FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

October 6 to 13 has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. During that time public and private organizations and automobiles will make an effort to instruct citizens in the fundamentals of doing away wih our terrible fire waste.

In past years the fire rate has always gone down during the week, only to rise again to normal immediately after. It is the old case of a lesson going in one ear and out the other.

Fire is perhaps the greatest single menace to progress we must face. Every year it destroys property which, in terms of monetary value, would support whole governments, cover the country with paved highways, provide greater educational facilities or do any number of other great services. And on top of this must be placed the still greater destruction in human life.

During Fire Prevention Week we will learn of the neglected wiring, carelessly disposed of matches or cigarettes, piles of refuse, poor building construction, and so on. But unless our citizens carry the lessons learned through the other 51 weeks of the year nothing will be gained.

THE WORLD SERIES

Again we are confronted with the phenomena of the World Series. No game ever before has held the undivided attention of an entire nation for so long a period. From 1884 when Providence won laurels as World Series Winner, right up to 1928, when the crown went to New York, interest has been intense in every corner of the land. And now everyone is asking: What team will bring home the bacon in 1929? Philadelphia Chicago?

Since the inauguration of the World Series, many things have happened to captivate the fancy of a curious world. Radio, the modern miracle. The development of aviation. The epic-making flight of Lindbergh and the astounding feat of the Graf Zeppelin. The growth of the motion picture and the invention of the "talkies."

There are a thousand more things to do than there were in the old days. And so perhaps many of the old diversions are being forgotten.

But one thing has an eternal charm. Baseball will never lose its place in the affections of the multitude. The World Series of 1929 is looked forward to as eagerly as was the World Series of 1909. Other things may change—but the heart of the American is still the heart of a boy who knows that one of the most important things in he world is to keep right on playing.

EX SHERIFF INDICTED

The Grand Jury for Cecil County indicted J. Wesley McAllister, of Elkton, former sheriff and Democratic leader of Cecil county, on a charge of "intent to cheat and defraud" in connection with his stock sales and promotion of the Port Deposit Company, a quarry concern.

One of the witnesses before the Grand Jury is reported to have said he was induced to invest his entire savings of $9,000 on a promise that he would receive dividends ranging from eight to 25 per cent.

With McAllister were also indicted on the same charge, Wm. H. Fields and H. Goldie.

It was alleged that people of the county had been induced to invest in the Port Deposit Granite Company, of which McAllister was president, on the promise of large dividends and the company went into the hands of a receiver on July 17 last.

Fifty women students of the Maryland State Normal School at Towson will visit Washington College on Saturday and inspect the teaching facilities and buildings. They will be greeted by President Paul E. Titsworth and the facurty. They will make a study of the department of education, now turning out teachers for the Peninsula under the direction of Dr. Fred G. Livingood.

Mrs. Sue Shallcross is ill at the home of her brother, John N. Bennett, on the Avenue.
