What College Presidents Think Of The Prohibition Amendmen

The following is a fair example of the more than 200 answers received by "The Literary Digest's" questionnaire "Has drinking increased or decreased since prohibition, as you have observed it?" to the heads of the leading colleges an duniversities in the United States:

President A. H. Norton, Keuka College: "Positively convinces that conditions in our colleges with the exception of a few large and worthy ones, are many times better than before prohibition came into effect.. ....The students are certainly more concerned about their civil, moral and political obligations than their fathers were."

President James H. Morgan, Dickinson College: "That the present generation of students greatly excels past generations in morality, sense of social responsibility and positive idealism."

President U. S. Smith, Iowa, Wesleyan College: Prohibition is working "marvels throughout the country. We have a generation of youth who never saw a saloon, and we have many young men and women today, who never saw a drunken man."

President Paul F. Voelker, Battle Creek College: "It is my conviction that the stories of students' use of the flask the country over are very greatly exaggerated. Our young people have better sense than some of their elders, and they are surely not in the same class with the moron type who feel that life is worthless without liquor."

President Seaton, Albion College: "I deny that they have deteriorated or that prohibition has affected student life as a whole, except for the better. The students of today are stronger in mind and body, cleaner in habits and more responsibe to the call of service than were the students of twenty-five years ago."

President Albert Edwin Smith, Ohio Northern University, has "no patience with the howling of the wet wolf. All the charge of youth being corrupted by prohibition, of the wild, vicious habits engendered by the Volstead Law in innocent young men, and especially in students, is a piece of the basest and most unfounded lying that the devil of acoholism ever inspired."

Such testimony came in from all over the country. In only a few colleges is there a wet sentiment among the student body.

Different!

That is why it is so beautiful

YOU see many mantels that look something like this Curtis Mantel, C-615, but they are not quite so pleasing to the eye, so attractive in the room.

Why not? Because they lack the graceful proportions and the subtle beauty of delicate moldings that give character to this Curtis design.

In mantels it is so easy to get the shelf too wide or too long; and the moldings underneath too heavy or too sharp or too something.

In Curtis mantels—as in all Curtis Woodwork—these details of design are all taken care of by master designers. That is why the most prominent architects and interior decorators in the country specify and accept Curtis designs and sizes without the slightest change.

Come in and inspect our stock of Curtis Woodwork. Look through our catalog—it is full of suggestions for homebuilders and those who are looking for remodeling ideas. We have a free copy of "Curtis Woodwork," a 32-page book for you, too.

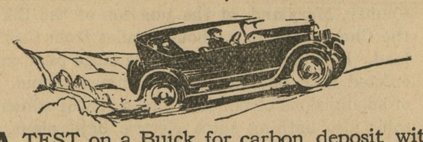
Veteran cars shed their carbon

New lubricating oil proves it with Buicks, Packards and others



A TEST on a Buick for carbon deposit with the new "Standard" Motor Oil showed amazing results. When the car was examined before the test there were heavy accumulations of carbon on cylinder heads and pistons. The new "Standard" Motor Oil was then put in the crankcase and the car run 2,969 miles. Again it was examined. Most of the carbon had disappeared—the slight amount remaining was easily wiped off with a cloth.

The new oil is a perfect all 'round lubricant, giving a complete piston seal; smoother operation at all speeds; cooler motor; increases in oil mileage of 12% to 40% and in gas mileage of 10% to 20%.

Verify these astounding results with a crankcase full of "Standard" Motor Oil in your own car. You can actually feel the difference.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (New Jersey)

7 Advantages of "Standard" Motor Oil

1. Constant lubrication.
2. Minimum friction.
3. Less "breaking-down" under load or at high speeds.
4. More miles per quart of oil.
5. Better hill climbing—smoother operation.
6. Negligible carbon.
7. Actual saving in gasoline.
