SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1910.

The Committee named by the Mayor and Council to draft a woman's suffrage provision for the town charter of Easton, has reported to the Mayor. Its provisions are such as to prevent colored women from voting.

It is a mistake to advertise when one has enough business. Advertising is a profitable investment, not a mere expense. The merchant who loves to linger at the back of his store and who does not care to employ any more clerks should not advertise. Neither should the merchant who thinks every-body knows him, knows his store, and knows that he wants to sell goods, and what goods.

THE Carnival and Bazaar held this week in Stam's Hall by the ladies of Chestertown for the benefit of the Volunteer Firemen was a great success not only from a financial point of view but in a social sense. People in all the churches and in all walks of life were brought together as never before and Chestertown will be a better place to live because the people will know each other better and the social relations will be less strained and more general. The NEWS congratulates the executive committee, the various sub-committees and all connected with the affair. It was a great undertaking successfully conquered.

The net proceeds, as hurriedly calculated by Mrs. Fred. H. Russell, treasurer, is the splendid sum of $1004.58.

Magnificent!

THE NEWS' attention has been called by one of our friends to an error in a recent article, and we hasten to correct any impression that may have been wrongfully made. In the statement of tax rates Caroline was put down as $1.41, but this included the 16 cents State tax, so that the total rate in Kent and Caroline are the same. The NEWS never intends to get in the category of "telling a lie and sticking to it." When we are wrong we are willing to acknowledge same and correct any false impressions. This fact, however, of tax rates does not help the argument of those who would put Caroline as a model because in 1908 the Caroline tax rate was $1.25 while Kent's was $1.12; and as for roads, traveling men all state that Kent's roads are far superior and remain so during a longer period. Cost more? Of course they do, and that is the reason we have better roads. Kent pays $35,000 for her schools, which are equal to any in the State and remain open longer; Caroline pays only $21,500. Besides, Kent pays to Betterton, Millington, Galena, Rock Hall and other places about five times what Caroline contributes to its suburban towns. We might mention other items, but these will suffice to show that there is no comparison between the two counties; at least sufficient to prove that Kent's tax rates should be any less than theirs.

DON'T PASS CENSURE YET.

The public are much more eager and ready to criticise and condemn than to help and commend. Especially is this the case as regards law-makers and public servants in general. None is more ready than the NEWS to welcome a Legislature which shall be conducted on business principles and in an economical manner, but we do not believe in criticising and abusing representatives for one little act, when perhaps their whole course shall be most gratifying.

Senator Slay is to be commended for his vote in the Senate last week upholding the Governor's appeal and Senator Harper's bill for economy in naming appointees, etc., and we are confident that he with Messrs. Harris and Willis will do all in their power to serve Kent county and the State faithfully and well. The expense account of an agent is not likely to be severely criticised by conservative men provided he can show, by the character of the services rendered, that he is worth it.

NOTICE TO FISH TRAP OWNERS

The NEWS is in receipt of a communication from the United States Engineer's office, Baltimore, Md., in reference to the placing of fishing traps and stakes in the Chesapeake bay and tributaries in such a manner as to interfere with navigation, and in order that those of our readers who are interested in this business, and have not received notice otherwise, may be informed upon the subject, we publish that portion of the communication which refers to the matter. Lieutenant Colonel Craighill states in his letter that persons leaving their nets and stakes in navigable waters during the period in which they are not engaged in the industry will be reported to the United States District Attorney for his action. The active seasons for fishing in these waters are from March to June and from October until the ice interferes, and the object of the order is to have the poles and nets removed during the closed season. The engineer also warns against the practice of cutting poles off below or near the level of mean low water, nor planted in or across courses usually followed by navigators.

LENT begins February 9th.

NEXT Wednesday will be Groundhog Day. If the animal sees his shadow he will retire to his burrow and six weeks more of winter may be expected; but if it is cloudy he will stay out and spring will begin at once.

"STOP THIEF!"

The Baltimore Sun of Saturday contained an article claiming the farmer with the high price of beef, etc., and stated that he spent his time riding around in automobles, etc.

The above article from the Baltimore Sun of last Saturday is characteristic of the feeling nurtured in the breast of most city people and especially corporations and trusts. It is simply a case of "stop thief!" Really, the thoughts expressed therein are so absurd, especially as applying to the average Kent county farmer that we hesitated calling attention to it.

In the first place the farmer does not aspire to own an automobile. His ambition is satisfied when he can own a good pair driving horses. In most instances he has to be satisfied with an ordinary driver and in many cases they drive a horse already in a bill of sale to some of the very class of men quoted in the Sun article. The farmer toils early and late and depends entirely upon what the "combines" choose to pay him for his crops and then has to pay exorbitant prices for implements because of an iniquitous tariff put on them by the "trusts" of this country.

The farmer is the niagara of the country. He furnishes the grain for our bread, the meat for our table and the wool for our clothes; from his lands comes the woods for our fires and furniture for homes and TAXES to keep up public affairs! Is it any wonder that they try to blame the high price of meat, eggs, etc., on the farmer?

The people of Kent county do not believe it is the farmer who is realizing the big profits, but as Secretary Wilson says, "it is the retailer," in many instances. In a poll of fifty cities the average increase charged to the consumer over the wholesale price paid by the retail dealers was 38 per cent. In eleven of these cities the rate of increase was more than 50 per cent.; in twelve cities it ranged from 40 to 50 per cent. In the other twenty-seven cities the advance over the wholesale rate was from 20 to 40 per cent. These figures seem to indicate that retailers in some parts of the country are making excessive profits. Whether the retail dealers are acting independently, whether they are operating in conformity with an agreement among themselves, or whether they are bound by an agreement with the wholesale dealers, is a matter upon which enlightment is greatly needed. The public concedes that the small dealer is entitled to a fair and reasonable profit. But when, as stated on the authority of the Agricultural Department, the consumer is compelled to pay to the retailer for ordinary articles of food prices 38 per cent. above the wholesale cost of these commodities, the situation resolves itself apparently into one of extortion, rather than of fair profits.

A well-known farmer says, "Regarding the farmer riding in automobiles and making money hand over fist, I wish some of those fellows would try it for a couple of years. Two-thirds of the farmers have to sell their wheat as soon as it is fit to thresh to pay interest or rent and for fertilizer. Along in July down goes wheat. As soon as they get it all bought, up goes the price. The poor farmer has to pay all of his money out, as they put the price of feed up about 88. Then along comes the hog cholera and wipes out 25 to 50 fine hogs and the farmer's profit and meat are gone.

"Now, Mr. Blatter, of Blatter & Bros., comes in and explains why butter is 38 and 39 cents and meat so high. He doesn't know anything about feeding cows at the present prices of the miller's feed. Just let him try it. He'll find as did Mr. Wilbur Eliason that the butter sold from a herd of cattle would not pay Prof. Topping's mill feed."

It is simply a case of stop thief and the effort of the combines to shift the responsibility on the poor farmer fails.
