FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

KENT AS A SUMMER RESORT

Enumeration of a Few of its Many Attractions—The Influx of Visitors Annually Increasing—Beautiful Betterton, Tolchester, Rock Hall, Chestertown and Others.

As the sweltering heat and the long sultry days of summer are now realized, the attention of the great suffering, town-wearied masses living in the cities who can and do spend a portion of the heated term in the country, is being directed to the selection of summer homes and boarding places Quiet, shady nooks are being sought out, where wives and children can spend the summer without separating families and entailing unnecessary expenses. Fresh air, fresh fruit and vegetables, country milk and the unrestrained freedom and delights of a stay in the country are now being looked for.

No county in the state can so fully meet every possible demand of the summer-home seeker as can Kent the Paradise of Maryland. The entire county is a delightful combination of fruit orchards, flower and truck gardens, interspersed with fields of ripened grain, and shimmering rivers, while her pastures and meadows are dotted with as fine herds of stock as can be found in any of the great dairy sections of the country. With improved sanitary conditions and most progressive system of land cultivation, malaria and chills have become a thing of the past, and the festive mosquito is practically unknown.

Located in the center of the peninsula known as the "Eastern Shore of Maryland," almost surrounded by two great arms—estuaries—of the Chesapeake bay and the bay itself, pierced in every part by navigable waters that abound with fish, oysters, crabs, terrapin and wild fowl in their season, with water fronts on the Chesapeake bay, Chester and Sassafras rivers, which furnish transportation facilities for every farm, and make a landing near all estates for sailing craft.

Traveling facilities are very great. A steamer line leaves Baltimore daily except Sunday for nearly all towns and leaves these towns for the city daily. Two trains each way daily is maintained over the Pennsylvania railroad.

Most any of the tide-water sections are very delightful summer resting places, but that portion from the bay shore to Galena seems to offer the best attractions. At and around Betterton last summer no less than six hundred Baltimoreans enjoyed themselves. The influx has begun. Nearer the bay shore there are many boarding places capable of accomodating a hundred guests, and with appointments equal to a modern hotel, while up-to-date hotels are to be found at Tolchester, Rock Hall, Betterton and Chestertown.

The many rivers and creeks make yachting very popular. On its broad bosom sail and motor boats are seen by the score.

The land is high and slightly rolling, gently sloping towards the bay. Nature has provided for this section one of the best systems of drainage on the world; the several rivers and tributaries pervade all parts and perform the same functions here that hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in tilling have not done in other localities.

Unlike most comparatively level countries, the climate of Kent is most beneficial for the health of mankind. With its sulubrious breezes, comparatively even temperature and freedom from the great storms and intense heat and cold of other sections, it becomes an earthly paradise to less favored portions of the country. Broad acres, roomy, comfortable houses with that degree of health which substantial food and pure country air always carry with him, has made the people cultured and hospitable. The door is always open to the guest, and the social enviroments of the average Kent home are such that the summer visitor may rest assured that only the most pleasant relations will exist. On the other hand the class of persons from the cities who seek residence in the country during the summer months are of a character to become a desirable addition to our social life.

To the summer visitor the heartiest welcome is extended. May you come often and stay long and reap the benefits that a few weeks within our borders never fail to bestow.

There are delightful summer homes in abundance, and without specifying any particular district, it may be said that any part of the country will be found more than acceptable to the summer visitor.—There are also many other delightfully located homes in the county, where the summer days, with fishing, boating and other pleasures to be offered, could be made one continuous, delightful picnic, and they will be made the sources of much profit and pleasure during this season.

THE BAKED APPLE.

One of the most wholesome dishes is a baked apple. It is delicious at breakfast, as well as at supper. In fact, apples in almost any form are invaluable. For variety's sake, try peeling the apples before baking them. Peel and core them, fill the hollows with spice and sugar, and bake long enough to give them a thin, crispy crust. Sometimes a bit of butter is placed on top of each apple before putting in the oven. Serve them cold with whipped cream.

MEETING OF FRUIT GROWERS

SCHEDULE FOR SUMMER AND WINTER.

Announcement has been made of the schedule of summer and winter meetings, arranged by the Maryland State Horticultural Society for the present year.

The next meeting of the society will be the summer session, to be held at the home of Mr. Orlando Harrison, Berlin, Md., on August 8 and 9.

The announcement also contains the long list of handsome premiums offered for exhibits at the annual meeting of the society in the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, on December 5 and 6.

The summer gathering at Berlin promises to be one of the most notable events in the history of the society. Mr. Harrison, mine host of the state fruit-growers, conducts one of the largest nurseries in the East, and is to entertain his guests in explaining his methods in detail of propagating, disinfecting and preparing the product of his more than 1,000-acre nursery farm for shipment by an excursion to Ocean City, Md.

The program follows:

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8.

1.30 P. M. - Dinner in Berlin Manor Grove.
2.00 P. M.—Short meeting in grove.
Introductory remarks, President E. P. Cohill.
Address of welcome, Hon. Orlando Harrison, mayor of Berlin.
Response, Hon. Charles G. Biggs.
Address, R. W. Silvester, president Maryland Agricultural College. Prof. F. A. Waugh, horticulturist of Massachusetts Agricultural College, is also expected to address the meeting.
4-7 P. M.—Tour of the nurseries, consisting of about 1,000 acres.
8.00 P. M.—Take train for Ocean City.
8.30 P. M.—Supper.
9.00 P. M.—Evening on the beach.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9.

9.00 A. M.—Meeting called to order by President Cohill.
Announcements.
Questions.
Reports from representatives of visiting societies.
Address, "Practical Co-operative Transportation Work of the Atlantic and Gulf State Growers," Prof. L. C. Corbett, horticulturist, United States Department of Agriculture.
Address by Prof. John Craig, horticulturist at Cornell University.
"Fruit Prospects in Maryland for 1906," Prof. W. N. Hutt, horticulturist, Maryland Experiment Station.
12.00 Noon.—Adjournment.

Though no special effort has been made to provide for exhibits at this meeting, members are asked to carry fresh fruits to show what this respective section will produce. Ladies are especially invited.

Reduced rates have been provided for over the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and the Western Maryland Railroads. Excursion tickets will also be sold by the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway. Mr. T. B. Symons, secretary, College Park, Md., will furnish all the information desired in regard to any and every detail.

Secretary Symons declares that the annual meeting, which will be held in the Fifth Maryland Armory, Baltimore, on December 5-6, is to be the greatest event in the history of the society. An especial appeal is made to the women of the state to make larger exhibits of canned fruits and jellies. The list of premiums on this occasian aggregates over $500. This, coupled with many other attractive features, is expected to result in the largest attendance ever known on a similar occasion in the history of the society.

A Case of Delayed Justice.

Twelve years ago a captain in the French Army, Dreyfus, whose name shortly thereafterward attained world-wide notoriety, was convicted of treason, taken before several regiments of the army corps to which he belonged, suffered the ignominy of having his shoulder straps torn from his uniform and his sword broken over the knee of a private to whom this duty was assigned, marched out of camp with every attendant circumstance that could bring mortification and shame upon him, and finally sent for life to Devil's Island, in the Carribean Sea.

Recently, by order of the Supreme Court of France, the sentence of Captain Dreyfus was annulled and he was restored to rank in the army as though he never had been accused.

There have been few dramas which have aroused the interest and the sympathy of all the world as has this case of Dreyfus. The charge against him was of an offense which in a military nation like France is utterly unforgivable, and even in our own nation would be looked upon as the most contemptible act which a man in public service could commit. He was accused of selling military secrets of which he was in possession to the ancient enemy of France which caused the anti-Jewish riots that have for so long been in progress in Russia. The real offence was forgotten, and the outcry was less against the convicted man than against the Jews.

Emile Zola, a man whom this country knew chiefly by his less creditable books, took up the case of Dreyfus. He gave to the vindication of this man, though not himself of the same faith, his time, his money and his literary standing. In his famous attack on the accusers of Dreyfus line after line began with the words, "I'accuse," which became a classic invective known throughout the world. If Dreyfus suffered sorely, Zola suffered too. Unquestionably the strain of the trial cost him his life, while his manly opposition to what was at the time the general opinion of the French people cost him a very great part of his fortune.

After twelve years Dreyfus is reinstated. The nation which did him this cruel wrong connot now fully repair it. Most that to-day he regains is an untarnished name to transmit to his children. The cruel wrong inflicted upon him has burnt into his soul, and though France shall do all that she can the scar cannot be obliterated. Yet his name is cleansed of an unjust stain. He is not merely restored to the army list, but, while he was dismissed as a captain, he returns as a brigadier general All that France can do has been done. To all the world he is known as the innocent victim of a fanatical crusade. Sympathy with him was world-wide during his suffering, and world-wide will be the rejoicing over his final triumph.—Exchange
