ROCK HALL NOTES.

A couple of evangelists struck our town on Saturday and highly entertained the residents and visitors with song and talk during the evening and Sunday afternoon and evening. All services were held on the street corner and drew large gatherings.

The festival here was very largely patronized on Saturday evening and the affair was a success for the church people. The Piney Neck festival and dance, too, was a success for the Pythians.

Miss Anna May Ayres spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Ayres.

Mr. Ralph Barnett and family, of Chestertown, were visitors at the home of Mrs. B.'s mother, Mrs. Martha McKivitt, Green Lane.

At least two of our oystermen did not consider September "such a much" of a dull month. They are brothers and each have for years endeavored to equal or outdo the other in catching oysters. In September one made $125 and the other made $100, besides having considerable quantities bedded.

In the death of Mr. C. H. Rollison this community has lost a splendid neighbor, friend and citizen. The burial of the deceased in Wesleyan Cemetery on Sunday afternoon was largely attended by the Knights of Pythias of this place of which organization Mr. Rollison was a member for about 35 years.

Mrs. Melville Wilkins is quite ill at this writing, and Mr. Arthur Urie is also ill.

Mr. Clarence Thompson has moved his boot and shoe business to the bank building, where he will be pleased to serve all comers in his line.

Tomorrow (Sunday) will be Rally Day with the M. E. Sunday School. Two special programs will be rendered, one for the afternoon and the other for the evening.

Mr. Charles Thomas having attached two extra seats to his bike so as to accommodate himself and three little sons in attending church and Sunday school, is now at his wits end as to another seat. The stork sometime ago presented him with another interesting boy which is causing him to figure on another extra seat. A first-class surrey would be the next best mode of conveyance for the whole family.

The wrapper factory here is compelled to work late at night these days in order to meet their rushing demands.

Postmaster Downey says there is no need of kicking about postal matters now. He is keeping open shop. Good Hope Clayton will be just as accommodating.

Miss Elva I. Hogans, of Rock Hall, entered Strayer's Business College, of Baltimore, to take a course.

Mr. Irving Ashley has accepted a position with the John Hancock Life Insurance Company.

T. Smythe Wilson has entered Strayer's Business College, of Baltimore.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Boy's Foot Caught in Wheel of Wagon And Wrenched From His Body—Never Lost Consciousness.

A special dispatch from Millington, Md., dated October 6th, 1909, says:

Master Wm. H. Jacobs, the 11-year-old son of Dr. Wm. H. Jacobs, of Millington, while trying to climb up on the back of the mill wagon of J. H. Higman missed his hold on the standard and his foot caught in the wheel. Mr. Beck the driver is a little hard of hearing and did not hear the boy's mournful cries. The little fellow was thrown under the wagon. There he caught the spring and help on while his limb was being wrapped around the axle and finally severed from his body. Soon help came though and the wheel of the wagon had to be taken off before he was released. He was carried to the office of his father on Cypress St. and there the wounded limb was dressed. He was then hurried to the Delaware Hospital in Wilmington, in an automobile. The forty mile run was made in about an hour and fifty minutes.

The astonishing part of the matter though was that the poor little fellow never lost consciousness. He watched the doctors dress his limb and brushed the flies off his face in the meantime. He made very little noise over the matter and told his parents if they wouldn't worry he wouldn't. When lying on the back seat of the automobile he was asked if he was comfortable and said "Yes." He was accompanied to the hospital by Drs. Jeter and Jacobs.

The boy's parents have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood. The little fellow is expected to recover.

The Morning News, Wednesday morning says:

"Dashing up Market street early last evening an automobile that was going beyond all the speed limits attracted much attention. People walked to the curb to watch the progress of the big machine as it made its way through the crowded thoroughfare. Policemen looked to catch the number, but the machine was too far away before they had time to catch their breath.

"But it is doubtful if the occupants would have been arrested for breaking the speed laws had they been captured. They were racing against death, and up to an early hour this morning it was thought they had won out and defeated the grim reaper. They carried in the automobile little William Jacobs, aged twelve years, of Millington, Md., who was hovering between life and death and whose quick arrival at a hospital was the only hope of saving his life. That accounted for the speed at which the automobile was driven over the streets.

"William was playing near his home yesterday afternoon when he fell in front of a heavy wagon, which passed over his left leg and horribly crushed the limb. The boy's father is a physician and he knew his only hope for saving the boy's life was to get him to a hospital. The child was made as comfortable as possible in the automobile and the dash for this city was started.

The distance was covered in record time, for none cared to halt the machine on its human mission. William was carried into the Delaware hospital and immediately an operation was performed in which his crushed leg was amputated at the hip. His condition early this morning was critical owing to the shock, but it is thought he will recover.
