"THE COVERED WAGON"

The Screen Marvel To Be Shown At The Lyceum, Chestertown

Removed from the thoughts and environment of the ordinary work-a-day world, forgetting for the time being you are in a theatre seat, is the delightful sensation experienced by those who will witness the remarkable screen version of Emerson Hough's tale, "The Covered Wagon," to be seen at the Lyceum Theatre, Chestertown, for matinee and night Saturday, April 5th.

This is much more than a motion picture, far greater in scope and appeal than any stage presentation; it is truly an epic of American life and one calculated to appeal to the finer emotions in that it has to do with a period of American history and development of which we are all justly proud. Not the wage of battle against exterior aggression nor the wreck of war for preservation of national intregrity, but a heart, mind and body struggle to advance the greatness of the United States. In this struggle enthralling to behold we see both sexes. Young and old, all part of the indomitable American will o go to better things. This film presentation is accomplished in a manner thoroughly in keeping with the spirit it reflects and the striking characterizations are essayed by actors of ability who seem to share full well their responsibiliy to the national ideal. Among the noted plays seen in various roles are Lois Wilson, J. Warren Kerrigan, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall and others.

A special orchestra of twelve musicians will play the accompanying score.

Buy tickets in advance and save disappointment. Now on sale at The Enterprise Office.
