STINGY KISSER

He—I'm going to kiss you, and kiss you, and kiss you.
She—What! Only three times?

A CONSIDERATION

"How in the world did she come to fall in love with a drug store clerk?"
"Well, she can get her hair nets for nothing."

WAS CLEANING UP

"What's George doing now? They tell me he's cleaning up several hundred a day."
"Sure thing—he's a dishwasher in a down town cafe."

SOMETHING HATCHING

Wife (before open grate)—Listen, dear, how the fire is saying, "Peep, peep, peep."
Hubby—Well, the grate's full of egg coal.

TOO POOR FOR THE WOLF

Wife—The wolf is at the door
Hubby—If you'll tell him to go to the side window where he can see into the pantry I think he'll go away.

SILVER-LINED CLOUD

"In money matters he's under a cloud, they say."
"Well, he's lined it with silver, so nobody cares."

Word for the Back Seat

You never can tell. There might be fewer auto accidents if the advice of the back seat driver were followed more often.—Des Moines Register.

Earthquakes

The occurrence of earthquakes depends on strains set up by changes in elevation and other slow earth movements. There are more such actively moving regions in Europe and Asia than in the United States, hence more quakes. The details as to why certain regions are in this state of change, and others are not, are not fully known.

Knockout Ended Duel Between Rival Hares

An English naturalist describes a duel which he witnessed in the moonlight between two hares, the cause of their dissension being a third, which was a female that went on nibbling grass during the encounter without paying the least attention to the contest. The battlers were facing each other in a real fighting attitude, their forepaws held in front looking like human fists. Standing on their haunches these two fighters went all out. They boxed in fine style, their little "fists" darting in and out like flashes. Some blows were cleverly parried, others went well home, and as they fought footwork was not absent, for they circled round, but always faced each other. One lost his balance and sprang lightly aside, to be instantly followed up, and the punching was renewed. Apart from the soft noise of the blows going home there was no sound. The end came quickly. It was almost a knockout, but I am afraid our rules would have put it down as a foul. One hare slipped down, landed on all four feet, and quick as lightning his opponent turned and gave him a kick that landed him many yards away.

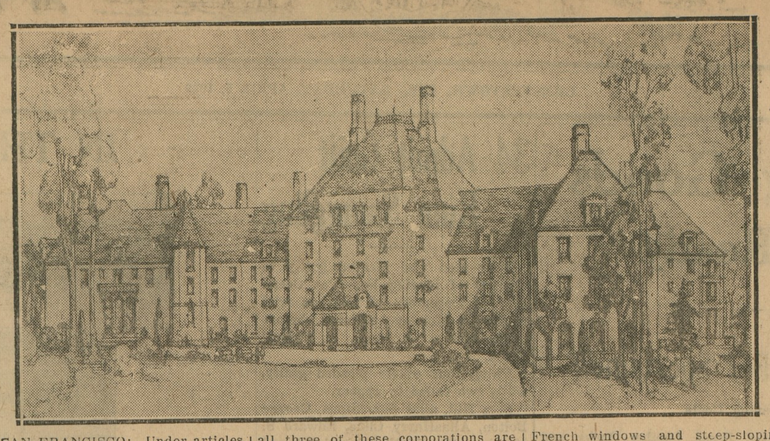
Black Cats and Evil Linked in All Ages

That verdict rendered against a Lynn (Mass.) woman charged, among other things, with having undertaken by her formulas "to still crying babies and fighting cats with equal ease," calls up a chapter in the lore of popular beliefs to which every age contributes new material. And for sheer interest it is the pugilistic felines, not the lachrymose infants, which take the cake. That black cats portend evil is a delusion that goes back to the most ancient times; so, white or black, they have everywhere been the material for all sorts of superstitions. In the Orient cats have knowledge of the future ascribed to them, along with a sensitiveness which can penetrate into things dark for the eye of man. When the cat tears at cushions or carpets it is believed to be raising the wind. There is sure to be changing weather if it sneezes, and a frost may be looked for when the animal sits with its back to the fire.

Radio Idea Old

Radio communication is not an invention, nor in reality a discovery. The theory was known long before anybody was able to apply it in practice. Numerous inventors were trying to devise apparatus that would make the theory work. For this reason, several different practical systems of wireless telegraphy appeared about the same time. Marconi had the good fortune to be first, but he distanced his nearest competitors by only a short time. It was only by accident that electrical communication by wire was perfected before electrical communication without wires, as both are implied in the electrical knowledge that preceded them, and inventors were working in both fields for many years before anybody in either group succeeded.

Christian Science Sanatorium in California



SAN FRANCISCO: Under articles of incorporation already filed with the Secretary of State of California, permanent trustees took over on March 26 the ownership of the property and buildings which are to accommodate the Christian Science Benevolent Association for Pacific Coast. The Association, which will open its doors to guests about the middle of May, was established in accordance with Section 8 of Article I of the Manual of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Benevolent Association for Pacific Coast is the third large charitable institution established by The Mother Church, totaling an investment of over $4,000,000. The Christian Science Benevolent Association, located in Chestnut Hill, Mass., was chartered in 1916, and The Christian Science Pleasant View Home, located in Concord, N. H., in 1925. While all three of these corporations are independent from a legal point of view they are under the control and supervision of The Christian Science Board of Directors.

The California property, known as Arden Wood, is a thickly timbered, 16 acre, piece of rolling land situated on the edge of San Francisco, its general location being between Twin Peaks and the Ocean. The Sanatorium is sheltered from the prevailing winds by the hill which forms the principal topographical feature of the property. No public roads or ways cross it, but paths will be arranged extending from the Sanatorium through the woods, making a feature of a small ravine which runs along the east boundary.

The Sanatorium, designed by Henry H. Gutterson, Architect, is of steel and reinforced concrete done in a modernized Breton style, with high central pavilion, tall classic French windows and steep-sloping, red tiled roof. It will contain accommodations for 120 guests and associates.

Within the last few weeks a substantial piece of property jutting into the principal tract, formerly held by the city of San Francisco for school purposes, has been purchased to secure additional quiet and freedom from outside disturbances.

The Board of Trustees of the San Francisco institution will be in constant touch with The Christian Science Board of Directors as are the Boards of the two New England institutions.

The three Trustees of the new corporation are Mrs. Gertrude M. Glass, George D. Greenwood, and Marvin R. Higgins. Wilson D. Clark has been appointed Manager-Treasurer. All of these officers have been actively interested in Christian Science work for many years.

British Invention

It is not known what individual invented the depth bomb. There have been many claims made. However, it is known that the bomb originated in the British navy.

Reason to Laugh

A scientist declares that many animals laugh. They could hardly help it if they observed people closely.—Florence (Ala.) Herald.

Retort Uncourteous

When a man was excusing some rascality by saying "One must live," old Doctor Johnson retorted, "I'm not so sure of it."

Nature's Wonderful Work

The human body is self-building, self-repairing, self-regulating and self-oiling.

Franklin "Fresh Air Fiend"

Benjamin Franklin is said to have been one of the earliest "fresh air fans." He was appointed by England to prepare plans for ventilating the British houses of parliament.

Golf, Earth, Strength

The ancient Greek, you remember, gained new strength every time he hit the earth. It has that effect on a golfer's language, too.—San Francisco Chronicle.

One Point of View

To work, to help, and be helped, to learn sympathy through suffering, to reach truth through wonder. Behold, this is what it is to live.

Height of Disappointment

A husband spending two hours piecing together scraps he fished out of his wife's wastebasket and then finding it an announcement that the grocer has moved.

Curiosity's Uses

Curiosity came into the world when the first man looked at the stars or had the original primordial stomach ache. It is the first sign that the lately born child is something more than an impersonal scrap of appetite. It can survive the adventures of youth and the disillusion of later years and give old age enough to do to keep it out of mischief and misery. It deserves a good word even though it needs none.
