off for 10 or 15 years, because L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. paint wear like iron.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

Sold in the north, east, south and west. C. S. Andrews, Ex-Mayor, Danbury, Conn., Writes, "Painted my house 19 years ago with L. & M. Looks well to-day."

Sold by Smith & Graham, Chestertown, Md; F. H. Harper & Son, Still Pond; J. W. Ivens, Worton.
